Sec. Stevens In New Clash With McCarthy

Tells Two Army Officers Not To Be Witnesses

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stevens today told two Army officers who had been asked to appear before the McCarthy Investigating committee not to appear but said he will testify himself Tuesday as a voluntary witness.

It had been first announced that Stevens would appear before the committee in response to a subpoena but later the Army said "While no actual subpoena has been delivered, Secretary Stevens will voluntarily appear on Tuesday."

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), head of a permanent investigating subcommittee has demanded that the Army produce the names of the people involved in the promotion and honorable discharge of a reserve dentist.

McCarthy has called it a "hurry up" discharge and said the Army had ample evidence available beforehand that the officer, former Maj. Irving Peress, was a Red.

"Either the army will give the names of men coddling Communists," McCarthy said, "or we will take it before the Senate and attempt to have cited for contempt those responsible for a shameful situation. . . "

McCarthy had demanded on Thursday to know within 24 hours whether or not the Army will give those names.

Friday the Army ignored the ultimatum that it produce the names.

Tonight the Pentagon issued this statement in behalf of Stevens:

"Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens has instructed officers requested to appear before the Sen. McCarthy subcommittee on Tuesday not to appear.

"Secretary Stevens himself has been subpoenaed by the Sen. McCarthy subcommittee for Tuesday and will appear."

The Army said McCarthy had summoned before his subcommittee the Army adjutant general, Brig. Gen. William Bergin, and Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commanding general at Camp Kilmer, N. J., where Peress was stationed.

Warren Approved By Subcommittee Of U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 —UP— Earl Warren won approval of his nomination as Chief Justice Saturday in a showdown session of a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which rejected as "tommyrot" charges filed against him by an alleged perjurer.

The bipartisan action was at once a resounding vote of confidence in the former California governor and an implied rebuke to subcommittee chairman William Langer (R-N.D.), who aired the unsubstantiated charges at a stormy public hearing Friday.

Langer did not join the four other subcommittee members in recommending Senate approval of the nomination, but neither did he oppose the action. He told reporters he favored shooting the nomination on to the full Senate Judiciary committee without any recommendation.

The full committee will act on the nomination Wednesday. Members predicted it will speedily endorse the subcommittee's action and send the nomination to the Senate floor for final approval.

Mr. Warren has been serving as Chief Justice since last October under a recess appointment.

Minutes after the subcommittee acted, President Eisenhower interrupted his vacation at Palm Springs, Calif., to say that the former California governor is "one of the finest public servants this country has ever produced."

INSURE YOUR FUTURE, PROTECT OUR FORESTS

VIOLENT WINTER WEATHER — Gales that reached hurricane force in Texas and adjoining states cut visibility in the Southwest Friday and Saturday; while tornadoes struck in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi. Above, firemen and others probe the wreckage of a tavern and cafe near Conroe, Texas, in the wake of a twister that also damaged six houses. Right, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dust Spreads To Great Lakes And East To Alabama

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Parts of Kansas and Nebraska dug out Saturday from the effects of a blizzard while dust from the windswept Western plains darkened skies 1,000 miles away in northern Illinois and Indiana.

The high-riding dust from the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma and Kansas cut visibility to 1½ miles in Springfield, in central Illinois. Muddy rain fell in Chicago's loop. Airborne dust also was carried eastward as far as Alabama.

The deep storm center veered northward toward Lake Superior after causing blowing dust, blizzards, thunderstorms and tornadoes in the central part of the nation at a cost of at least five lives.

However, it brought more soaking rains Saturday to drouth-pinched Missouri and began pulling colder Canadian air down into the Midwest.

The bodies of two Kansas men, missing since Friday's storm, were found Saturday in their snow-stalled auto. They apparently perished from carbon monoxide gas. Two others died in Kansas auto crashes during the storm.

A trusty was killed Friday night when a twister ripped through part of the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola. Two others were injured.

Winds died down in the Southern and Western Plains and skies cleared in the snow choked areas of Kansas and Nebraska. Disrupted communications were being rapidly restored in the storm area but some trains still were running late.

Authorities Seek Cause Of Blaze Fatal To Seven

HARTFORD, Mich., Feb. 20 (AP) —State fire inspectors today sifted through the ruins of a 40-year-old convalescent home seeking the cause of a fire last night which killed seven elderly persons and injured four.

The convalescent home, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Shimer, had passed a state fire inspection only last month when an addition was built.

One of the four injured victims, Mrs. Jennie Schuster, 83, of Benton Harbor, was taken to a hospital in nearby Watervliet in very critical condition. Doctors said today they did not expect her to recover.

3 In Mayor's Race, 13 Seek Posts In Council

The stage was set yesterday for a lively three-way battle in the West Monroe mayor's race as 53-year-old businessman Charles P. Chisholm beat the 5 p.m. Saturday deadline by qualifying as a candidate in the April 6 Democratic primary.

Chisholm, who operates a sales company and a cleaning and laundering business, entered the race against incumbent J. A. Norris, and a former city councilman, Marlin Hattaway, operator of a motel.

In taking the plunge into politics —he has never held a public office —Chisholm, who resides at 811 Trenton, said, "I have always been concerned about our city, and thought that we could prosper if we had the right leadership."

He said that he intended to make a clean campaign and would not "stoop to the low level of undermining any of my opponents."

Five persons were qualified yesterday in the council race, bringing the number of candidates to 13. Saturday qualifyings included newcomers Arthur D. Read, 308 Riggs Street; Joe E. Johnson 309 McClendon; Jack M. Russell, West Monroe taxi operator; Tommie L. Nichols, 307 Montgomery, and Roy Cash.

Previous filings included former councilman Amos Hood; incumbents Whit O. Smith, Ed Hislop, Jr., R. A. (Bob) McNeely; and newcomers A. P. Burkett, C. E. Ponder, L. L. Wood and George Cox.

Alderman R. C. (Dick) Jolissaint, who earlier in the week said he would qualify, was not among the Saturday filings. Alderman John P. McKee also passed up the race.

Body Of Woman Killed By Gun To Arrive Sunday

The body of Mrs. Laverne Wright, 28, who was killed in Texarkana, Tex., Friday morning by a blast from a shotgun, is scheduled to arrive here Sunday morning from Texarkana for funeral services and burial, according to a relative Saturday.

In a news story carried here Saturday on the reported suicide of the former Monroe woman, an incorrect identification of Mrs. Wright's mother was made.

It was stated that Mrs. Wright was a daughter of Mrs. B. L. Brantley, widow of a former chief of police of Monroe. Instead, the mother is Mrs. Estelle Brantley, whose husband formerly was a captain in the Monroe fire department.

Mrs. Wright was said by Justice of the Peace W. G. Sorsby of Texarkana to have shot herself to death in that town about 11:30 a.m. Friday while a heavy rain was falling and while she was at home with her four-year-old daughter, Carol.

According to Mrs. D. D. Wade, an aunt of Mrs. Wright, her body will be returned to Monroe Sunday morning by train but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Wade said Saturday, despite the justice of the peace's verdict, that relatives here still believed the shooting was an accident. She said Mrs. Wright that morning had cleaned up the house, prepared lunch, and was apparently ironing when she stepped into the closet where the gun was kept.

"It must have gone off accidentally somehow" she said. "I don't believe she would leave that baby alone."

Mrs. Wright's mother has gone to Texarkana, according to Mrs. Wade.

Thomas P. Curtis, 31, former business manager of the Baton Rouge Teamsters Union no. 5 (AFL), James Douglas Jordan and Ben Carpenter were charged with aggravated battery and criminal damage to property.

They were arrested after complaints were filed by two cab drivers, Donald Hare, 22, and A. P. Ferro, 27.

Hare said he was dragged from his cab, knocked down and kicked in the face and body. Ferro complained that he too was pulled from his cab and his assailants ripped out radio wires and broke the ignition key of his car.

Microfilmer Of Hiss Papers Takes Stand

Key Figure In Hiss Conviction Breaks Silence

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 20—UP — Photographer Felix August Inslerman broke a 15-year-silence Saturday to reveal he was the mysterious Moscow-trained agent known only as "Felix" who microfilmed the "pumpkin papers" used by Whittaker Chambers to help send Alger Hiss to prison.

Inslerman, who has invoked the Fifth Amendment in earlier appearances before Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, freely told the committee his cloak-and-dagger story when he appeared as a "mystery witness."

He said he was the mysterious "Felix" mentioned by Chambers and others as the photographer for the Soviet spy ring that operated in the United States in the 1930s. He said he made the microfilm reproductions of the government papers Chambers charged Hiss passed to him.

Hiss was convicted of perjury in January, 1950, and went to Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary in March, 1951, to serve his five year sentence. He was convicted of lying about his associations with Chambers.

Inslerman said he quit the Communist party in 1938 or 1939, "I don't remember exactly when," and had maintained silence about his espionage activities since. He said he has been "working" with the FBI.

He told McCarthy he went to Moscow on a "fake" passport in 1930 and was taught photography and the internationale code. Then, he said, he became involved in espionage.

When he returned to the United States in 1935, Inslerman said, he

Monroyan Killed As Tornado Dips At Angola Camp

ANGOLA, Feb. 20. (Special)—A trusty guard from Monroe was killed and several guard towers splintered in a vicious little tornado that hit Louisiana state penitentiary Friday night causing "considerable" damage.

R. D. Hemphill, 48, a resident of Monroe for 22 years and a trustee on guard duty at Camp H was killed as a guard tower was demolished by the down-swooping tornado.

Two other inmates were injured by a bolt of lightning that struck a cell block.

Warden Maurice Sigler said the tornado swooped down on Camp H, which is for first offenders, and lasted about five minutes. It was accompanied by lightning and high winds.

Sigler said "several guard towers" on the 18,000 acre prison farm were raked by the wind.

On the injured list were Stanley Seltenrich and Joe Currie. Both injured men later were reported "all right" by prison doctors.

Details of the funeral arrangements for Hemphill were incomplete last night but it was reported by prison officials that his remains were being taken to De-Funiak Springs, Fla., for services and interment.

Hemphill, a smokestack painter, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Hemphill, Monroe; by two daughters, Linda, Monroe; Mrs. Bobby Fant, Monroe; by one stepdaughter, Mrs. James Jewis, Monroe; by three sons, Jee Hemphill, Monroe; Bobby Hemphill, in the armed forces overseas in the Pacific; R. D. Hemphill, Jr., of Monroe and by three grandchildren, all boys.

Bacardi Boy Tells Captivity Details

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 20 (AP)—Little Facundo Bacardi knelt tonight and gave prayerful thanks for his rescue from kidnapers who held the heir to a rum fortune 11 hours in an unsuccessful bid for $50,000 ransom.

The 8-year-old youngster was seized unscatched from one of his abductors last night by an army lieutenant pressing the search on orders from President Fulgencio Batista to "Save the boy and clean up this case quickly."

Facundo offered his thanks in the picturesque Church of the Virgin de la Caridad del Cobre in the foothills skirting Santiago, not far from the mountain highway where he was rescued.

Praying with the little boy were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bacardi, and his six sisters and brothers.

One of Facundo's abductors, 20-year-old, jobless Manuel Echevarria, was transferred from the army barracks where he spent the night to a municipal prison to await trial. He faces prosecution under a law providing a maximum of 12 years for kidnaping.

The other abductor, family chauffeur Guillermo Rodriguez, 23, met swift death last night at the hands of the army as he made a break for liberty in the country while reenacting his part in the crime.

Facundo's father said the boy is "feeling just fine and I suspect he imagines himself a sort of hero today because of the attention. All his little friends want to pose with him for pictures and there has been movie, television and still photographers at the house."

"He seems to be eating unusually well. His mother always had trouble getting him to eat enough, but he certainly was hungry—I believe for the first time in his life —when the army people brought him home last night after saving him from the kidnaper.

"My wife and all of us were happy to see him, of course, and she was especially glad to see him hungry."

Bacardi gave this account of his son's experiences:

"Facundo says the only time he heard any threatening words was when the chauffeur and the other man—shortly after the boy left the house on the way to school—were carrying out an act to make Facundo think they did not know each other.

"At that time Echevarria drew a knife and threatened to kill both Facundo and the chauffeur if they did not follow his orders. But Facundo says the man let him play with the same knife later. And when we asked our boy if the man had mistreated him in any way he said: 'Of course not. We were very good friends, and he took fine care to protect me, only he did not give me anything to eat. But he was sorry about that and he didn't have anything to eat himself.'"

$7,000 In Loot

Two Men Sought For Burglarizing Crowville Firm

WINNSBORO, Feb. 20 (Special) —A state-wide alarm was broadcasted yesterday for two suspects wanted by police in connection with the Friday night burglary of more than $10,000 in cash and securities from a business firm at Crowville, 10 miles northeast of Winnsboro.

According to Franklin Parish Deputy Sheriffs Mack Rogillio and Elmer Wiggins, the thieves entered the general store and offices of J. A. Harper, prominent Crowville businessman and contractor, sometime Friday night broke open the safe, and made off with approximately $7,000 in cash, $3,500 in government bonds, a number of shares of capital stock in area banks, and six life insurance policies. The loot included 63 $100 bills, one $50 bill, and $419 in smaller bills. The shares of stock taken were issued by the Franklin State Bank, Winnsboro; Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, Monroe; First National Bank, Rayville, and the Progressive Gin Company and Farm and Home Loan Association.

Deputy sheriffs reported that entrance to the building was gained by prying the hasp off the rear door. The burglars used a hammer and chisel to chisel the dial off the door, thus gaining entrance to the safe.

The burglary was reported about 7 a.m. when Harper entered his office and found the safe ransacked.

An unidentified man, who was in the office Friday, and his companion, are wanted by police in connection with the theft.

Inslerman, who has invoked the Fifth Amendment in earlier appearances before Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, freely told the committee his cloak-and-dagger story when he appeared as a "mystery witness."

The New York photographer testified during an open subcommittee hearing on subversive activities in the Albany area.

He said he was the mysterious "Felix" mentioned by Chambers and others as the photographer for the Soviet spy ring that operated in the United States in the 1930s. He said he made the microfilm reproductions of the government papers Chambers charged Hiss passed to him.

Hiss was convicted of perjury in January, 1950, and went to Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary in March, 1951, to serve his five year sentence. He was convicted of lying about his associations with Chambers.

Inslerman said he quit the Communist party in 1938 or 1939, "I don't remember exactly when," and had maintained silence about his espionage activities since. He said he has been "working" with the FBI.

He told McCarthy he went to Moscow on a "fake" passport in 1930 and was taught photography and the internationale code. Then, he said, he became involved in espionage.

When he returned to the United States in 1935, Inslerman said, he

Monroyan Killed As Tornado Dips At Angola Camp

ANGOLA, Feb. 20. (Special)—A trusty guard from Monroe was killed and several guard towers splintered in a vicious little tornado that hit Louisiana state penitentiary Friday night causing "considerable" damage.

R. D. Hemphill, 48, a resident of Monroe for 22 years and a trustee on guard duty at Camp H was killed as a guard tower was demolished by the down-swooping tornado.

Two other inmates were injured by a bolt of lightning that struck a cell block.

Warden Maurice Sigler said the tornado swooped down on Camp H, which is for first offenders, and lasted about five minutes. It was accompanied by lightning and high winds.

Sigler said "several guard towers" on the 18,000 acre prison farm were raked by the wind.

On the injured list were Stanley Seltenrich and Joe Currie. Both injured men later were reported "all right" by prison doctors.

Details of the funeral arrangements for Hemphill were incomplete last night but it was reported by prison officials that his remains were being taken to DeFuniak Springs, Fla., for services and interment.

Hemphill, a smokestack painter, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Hemphill, Monroe; by two daughters, Linda, Monroe; Mrs. Bobby Fant, Monroe; by one stepdaughter, Mrs. James Jewis, Monroe; by three sons, Joe Hemphill, Monroe; Bobby Hemphill, in the armed forces overseas in the Pacific; R. D. Hemphill, Jr., of Monroe and by three grandchildren, all boys.

Bacardi Boy Tells Captivity Details

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 20 (AP)—Little Facundo Bacardi knelt tonight and gave prayerful thanks for his rescue from kidnapers who held the heir to a rum fortune 11 hours in an unsuccessful bid for $50,000 ransom.

The 8-year-old youngster was seized unscatched from one of his abductors last night by an army lieutenant pressing the search on orders from President Fulgencio Batista to "Save the boy and clean up this case quickly."

Facundo offered his thanks in the picturesque Church of the Virgin de la Caridad del Cobre in the foothills skirting Santiago, not far from the mountain highway where he was rescued.

Praying with the little boy were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bacardi, and his six sisters and brothers.

One of Facundo's abductors, 20-year-old, jobless Manuel Echevarria, was transferred from the army barracks where he spent the night to a municipal prison to await trial. He faces prosecution under a law providing a maximum of 12 years for kidnaping.

The other abductor, family chauffeur Guillermo Rodriguez, 23, met swift death last night at the hands of the army as he made a break for liberty in the country while reenacting his part in the crime.

Facundo's father said the boy is "feeling just fine and I suspect he imagines himself a sort of hero today because of the attention. All his little friends want to pose with him for pictures and there has been movie, television and still photographers at the house."

"He seems to be eating unusually well. His mother always had trouble getting him to eat enough, but he certainly was hungry—I believe for the first time in his life —when the army people brought him home last night after saving him from the kidnaper.

"My wife and all of us were happy to see him, of course, and she was especially glad to see him hungry."

Bacardi gave this account of his son's experiences:

"Facundo says the only time he heard any threatening words was when the chauffeur and the other man—shortly after the boy left the house on the way to school—were carrying out an act to make Facundo think they did not know each other.

"At that time Echevarria drew a knife and threatened to kill both Facundo and the chauffeur if they did not follow his orders. But Facundo says the man let him play with the same knife later. And when we asked our boy if the man had mistreated him in any way he said: 'Of course not. We were very good friends, and he took fine care to protect me, only he did not give me anything to eat. But he was sorry about that and he didn't have anything to eat himself."

Two Men Sought For Burglarizing Crowville Firm

WINNSBORO, Feb. 20 (Special) —A state-wide alarm was broadcasted yesterday for two suspects wanted by police in connection with the Friday night burglary of more than $10,000 in cash and securities from a business firm at Crowville, 10 miles northeast of Winnsboro.

According to Franklin Parish Deputy Sheriffs Mack Rogillio and Elmer Wiggins, the thieves entered the general store and offices of J. A. Harper, prominent Crowville businessman and contractor, sometime Friday night broke open the safe, and made off with approximately $7,000 in cash, $3,500 in government bonds, a number of shares of capital stock in area banks, and six life insurance policies. The loot included 63 $100 bills, one $50 bill, and $419 in smaller bills. The shares of stock taken were issued by the Franklin State Bank, Winnsboro; Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, Monroe; First National Bank, Rayville, and the Progressive Gin Company and Farm and Home Loan Association.

Deputy sheriffs reported that entrance to the building was gained by prying the hasp off the rear door. The burglars used a hammer and chisel to chisel the dial off the door, thus gaining entrance to the safe.

The burglary was reported about 7 a.m. when Harper entered his office and found the safe ransacked.

An unidentified man, who was in the office Friday, and his companion, are wanted by police in connection with the theft.

York, refused to tell McCarthy whether he was a Communist in uniform. He invoked the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination.

McCarthy, handling a duplicate of Peress' honorable discharge, said at one point in the hearing.

"This was signed and handed to this Fifth Amendment Communist major after I suggested to the Army that he be court-martialled. I did this to notify officers of the Army to show that 20 years of treason has been ended."

Following up a policy announcement he had made earlier in the week, Stevens today ordered Army commanders to act under appropriate regulations against both officers and enlisted men who are security risks.

The order applies to all reserve officers and to regular Army officers who have not completed their three years of probationary service, as well as to enlisted men. It provides for discharges other than honorable for all found to be security risks.

Stevens listed as security risks those who:

1. Refuse to sign the loyalty certificate required of all personnel.

2. Plead protection of either the Fifth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution or of Article 31 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, which prohibit compulsory self-incrimination. It would be forbidden under this section, to refuse to answer questions relating to subversive activity.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said during the day that Stevens had inquired of him "what the facts were" about recent questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker by Sen. McCarthy.

Zwicker has accused McCarthy of "twisting" what the general said at the New York hearing of the investigations subcommittee Tuesday.

Peress, subject of the hearing had been stationed at Camp Kilmer, N. J. where Zwicker is commanding officer.

Following Zwicker's appearance at the closed hearing, McCarthy said the general had acknowledged knowing about the subcommittee's purported evidence against Peress.

Zwicker said that McCarthy "gave a colored and slanted version of my testimony, twisting everything he could."

Sen. Arthur V. Watskins, (R-Utah), a subcommittee member, had branded the charges "tommyrot."

Like Making Bricks Without Straw

Crop Surplus Problems Worry Administration; Benson Still A Target

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower's administration came to grips this week with one of the thorniest problems since an ancient Egyptian Pharaoh commanded the Israelites to make bricks without straw.

The problem: how to get rid of billions of dollars worth of government held farm surpluses without (1) risking ruin at the polls next November or (2) inflicting ruin on the nation's farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson took the icy plunge and came up with a solution that immediately triggered a crackling red-hot debate on the Senate floor with Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) shouting that it would deal "a death blow" to many farmers.

Benson announced that starting April 1, federal price supports for butter will drop from 66 cents to 58 cents a pound—the maximum reduction permitted by law—with an expected saving of 8 cents a pound to housewives buying butter.

Just a few hours earlier, House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) had served grim notice that "a nice hassle" could be expected over the Eisenhower administration's farm policies.

"The Democrats will be there," said Rayburn, "when Benson tries to put over his sliding scale for price supports."

Mr. Sam was not wrong about the hassle. Farm-state Democrats tore into Benson's order with cries that the GOP administration was taking milk from the mouths of "millions of children." Dairy farmers, they argued, simply could not operate at the lower prices."

Then up rose Sen. Dirsen (R-Ill) with a tart reminder that a Democratic Congress and a Democratic president, Harry S. Truman, were in power when the 1949 law governing dairy price supports was enacted.

"That was no Republican piece of villainy," thundered Dirkson.

Dirksen pointed out that the 1949 law says the secretary of agriculture shall raise or lower price supports as deemed necessary "to assure an adequate supply"—and remarked that the 270,559,000 pounds of surplus butter now aging in federal warehouses seemed more than adequate.

But Democrats who expect to win or lose the important congressional elections next fall on the farm issue, were not to be silenced.

Next move: Now it's up to Benson to figure out how to unload the mountains of surplus butter and such other items as 282,042,354 pounds of cheese, 830,000,000 pounds of cottonseed oil, 68,232,000 pounds of peanuts and 5,985,000 bales of cotton.

Best bet: Experts say it's unlikely the administration will revive the food-stamp plan of the depression 1930s. Except for perishable foods, they expect Benson will try some method of distributing the surpluses abroad.

Dies On Hunt In South Germany

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Feb. 20—UP— Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, 59, commander of U. S. troops in the southern area of Germany and storm center of controversy over his demand for iron discipline in the draftee army, died Saturday of a heart attack while hunting.

Cramer was stricken while hunting deer with two Army doctors deep in the Bavarian forests 30 miles from the Czech frontier.

Much of his career was marked by criticism from his own troops, congressmen and newspapers for his attempts to enforce a strict moral code and eliminate promiscuity in his commands.

One result, Army sources said, was that his command had more officers hauled before courts martial on adultery charges than any other in Europe.

In his most recent publicized bout in his battle against immorality, Cramer sent MPs on a raid on a lieutenant-colonel's billet.

I took a lead pencil and wrote across the top of the proof: "A man may be down but he's never out."

Jackson Newspaper Suit Ends After Five Weeks; Case Under Advisement

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 20 (AP)—Jackson's two daily newspapers ended their five-week chancery court battle today.

Chancellor Arnold Pyle took under advisement the request of the afternoon Jackson Daily News that he permanently enjoin the proposed sale of a controlling interest of Mississippi Publishers Corp. to the morning Clarion-Ledger. The corporation publishes both newspapers.

Pyle gave attorneys 40 days to finish filing briefs summarizing their stands.

The Daily News also asks that the corporation be dissolved, contending that hatreds among corporation directors make it impossible for the corporation to function.

The Daily News also contends that the corporation never existed legally.

The suit began months ago when Mrs. Ann Sullens Lomax of Alexandria, La., agreed to sell 20 shares of corporation stock to the Hederman family, which controls the Clarion-Ledger. The sale would have upset the 50-50 division of stock between the two newspaper groups.

Chancellor Pyle granted a temporary injunction last summer pending the outcome of the court fight that ended today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower's administration came to grips this week with one of the thorniest problems since an ancient Egyptian Pharaoh commanded the Israelites to make bricks without straw.

The problem: how to get rid of billions of dollars worth of government held farm surpluses without (1) risking ruin at the polls next November or (2) inflicting ruin on the nation's farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson took the icy plunge and came up with a solution that immediately triggered a crackling red-hot debate on the Senate floor with Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) shouting that it would deal "a death blow" to many farmers.

Benson announced that starting April 1, federal price supports for butter will drop from 66 cents to 58 cents a pound—the maximum reduction permitted by law—with an expected saving of 8 cents a pound to housewives buying butter.

Just a few hours earlier, House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) had served grim notice that "a nice hassle" could be expected over the Eisenhower administration's farm policies.

"The Democrats will be there," said Rayburn, "when Benson tries to put over his sliding scale for price supports."

Mr. Sam was not wrong about the hassle. Farm-state Democrats tore into Benson's order with cries that the GOP administration was taking milk from the mouths of "millions of children." Dairy farmers, they argued, simply could not operate at the lower prices."

Then up rose Sen. Dirsen (R-Ill) with a tart reminder that a Democratic Congress and a Democratic president, Harry S. Truman, were in power when the 1949 law governing dairy price supports was enacted.

"That was no Republican piece of villainy," thundered Dirkson.

Dirksen pointed out that the 1949 law says the secretary of agriculture shall raise or lower price supports as deemed necessary "to assure an adequate supply"—and remarked that the 270,559,000 pounds of surplus butter now aging in federal warehouses seemed more than adequate.

But Democrats who expect to win or lose the important congressional elections next fall on the farm issue, were not to be silenced.

Next move: Now it's up to Benson to figure out how to unload the mountains of surplus butter and such other items as 282,042,354 pounds of cheese, 830,000,000 pounds of cottonseed oil, 68,232,000 pounds of peanuts and 5,985,000 bales of cotton.

Best bet: Experts say it's unlikely the administration will revive the food-stamp plan of the depression 1930s. Except for perishable foods, they expect Benson will try some method of distributing the surpluses abroad.

Patricia Jordan was taken to St. Francis Sanitarium. Linda's body was removed to Peters Funeral Home. Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita Parish Coroner, reported that death resulted from a fractured skull and intracranial hemorrhage.

Mrs. Galligher, at the instruction of Judge Jesse Heard, was released in the custody of her father, Dr. Frank P. Rizzo, Edgewater Gardens.

Mrs. Jordan was taken to St. Francis Sanitarium for treatment due to shock.

Dies On Hunt In South Germany

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Feb. 20—UP— Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, 59, commander of U. S. troops in the southern area of Germany and storm center of controversy over his demand for iron discipline in the draftee army, died Saturday of a heart attack while hunting.

Cramer was stricken while hunting deer with two Army doctors deep in the Bavarian forests 30 miles from the Czech frontier.

Much of his career was marked by criticism from his own troops, congressmen and newspapers for his attempts to enforce a strict moral code and eliminate promiscuity in his commands.

One result, Army sources said, was that his command had more officers hauled before courts martial on adultery charges than any other in Europe.

In his most recent publicized bout in his battle against immorality, Cramer sent MPs on a raid on a lieutenant-colonel's billet.

"Back in the closing days of the World War, I had the honor of cooperating with Miss Evangeline Booth in the preparation of an article for "The American Magazine". The editor was not entirely satisfied with the title first suggested and asked me to think of another. I took a lead pencil and wrote across the top of the proof: "A man may be down but he's never out."

"At that time the publicity director of The Salvation Army was my old friend Elmore Leffingwell who had a sharp eye for a good head-line. He fastened on the line immediately and began sprinkling it through the army's literature.

"So it is that, with no mental effort on my part, and merely by one of those freaks of mind that are so surprising and inexplicable, I became responsible for the slogan which The Army has carried around the world. I presume that of all the millions of words that have flowed from my pencil and typewriter in thirty-five years, these few are by all odds the most famous and enduring.

"I am proud indeed to have this association with the work of the Army and the privilege of the friendship of so many of its leaders."

Jackson Newspaper Suit Ends After Five Weeks; Case Under Advisement

JACKSON, Miss., Feb, 20 (AP)—Jackson's two daily newspapers ended their five-week chancery court battle today.

Chancellor Arnold Pyle took under advisement the request of the afternoon Jackson Daily News that he permanently enjoin the proposed sale of a controlling interest of Mississippi Publishers Corp. to the morning Clarion-Ledger. The corporation publishes both newspapers.

Pyle gave attorneys 40 days to finish filing briefs summarizing their stands.

The Daily News also asks that the corporation be dissolved, contending that hatreds among corporation directors make it impossible for the corporation to function.

The Daily News also contends that the corporation never existed legally.

The suit began months ago when Mrs. Ann Sullens Lomax of Alexandria, La., agreed to sell 20 shares of corporation stock to the Hederman family, which controls the Clarion-Ledger. The sale would have upset the 50-50 division of stock between the two newspaper groups.

Chancellor Pyle granted a temporary injunction last summer pending the outcome of the court fight that ended today.

2 High French Officials Say Indo-China War Has Developed Into Deadlock

SAIGON Indo-China, Feb. 20 — up—Two high French officials said Friday the Indo-China war has developed into a deadlock with no French union victory in sight even next year and that American aid has been "indispensable."

Gen. Henri — Eugene Navarre, French supreme commander in Indo - China, and Rene Pleven, French minister of defense, made the statements as U. S. foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen arrived in Saigon to study the war and its relations to increased American assistance.

Navarre gave the more pessimistic outlook at a press conference in Saigon. Pleven told correspondents in Hanoi that France and the Associated States of Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos "cannot bear the weight of the struggle alone."

However, Pleven said U. S. assistance is "not the only condition for success" and that after a tour of the war fronts "I do not see how the Viet Minh can win." He returned to Hanoi Friday after flying to the besieged fortress of Dien Bien Phu in northwest Indo-China.

Pleven pledged that France would not abandon the Indo-Chinese people to the Communists after waging war against them for nearly eight years.

Navarre's statement contrasted sharply with more optimistic American statements.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles expressed hopes at last autumn's session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the French might crush the rebellion this year. His statement later was echoed by other U. S. officials.

Navarre disclosed that French union forces had been forced to evacuate many posts not under enemy pressure because of a lack of troops. It was the first public avowal that the French expeditionary force and the fledgling loyalist army could not match the rebels in terms of troops in all sectors.

Sen. Ellender Assails Benson Farm Program

BATON ROUGE (AP)—U. S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, ranking Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said today surplus commodity losses were a "drop in the bucket" compared with post office losses and industrial tax write offs.

Addressing the 10th annual meeting of the Louisiana Sweet Potato Growers at Louisiana State University, Ellender rapped Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson for trying to "blacken, soil and drag into the dust" the present farm parity program by "exaggerating its losses."

Attacking the proposed Republican farm program of flexible price supports, the Louisiana senator said the Benson plan would "create scarcities" and endanger the food supply of the country in event of a national emergency.

Ellender accused the secretary of presenting a "distorted picture" of commodity losses resulting from the present program by including funds spent for flood control, soil conservation and rural electrification in data presented to the Senate committee.

LSU President Troy H. Middleton warned that unless "Louisiana gets away from the foot of the educational totem pole, Yankees coming South with new industries will take over."

Asking support of appropriations to LSU at the May session of the Legislature, Middleton told sweet potato men the growing national population underlines the need for increased money for agricultural research.

He said LSU spends 45 cents out of every dollar appropriated for agriculture.

State Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce urged the growers to concentrate on quality to hold keenly competitive northern markets by "the superiority of Louisiana yams."

Jap Patrol Boat Is Released By South Koreans

TOKYO, Sunday, Feb. 21—UP—A Japanese patrol boat, which was fired upon, seized and then released Saturday by the South Korean coast guard, headed back for Japan Sunday, according to the maritime safety agency.

A short wireless message from the 450-ton vessel Sado reported that "all was well," and it was en route to Japan from Cheju Island.

The boat was released on orders of South Korean National Police Chief Lee Sung Chu after Japanese Vice Minister Katsuzo Okumura protested the seizure.

Texas Man Held In Lover's Lane Slaying Case

LAUREL, Miss., Feb. 20 (AP) — Sheriff Morgan Holifield said today a 30-year-old man arrested in Texas would be questioned in the lover's lane slaying of a 23-year-old truck driver here last Saturday.

Holifield said th man was picked up in Dallas yesterday and that Jones County deputies would return him here tomorrow for investigation.

Ard D. Rushton, a Laurel truck driver, was killed with a .22 caliber rifle last Saturday night while sitting in a parked truck with a 20-year-old companion, Gwendolyn Cooley.

The sheriff said Miss Cooley told of a man walking on the gravel road and opening fire with the rifle. She said the gunman opened the door of the truck and then fled. She sat in the truck a few minutes with Rushton's head in her lap, then drove home. A brother called authorities later.

Fathers Lead Millsaps PTA Founders' Day

The Millsaps' Parent-Teacher Association held its Founders' Day meeting Thursday night with the fathers in control of the program. The meeting was held in the school lunchroom.

Carl Metcalf led a panel discussion on the origin of P.-T. A. with many interesting facts about the early leaders in the organization being brought out. Assisting him in the discussion were Chester DeCuir, Jessie Webb and Bailey Grant. The panel emphasized the history of the national organization and the objects of the present day group, the first of which is to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community.

As is the custom of the Millsaps P.-T. A. each year, a life membership was awarded to one of the faithful workers in the local unit. This year Mrs. Hazel Smith received the honor. The presentation of the certificate and life membership pin was made by Mr. Clifford Roberts, principal of the school. He pointed out the many ways in which Mrs. Smith has helped the organization during the seven years she has been an active member, and paid tribute to the many services she has rendered the school.

At the conclusion of the meeting a Founders' Day offering was collected and a sizable sum was realized. This is used to further the work of P.-T. A. on a national and statewide scale.

During the social hour that followed the business meeting, a group of the fathers, led by A. E. Duncan and Truman Walter, served cake and punch to the assemblage.

The room count showed that three rooms tied for the prize of having the most parents present. They were Mrs. Culpepper's first grade, Mrs. Rinehart's first grade, and Mrs. Carter's fourth grade.

Editorials

High On A Windy Hill

The National Capitol of 1954 is a most amazing place. No matter how many times one has visited the city in the past, there are always some changes to be noticed. The beautiful capitol dome aglow in the evening after a rain sparkles like some jewel and the Washington Monument is a constant reminder of the great first president of this nation. The Lincoln memorial is another reminder that the spirit of the Republic exists in the minds of some people in the capitol if not others. Perhaps the most awe inspiring sight is the number of public buildings recently built to handle the maze of bureaucracy which is the federal administration. One wonders where all the people go in the evening and what it is that they all do during the hours at work. Apparently, other people wonder also, hence the efforts to curb the size of the federal government. Behind the familiar tourist sights and governmental monuments, there exists a fight now being waged to some sort of a finish. The fight is not noticed even in the Capitol by the average person. It is being waged between the executive and the legislative branches of the government. One would have you believe that Senator Bricker's proposal would do terrible harm to the power of the executive. It is hard to see how anything could do harm to the rapidly expanding power of the administration. It is all powerful in Washington even if only in the amount of property and the number of buildings it controls. The philosophy of the left wing is to belittle the importance of the legislative branch and this group is assisted by some of the legislators themselves. Actually, the legislators are termed "political hacks, ignorant politicians" and other incorrect and unfair terms. The administration, far from changing the philosophy of the Truman cabal in attempting to unload the Socialists and Marxists from the government, has kept many of them in their present positions. At every turn in the road, these people seek to do damage to the Legislative section of the federal government. They are assisted by the many propagandists of the press and the other media of public information.

The President is constantly advised that he is an all powerful potentate with nearly unlimited powers. Were he a lesser man such as was Truman, he would indeed, feel this way. It is remarkable that he doesn't. However, some of the advice gets through and the President has as his own idea, termed this nation as a "democracy" while the constitution sets it up as a "Republic". This was made very evident on numerous occasions. On Thursday, the President made it clear that his advice on the Bricker proposal was to be followed by the firing of Dean Manion of Notre Dame who had until very recently, been a strong Eisenhower supporter. Dean Manion said that it was his opinion that the President during the campaign, approved of the "present balance". The statement made by the President was clear for all to see at the time. He said, "the federal government did not create the states of this Republic. The States created the Federal Government. The creation should not supercede the creator." Apparently, the president has changed his mind thus showing the fight existing between the two branches of government. Actually, the power of the executive branch far surpasses that of the legislative. There is only one way in which the Legislative branch can "hold back" the administrative section and that is with the pursestrings. It is said often in Washington that everytime the raising of the debt limit comes before the Senate, Senator Byrd's face gets red and the Secretary of the Treasury reaches for the aspirin. Actually, the Virginia Senator always manages to keep his composure over money matters. He remarked that it mattered not to him how much the President wanted, or the Secretary wanted or anybody else wanted so long as they kept within the present debt limit. Thus, it is easy to see that the President's patronage club is borne softly when he deals with the congress on money matters.

The "Hill" is much like a fort braving the winds of the wild internationalist hurricane. There are some cracks here and there and the water gets in now and then, but generally, the pilings hold and the braces stand. One is reminded that the Congress is the last bastion of the Republic. The nation in these days is not in great danger from abroad but from within, it is even in worse condition as far as its status as a Republic is concerned. Now, that word is forgotten in the mad Fabian move towards centralization and federal control. The city of Washington is a graphic personification of the size of the Federal Government. Building after building, employee after employee is not a sign of conservation and lessening of the Federal Government's power. This is of course, in reverse from the opinion formed of the "great crusade". The fight continues. Far from the advertised administration of the encroachment of the legislative branch over the executive's power, the reverse is the unfortunate truth. Indeed, as a Senator remarked, "we are like many men in a group attempting to protect the Republic. Some of us sometimes fail and some don't try hard enough, but we're still high, high on a windy hill."

The President's Highway Conference

The National capitol this last week was the scene of the highway conference on safety sponsored by the President and the Secretary of Commerce. Nearly four thousand delegates from all forty eight states gathered in Washington on Wednesday to begin the conference in the huge and beautiful Departmental Auditorium of the Labor Department. The President officially opened the conference with the somber note that since the beginning of the automobile around the turn of the century, there have been as many deaths on the roads and highways as there have been attributed to all the wars ever fought by the United States. In late 1952, the one million mark was reached and the president added that "we are rapidly striving for the second million." He said that while traffic and highway safety was generally the concern of local and state officials, it became the problem of the national government when the casualty figures were examined.

The President's remarks were followed by the address of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks who asks for a "Crusade for safety." He said that the United States was always having a peace conference to settle a war, and that this conference was on the order of a conference to declare peace on the highways. It is not the duty of this newspaper to be cynical, but if the conference in Washington did not accomplish more than recent peace conferences, there was no necessity for it.

The Secretary was followed by Governor Thornton of Colorado who was the chairman of the entire operation. Governor Thornton could not resist a brag or two concerning his state which he told the delegates was the first to set up a safety conference. The Colorado governor neglected to tell the delegates that other states such as Louisiana had for some years, had highway safety conferences. The governor mentioned that the airplanes had always been heavily regulated as to fitness, condition and there had been a pilot training program to make certain that pilots had mastered the art of flying. He said that "it is a shame something has not been done along these lines for the automobiles."

To handle so large a crowd, the conference was divided into seven sections of business, newspapers, advertising, labor, women and other classified departments of the conference. On Thursday afternoon, the Vice President addressed the gathering hoping for added safety on the highways. There is most assuredly a necessity for safety on the roads of this nation. The slaughter seems to continue although by percentage, it has actually been reduced over the years. Percentages mean little when the number of opportunities for wrecks and casualties is considered. There are more autos than ever before on the roads and according to the latest estimates, there will in the next 25 years, be eighty million automobiles surging across the highways. If and when that figure is reached, the toll if considered by present standards, will be an awesome thing to behold.

The feeling of many of the delegates concerning this conference is that in some manner, the government is planning a venture into national highway laws. This was hinted by certain members of the planning staff who voiced the opinion that such ideas, "while perhaps not feasible right now would indeed be good ones." On this there is a difference. What is good for one state with mountain roads, might not be good for another with swamp roads.

In any case, another member of the planning staff asserted that if the President wanted, "he could take over every highway in the nation today." This happy thought is based on the federal aid to the state highway systems. This newspaper has constantly warned the people of the dangers of taking more and more federal aid to this and that and the other thing. If this is what has been in the back of numerous minds, they are black thoughts and were presented to some of the delegates in a subtle manner.

In any case, it is hoped that all the delegates return home with new ideas on how to prevent the frightful wrecks on the highways of the nation. If the people who attended this conference can get one idea and by doing so, can save the life of one American, the conference will have been well worth the while.

The Bricker Fight
A Separation

The Administration's fight to beat down the Bricker proposal has to a great extent succeeded. It was not done by the open method of direct voting, it was accomplished by the clever parliamentarian procedures of both Senator Knowland and Senator Ferguson. Actually, as it stands as of Thursday, the proposal as originally put before the Senate has no possible chance of passage. Instead, the substitute proposals, as were offered by the Administration, took precedence. The adroit Bricker managed to add his last proposal which is merely rewording of the original to the other substitutes, insuring consideration at some time or the other. The efforts to beat down this vital proposal have been great in strength and finances. The Washington "Post" has waged a relentless battle against the proposal. Its board Chairman, Eugene Meyer has gone all the way including two front page editorials on the same day plus cartoons by Herblock and front page stories. Then, the "United Nations" has flooded the capitol with literature. It maintains a large press corps of "advisors." The American Association for The United Nations operates a powerful lobby group. The United World Federalists maintain a "constant vigil."

In favor of the proposal however, is the militant Daughters of The American Revolution National Defense Committee, the Minute Women, the American Bar Association and other patriotic organizations numbering more than one hundred. Many Senators who have remarked about the terrific "grass roots" pressure in favor of the proposal, seemed astounded that there would be such great opinion in favor of the proposal. The militant Hubert Humphries, it is understood, was accosted by a delegation from his own state which demanded that he change his opinion of the entire procedure. Senator Herbert Lehman of New York has bitterly denounced the proposal and his family is spending a fortune in one manner or the other in defeat attempts. The magnitude of the importance of the proposal is still not known to a majority of the people. Two Senators reported to this newspaper that their jobs had been threatened by sources were they to vote in favor of passing some form of protection for the constitution. The Internationalists know this is a desperate fight, one which must be won by them if they are to continue their plans for the internationalization of this republic. By the time you read this, the proposal will either have been defeated in one manner or the other or it will have been passed, again, in one manner or the other. The crux of the matter was the desperate effort of the administration to keep the proposal from a direct voice vote of the assembled Senators. Had the proposal ever come before them, it is the opinion of a great many well informed people in Washington, that it would have gone over with flying colors. The administration has been badly advised by many sources in the opposition and one result was forecast by a lawmaker from a Northern state, a (Republican) who said, "there were almost more Democrats for the proposal than there were Republicans, the rascals will now try to steal it for their own." He might not be so far from wrong. The President was determined at all costs including the complete destruction of the Republican party, to defeat the proposal. There is no doubt in the minds of any person in the capitol that the President's advice did and does not come from sources of a conservative nature. The Bricker amendment fight will serve to awaken the American people to the dangers facing the future of this nation and the power behind these forces. They would make every citizen shudder if the magnitude of these forces' power in the national capitol was correctly known.

Calm View Needed In Muddy Political Waters

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In regard to your editorial "Senator Jenner's Statement": Last week Senator Jenner in Jeffersonville, Ind. said that "the Fair Dealers" did not intend U. S. troops to win a victory in Korea. "Then they stooped to the ultimate depths — they gave away the victory our men had won with their blood."

I should say that Senator Jenner "stooped to the ultimate depths" in making such a charge. The New York Times aptly characterized this as "slander straight from the gutter." Staunch Republican organ The New York World - Telegram and Sun said. "We print the following dispatch because it is a statement by a United States senator. It should be pointed out, however, that Senator Jenner offered no facts to substantiate his irresponsible charge."

We often hear that Americans have little respect for their elected officials. To be in politics is synonymous with dishonesty, lack of ethics, corruption. We agree that it is a sad state of affairs that politics are looked upon with such repugnance, but how can we have respect for men of Jenner's type who issue such statements. Are we to believe that Harry Truman sent troops to Korea with plans to withdraw them and thus aid the North Koreans in their bid for over-running the entire country?

Yes, says Senator Jenner.

Today there is nothing too degrading for politicians to hurl. We know, of course, that the country labored under "twenty years of treason," because Senator McCarthy says so. Do you want any more proof?

My purpose in this letter is to ask the readers to view as calmly as possible the charges and counter-charges. It is very difficult, I know, but remember one thing—this is an election year, and the smear artists — of both sides — are at work. No accusation is too wild for some people will believe anything, and the most important matter to most politicians is that they get re-elected and that their party stay in power. Their loyalty is much stronger to their party than their country.

Read carefully the statements of the politicians, and think!

There are an awful lot of business women if you include those who are always sticking their noses into everybody's.

It's no wonder some folks are surprised at where they are. They didn't watch where they were going.

How Many Post Offices Are There?

1. Q—I noticed that recently President Eisenhower nominated 272 people for postmaster jobs. Just how many post offices are there?

A — There were 40,130 U. S. post offices, not counting branches or stations, as of Jan. 1, 1954. According to the Post Office Department, about 22,240 were first, second or third-class offices. The postmasters for these offices are appointed by the president, who uses Civil Service registers, and the nominations are subject to Senate confirmation. The remaining were fourth-class offices, and postmasters for them are appointed by the Postmaster General.

2. Q—What determines whether a post office is first class or fourth class?

A—The postal revenue taken in by the office. Fourth-class offices take in up to $1,500 a year. There were 17,890 of them on Jan. 1. Other classes, the amount of revenue and the number of post offices: third-class, from $1,500 to $8,000 (13,082); second-class, $8,000 to $40,000 (6,157); first-class, above $40,000 (3,001).

3. Q—What are the qualifications for serving in Congress?

A—The Constitution states that a Representative must be at least 25 years old, a citizen for at least seven years and at the time of election, a resident of the state he represents. A Senator must be at least 30 years old, a citizen for at least nine years, and a resident of his state at the time of election. A former Senator, Rush D. Holt (D W. Va.), now a Republican, was only 29 when elected in 1934 for a term beginning Jan. 3, 1935. He did not take his seat until June 21, 1935, two days after his 30th birthday.

4. Q—When will the primary elections be held this year?

A—Illinois voters will be the first to select candidates in a primary this year on April 13. They will ballot for nominees for various offices, including the U. S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D). New Jersey's primary April 20 will be next. Alabama, Florida, Indiana, New Mexico, and Ohio will vote for party candidates May 4. Other primaries will occur later in May and in June, July, August and September. In most states the major parties will nominate their Congressional candidates in primaries but in some they will be named in conventions.

5. Q—I read that the Disabled American Veterans and other "chartered" veterans groups appeared before the House Veterans Affairs committee recently to make their annual reports. Why do they have to report to Congress?

A—Veterans groups chartered by Congress are required by law to make annual financial reports to the House Veterans Affairs committee. Besides the DAV, chartered veterans groups are the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Veterans of World War II.

6. Q—When will American troops be brought home from Japan?

A—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R N. J.), chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Far East Subcommittee, said Feb. 2 it may be four or five years before all American troops now in Japan may be brought home. Despite this, Smith urged that a 'target" date be set for the withdrawal of occupation forces. The war with Japan was ended Aug. 14, 1945, and the peace treaty took effect April 28, 1952.

7. Q—How many additional persons would be covered by Social Security if Congress and the states adopted President Eisenhower's recommendations for extended coverage?

A—About 10 3 million more persons would be brought into the Old Age and Survivors Insurance system. Among them would be about 3.4 million employees in businesses with fewer than eight employees, approximately 2.5 million federal employees, and 200,000 workers engaged in the processing of agricultural products. About 4.2 million state, county and municipal civil service workers who, for the most part, now have various retirement plans, could come into the federal OASI on a voluntary basis. Doctors, lawyers, accountants, dentists, ministers, architects and other professionals would also be given the choice of joining.

8. Q—Is a roll-call vote required when the Senate consents to ratification of a treaty?

A—No, but several of the compromise proposals offered during debate on the Bricker amendment —to amend the treaty - making procedure — would require roll-call votes for ratification. Consent to ratification now requires a two-thirds vote of those present. During the current debate on the Bricker proposal, it was brought out that on at least one occasion, a treaty got through the Senate while only one Senator was on the floor. He didn't vote "yea"; he just did not object to ratification.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Will Tom Clark Resign?

Washington hears repeated reports that Associate Justice Tom C. Clark is about to resign from the United States Supreme Court to reenter private law practice. Clark has neither affirmed nor denied these but leading Republicans have enough faith in them to predict that either Secretary of State John Foster Dulles or Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. will be named to the vacancy, if there is one.

No Replacements Permitted — Retirement of Rep. Alvin F. Weichel, Sandusky, Ohio Republican from active participation in house affairs for reasons of health has left the house merchant and marine fisheries in difficulty.

Weichel is chairman of the committee, and his non-attendance means the membership is evenly divided, 14 Republicans and 14 Democrats. When the Republicans wanted to name an additional member of the committee to keep their majority, Democratic leaders blocked the request. This is reportedly the first stand by Democrats in retaliation for recent Republican attacks on last administration.

Hollywood in Washington — George Murphy and Robert Montgomery, movie and TV stars, are both Republicans but hardly pals. Since 1950 Murphy has been Hollywood's No. 1 Republican, acting as master of ceremonies at big GOP pageants both there and here. He has been darling of the Republican national committee, and has really put in lots of hard work for the party. Along came Robert Montgomery and practically moved into the White House, offering to help Ike with his TV appearances. Now Montgomery has a White House desk when he comes to see the president, attends White House press conferences and acts like a member of the staff. But George Murphy has not been invited to the executive mansion recently.

POWs Take A Different View—Ike's hint that he would like to see the army show leniency toward Corporal Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck., Va., one of the two POWs who requested repatriation after having gone over to the Communists is not approved by 200 loyal POWs who came back to freedom.

They have written, phoned and wired army officials here offering to come to Washington at their own expense to testify against the mountain boy if he is court martialed. Army grapevine says Dickenson's accusers charge he turned in four POWs who were planning to escape. They were never heard of again.

Corporal Claude Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., who also turned his back on communism at the last moment is still in Japan. Some grapevine says charges against him are more grave than those against Dickenson. Army does not believe he would be safe if he came back to the U. S.

Nice job for Right Party — Among the many Republicans patronage problems is whether to name a woman as director of the U. S. Mint, one of the easy and pleasant jobs still available. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross former governor of Wyoming held the post during Democratic years. Since the treasurer of the United States is Mrs. Ivy Mae Priest of Utah, whose name now appears on paper money, Republican patronage distributors would like to give the mint job to a man, but fear resentment of Republican women voters, many of whom have applied for the job.

Forecast — Depletion allowance of 27½ per cent for income from oil will not be lowered in coming tax bill though northern Democrats will make the attempt. Democratic leaders kept it in tax laws, will not change now, in spite of stories that wealthy oil men contribute to Republican campaign funds.

High On A Windy Hill

The National Capitol of 1954 is a most amazing place. No matter how many times one has visited the city in the past, there are always some changes to be noticed. The beautiful capitol dome aglow in the evening after a rain sparkles like some jewel and the Washington Monument is a constant reminder of the great first president of this nation. The Lincoln memorial is another reminder that the spirit of the Republic exists in the minds of some people in the capitol if not others. Perhaps the most awe inspiring sight is the number of public buildings recently built to handle the maze of bureaucracy which is the federal administration. One wonders where all the people go in the evening and what it is that they all do during the hours at work. Apparently, other people wonder also, hence the efforts to curb the size of the federal government. Behind the familiar tourist sights and governmental monuments, there exists a fight now being waged to some sort of a finish. The fight is not noticed even in the Capitol by the average person. It is being waged between the executive and the legislative branches of the government. One would have you believe that Senator Bricker's proposal would do terrible harm to the power of the executive. It is hard to see how anything could do harm to the rapidly expanding power of the administration. It is all powerful in Washington even if only in the amount of property and the number of buildings it controls. The philosophy of the left wing is to belittle the importance of the legislative branch and this group is assisted by some of the legislators themselves. Actually, the legislators are termed "political hacks, ignorant politicians" and other incorrect and unfair terms. The administration, far from changing the philosophy of the Truman cabal in attempting to unload the Socialists and Marxists from the government, has kept many of them in their present positions. At every turn in the road, these people seek to do damage to the Legislative section of the federal governmnt. They are assisted by the many propagandists of the press and the other media of public information.

The President is constantly advised that he is an all powerful potentate with nearly unlimited powers. Were he a lesser man such as was Truman, he would indeed, feel this way. It is remarkable that he doesn't. Two Senators reported to this newspaper that their jobs had been threatened by sources were they to vote in favor of passing some form of protection for the constitution. The Internationalists know this is a desperate fight, one which must be won by them if they are to continue their plans for the internationalization of this republic. By the time you read this, the proposal will either have been defeated in one manner or the other or it will have been passed, again, in one manner or the other. The crux of the matter was the desperate effort of the administration to keep the proposal from a direct voice vote of the assembled Senators. Had the proposal ever come before them, it is the opinion of a great many well informed people in Washington, that it would have gone over with flying colors. The administration has been badly advised by many sources in the opposition and one result was forecast by a lawmaker from a Northern state, a (Republican) who said, "there were almost more Democrats for the proposal than there were Republicans, the rascals will now try to steal it for their own." He might not be so far from wrong. The President was determined at all costs including the complete destruction of the Republican party, to defeat the proposal. There is no doubt in the minds of any person in the capitol that the President's advice did and does not come from sources of a conservative nature. The Bricker amendment fight will serve to awaken the American people to the dangers facing the future of this nation and the power behind these forces. They would make every citizen shudder if the magnitude of these forces' power in the national capitol was correctly known.

Calm View Needed In Muddy Political Waters

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In regard to your editorial "Senator Jenner's Statement": Last week Senator Jenner in Jeffersonville, Ind. said that "the Fair Dealers" did not intend U. S. troops to win a victory in Korea. "Then they stooped to the ultimate depths — they gave away the victory our men had won with their blood."

I should say that Senator Jenner "stooped to the ultimate depths" in making such a charge. The New York Times aptly characterized this as "slander straight from the gutter." Staunch Republican organ The New York World - Telegram and Sun said. "We print the following dispatch because it is a statement by a United States senator. It should be pointed out, however, that Senator Jenner offered no facts to substantiate his irresponsible charge."

We often hear that Americans have little respect for their elected officials. To be in politics is synonymous with dishonesty, lack of ethics, corruption. We agree that it is a sad state of affairs that politics are looked upon with such repugnance, but how can we have respect for men of Jenner's type who issue such statements. Are we to believe that Harry Truman sent troops to Korea with plans to withdraw them and thus aid the North Koreans in their bid for over-running the entire country?

Yes, says Senator Jenner.

Today there is nothing too degrading for politicians to hurl. We know, of course, that the country labored under "twenty years of treason," because Senator McCarthy says so. Do you want any more proof?

My purpose in this letter is to ask the readers to view as calmly as possible the charges and counter-charges. It is very difficult, I know, but remember one thing—this is an election year, and the smear artists — of both sides — are at work. No accusation is too wild for some people will believe anything, and the most important matter to most politicians is that they get re-elected and that their party stay in power. Their loyalty is much stronger to their party than their country.

Read carefully the statements of the politicians, and think!

There are an awful lot of business women if you include those who are always sticking their noses into everybody's.

It's no wonder some folks are surprised at where they are. They didn't watch where they were going.

How Many Post Offices Are There?

1. Q—I noticed that recently President Eisenhower nominated 272 people for postmaster jobs. Just how many post offices are there?

A — There were 40,130 U. S. post offices, not counting branches or stations, as of Jan. 1, 1954. According to the Post Office Department, about 22,240 were first, second or third-class offices. The postmasters for these offices are appointed by the president, who uses Civil Service registers, and the nominations are subject to Senate confirmation. The remaining were fourth-class offices, and postmasters for them are appointed by the Postmaster General.

2.Q—What determines whether a post office is first class or fourth class?

A—The postal revenue taken in by the office Fourth-class offices take in up to $1,500 a year. There were 17,890 of them on Jan. 1. Other classes, the amount of revenue and the number of post offices: third-class, from $1,500 to $8,000 (13,082); second-class, $8,000 to $40,000 (6,157); first-class, above $40,000 (3,001).

3. Q—What are the qualifications for serving in Congress?

A—The Constitution states that a Representative must be at least 25 years old, a citizen for at least seven years and at the time of election, a resident of the state he represents. A Senator must be at least 30 years old, a citizen for at least nine years, and a resident of his state at the time of election. A former Senator, Rush D. Holt (D W. Va.), now a Republican, was only 29 when elected in 1934 for a term beginning Jan. 3, 1935. He did not take his seat until June 21, 1935, two days after his 30th birthday.

4. Q—When will the primary elections be held this year?

A—Illinois voters will be the first to select candidates in a primary this year on April 13. They will ballot for nominees for various offices, including the U. S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D). New Jersey's primary April 20 will be next. Alabama, Florida, Indiana, New Mexico, and Ohio will vote for party candidates May 4. Other primaries will occur later in May and in June, July, August and September. In most states the major parties will nominate their Congressional candidates in primaries but in some they will be named in conventions.

5. Q—I read that the Disabled American Veterans and other "chartered" veterans groups appeared before the House Veterans Affairs committee recently to make their annual reports. Why do they have to report to Congress?

A—Veterans groups chartered by Congress are required by law to make annual financial reports to the House Veterans Affairs committee. Besides the DAV, chartered veterans groups are the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Veterans of World War II.

6. Q—When will American troops be brought home from Japan?

A—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R N. J.), chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Far East Subcommittee, said Feb. 2 it may be four or five years before all American troops now in Japan may be brought home Despite this, Smith urged that a 'target" date be set for the withdrawal of occupation forces. The war with Japan was ended Aug. 14, 1945, and the peace treaty took effect April 28, 1952.

7. Q—How many additional persons would be covered by Social Security if Congress and the states adopted President Eisenhower's recommendations for extended coverage?

A—About 10 3 million more persons would be brought into the Old Age and Survivors Insurance system. Among them would be about 3.4 million employees in businesses with fewer than eight employees, approximately 2.5 million federal employees, and 200,000 workers engaged in the processing of agricultural products. About 4.2 million state, county and municipal civil service workers who, for the most part, now have various retirement plans, could come into the federal OASI on a voluntary basis. Doctors, lawyers, accountants, dentists, ministers, architects and other professionals would also be given the choice of joining.

8. Q—Is a roll-call vote required when the Senate consents to ratification of a treaty?

A—No, but several of the compromise proposals offered during debate on the Bricker amendment —to amend the treaty - making procedure — would require roll-call votes for ratification. Consent to ratification now requires a two-thirds vote of those present. During the current debate on the Bricker proposal, it was brought out that on at least one occasion, a treaty got through the Senate while only one Senator was on the floor. He didn't vote "yea"; he just did not object to ratification.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Will Tom Clark Resign?

Washington hears repeated reports that Associate Justice Tom C. Clark is about to resign from the United States Supreme Court to reenter private law practice. Clark has neither affirmed nor denied these but leading Republicans have enough faith in them to predict that either Secretary of State John Foster Dulles or Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. will be named to the vacancy , if there is one.

No Replacements Permitted — Retirement of Rep. Alvin F. Weichel, Sandusky, Ohio Republican from active participation in house affairs for reasons of health has left the house merchant and marine fisheries in difficulty.

Weichel is chairman of the committee, and his non-attendance means the membership is evenly divided, 14 Republicans and 14 Democrats. When the Republicans wanted to name an additional member of the committee to keep their majority, Democratic leaders blocked the request. This is reportedly the first stand by Democrats in retaliation for recent Republican attacks on last administration.

Hollywood in Washington — George Murphy and Robert Montgomery, movie and TV stars, are both Republicans but hardly pals. Since 1950 Murphy has been Hollywood's No. 1 Republican, acting as master of ceremonies at big GOP pageants both there and here. He has been darling of the Republican national committee, and has really put in lots of hard work for the party. Along came Robert Montgomery and practically moved into the White House, offering to help Ike with his TV appearances. Now Montgomery has a White House desk when he comes to see the president, attends White House press conferences and acts like a member of the staff. But George Murphy has not been invited to the executive mansion recently.

POWs Take A Different View — Ike's hint that he would like to see the army show leniency toward Corporal Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck., Va., one of the two POWs who requested repatriation after having gone over to the Communists is not approved by 200 loyal POWs who came back to freedom.

They have written, phoned and wired army officials here offering to come to Washington at their own expense to testify against the mountain boy if he is court martialed. Army grapevine says Dickenson's accusers charge he turned in four POWs who were planning to escape. They were never heard of again.

Corporal Claude Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., who also turned his back on communism at the last moment is still in Japan. Some grapevine says charges against him are more grave than those against Dickenson. Army does not believe he would be safe if he came back to the U. S.

Nice job for Right Party — Among the many Republicans patronage problems is whether to name a woman as director of the U. S. Mint, one of the easy and pleasant jobs still available. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross former governor of Wyoming held the post during Democratic years. Since the treasurer of the United States is Mrs. Ivy Mae Priest of Utah, whose name now appears on paper money, Republican patronage distributors would like to give the mint job to a man, but fear resentment of Republican women voters, many of whom have applied for the job.

Forecast — Depletion allowance of 27½ per cent for income from oil will not be lowered in coming tax bill though northern Democrats will make the attempt. Democratic leaders kept it in tax laws, will not change now, in spite of stories that wealthy oil men contribute to Republican campaign funds.

Minor Injuries For Six Persons In Accident Here

Six persons were injured slightly Saturday morning when two automobiles collided at the intersection of Jackson and Apple Streets, after which one bounced over and struck a third vehicle. All were taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium, but three were released after emergency treatment.

Injured were Mrs. Hazel Marie Davis, 38, 3917 Sherwood, Baton Rouge, who suffered cuts and bruises; her daughter, Carolyn Davis, 9, bruises about the jaw and cuts; Miss Mary McLaughlin, 23, 2406 Gordon Avenue, bruises about the head, Jerald Hancock, 2, 701 Orange Street, bruised face; James K. Hancock, 4, 701 Orange Street, bruises about the mouth. Mrs. Davis, her daughter, Carolyn, and Miss McLaughlin were kept in the hospital for further observation.

The three-car collision occurred when a 1953 Buick, driven by Mrs. Davis, ran the stop sign and collided with a northbound 1950 Ford coach, driven by Miss McLaughin. After the impact the Ford vehicle veered off and struck a 1951 Henry J, which was stopped on the other side of Apple Street. The Henry J, driven by L. H. Witherington, 53, 701 Orange Street, was knocked approximately 50 feet against the south curb.

The Buick, following the impact, went out of control and struck the southwest corner of a home owned by the J. M. Tunley estate. Damage to the building was estimated at approximately $100.

The injured were taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium by Mulhearn and Peters ambulances.

No charges had been filed late yesterday, police said.

Insurance Firm Appeals Ruling Of Commission

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—A State Farm Mutual executive said today his Illinois firm has appealed a decision which blocked the company from offering auto insurance in Louisiana 25 per cent below average rates.

William D. Sanders, state director for the firm claiming it sells more car insurance in the United States than any other company told of "hundreds of responses" to State Farm Mutual's newspaper ads this week.

The ads declared the insurance firm was ready to fight the recent ruling by the casualty and surety division of the Louisiana Insurance Rating Commission, if Louisiana motorists showed an interest in the lower rates.

"Hundreds of responses came back the next day," Sanders said. "And they're still coming in. It was a most gratifying response and removed any doubt whether we should appeal."

Under state law, the rating commission must hear the appeal within 30 days and render a decision within 30 days after the hearing.

Chairman Joe McMeel of the casualty and surety division contended to allow State Farm Mutual to offer the lower rates would stifle competition.

The appeal was filed with the rating commission. Secretary of State Wade O Martin Jr. is chairman.

Prowler Enters Black Cat Club

The Black Cat Club on North 8th street was entered by a prowler early Saturday, police said, but it was not known whether anything was taken.

According to officers, they received a call about 3:05 a.m. from Willie Mae and Finley Carey, who live behind the club, that they had seen someone inside the barroom. They said he apparently spotted the couple and left by a side window.

Officers were unable to locate the manager of the club, identified as Pete Johnson, to learn if anything had been taken.

Chinese Envoy Interviewed By World Reporter

By J. L. EWING, III
Monroe Morning World
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. — In an exclusive interview granted the Morning World, Ambassador V. K. Wellington Koo of the Republic of China made the following comments on the statement made by Secretary of State Dulles in reference to the Korean peace conference slated in late April and scheduled to include the representatives of Soviet China:

"The purpose of the communists is evident in their attempt to gain time and leave everything unsettled. The United States position in Asia was not helped by this position.

"There has been a total disregard of the United Nations in the matter and no longer is there bilateral action on the part of the Big Four powers. The Communists' military position in Indo-China requires time and the conference will undoubtedly give them that. In my opinion, the Communists have let the cat out of the bag, so to speak, in their demands, as there is clear knowledge that they have already violated the terms of the armistice in Korea and now they desire more time to complete their nefarious activities.

"No person can doubt the end result of the endless peace talks which never get anywhere unless the Communists desire this to happen."

Koo made clear the point that he would be pleasantly surprised if something good did come out. The Chinese diplomat hammered home the idea that in the latest maneuver, the United States had been "put under severe pressure from both the British and French and the Russians to include the Soviet Chinese into the meeting. It appeared for awhile as though the United States might have forced them to some kind of a decision until this happened," said Koo. He said that no matter how many denials were made concerning non-recognition, "this latest action has been of great assistance to the Communist Chinese in Asia while undermining and confusing the forces of freedom in that part of the world."

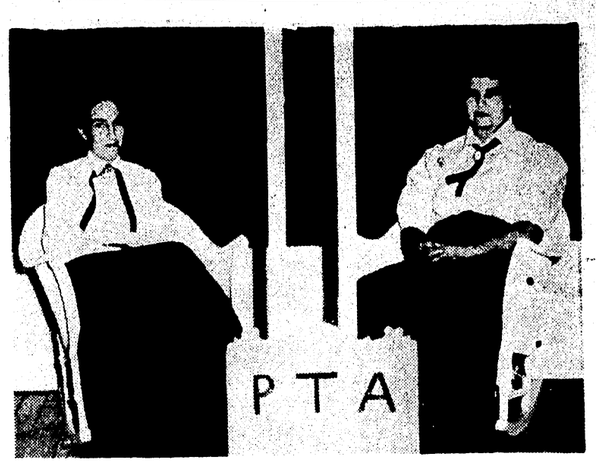

Dr. Koo's statement was followed by a similar statement from the Chinese government on Formosa issued to the world by Dr. H. E. George Weh. Weh said that the government of China "views with concern the discussion of the four foreign ministers in Berlin on far eastern problems which is reported to have led to an agreement on a proposed conference to be held in Geneva in April with a view to reaching a settlement on the far eastern question. It assumes a different meaning inasmuch as the governments of the four powers participating in the Berlin conference have now become the sponsoring and inviting governments without reference to the United Nations. The Chinese government considers the proposed conference as not only setting a dangerous precedent, but as constituting a negation of the principles of the United Nations charter.

"The Chinese Communists, having given ample proof of what they are to have them as participants at the conference in Geneva, will not improve the chances of peace in Korea and the far east. Nor will a change in the form of the conference from a bilaterial to a multilateral one do so. The Chinese government and people cannot recognize the validity of any decision affecting their interest which may be reached at such a conference."

The interview granted by Dr. Koo was in an exclusive press conference on the far eastern question and related aspects to the Monroe Morning World and News-Star.

2 Suspects Held In Robbery Of Jennings Man

JENNINGS, La., Feb. 20—UP—A department store manager was held up and robbed of $1,273 by two unmasked men Friday, and Opelousas police said Saturday they have arrested two suspects.

Harry A. Singerman, manager of Weill's department store here, said the two men, both wearing khakis, entered the store early this morning, ordered suits of work clothes and asked him to cash a check.

Singerman said there was not enough money in the cash register, and he opened the store safe. One of the men, somewhat shorter than the other, pulled a gun, took the money, tied and gagged Singerman, and the two fled out the back door. There were no other people in the store at the time.

Ray L. Labry, assistant store manager, came in a few minutes later and unbound Singerman and the two reported the incident to police.

Opelousas police arrested two unidentified men later in the morning and Singerman has gone to Opelousas to check their identity.

Singerman said he had never seen the two men before. The money they got was all in small denominations, he added.

Minor Injuries For Six Persons In Accident Here

Six persons were injured slightly Saturday morning when two automobiles collided at the intersection of Jackson and Apple Streets, after which one bounced over and struck a third vehicle. All were taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium, but three were released after emergency treatment.

Injured were Mrs. Hazel Marie Davis, 38, 3917 Sherwood, Baton Rouge, who suffered cuts and bruises; her daughter, Carolyn Davis, 9, bruises about the jaw and cuts; Miss Mary McLaughlin, 23, 2406 Gordon Avenue, bruises about the head. Jerald Hancock, 2, 701 Orange Street, bruised face; James K. Hancock, 4, 701 Orange Street, bruises about the mouth. Mrs. Davis, her daughter, Carolyn, and Miss McLaughlin were kept in the hospital for further observation.

The three-car collision occurred when a 1953 Buick, driven by Mrs. Davis, ran the stop sign and collided with a northbound 1950 Ford coach, driven by Miss McLaughin. After the impact the Ford vehicle veered off and struck a 1951 Henry J, which was stopped on the other side of Apple Street. The Henry J, driven by L. H. Witherington, 53, 701 Orange Street, was knocked approximately 50 feet against the south curb.

The Buick, following the impact, went out of control and struck the southwest corner of a home owned by the J. M. Tunley estate. Damage to the building was estimated at approximately $100.

The injured were taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium by Mulhearn and Peters ambulances.

No charges had been filed late yesterday, police said.

Insurance Firm Appeals Ruling Of Commission

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—A State Farm Mutual executive said today his Illinois firm has appealed a decision which blocked the company from offering auto insurance in Louisiana 25 per cent below average rates.

William D. Sanders, state director for the firm claiming it sells more car insurance in the United States than any other company told of "hundreds of responses" to State Farm Mutual's newspaper ads this week.

The ads declared the insurance firm was ready to fight the recent ruling by the casualty and surety division of the Louisiana Insurance Rating Commission, if Louisiana motorists showed an interest in the lower rates.

"Hundreds of responses came back the next day," Sanders said. "And they're still coming in. It was a most gratifying response and removed any doubt whether we should appeal."

Under state law, the rating commission must hear the appeal within 30 days and render a decision within 30 days after the hearing.

Chairman Joe McMeel of the casualty and surety division contended to allow State Farm Mutual to offer the lower rates would stifle competition.

The appeal was filed with the rating commission. Secretary of State Wade O Martin Jr. is chairman.

Prowler Enters Black Cat Club

The Black Cat Club on North 8th street was entered by a prowler early Saturday, police said, but it was not known whether anything was taken.

According to officers, they received a call about 3:05 a.m. from Willie Mae and Finley Carey, who live behind the club, that they had seen someone inside the barroom. They said he apparently spotted the couple and left by a side window.

Officers were unable to locate the manager of the club, identified as Pete Johnson, to learn if anything had been taken.

Chinese Envoy Interviewed By World Reporter

By J. L. EWING, III
Monroe Morning World
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. — In an exclusive interview granted the Morning World, Ambassador V. K. Wellington Koo of the Republic of China made the following comments on the statement made by Secretary of State Dulles in reference to the Korean peace conference slated in late April and scheduled to include the representatives of Soviet China:

"The purpose of the communists is evident in their attempt to gain time and leave everything unsettled. The United States position in Asia was not helped by this position.

"There has been a total disregard of the United Nations in the matter and no longer is there bilateral action on the part of the Big Four powers. The Communists' military position in Indo-China requires time and the conference will undoubtedly give them that. In my opinion, the Communists have let the cat out of the bag, so to speak, in their demands, as there is clear knowledge that they have already violated the terms of the armistice in Korea and now they desire more time to complete their nefarious activities.

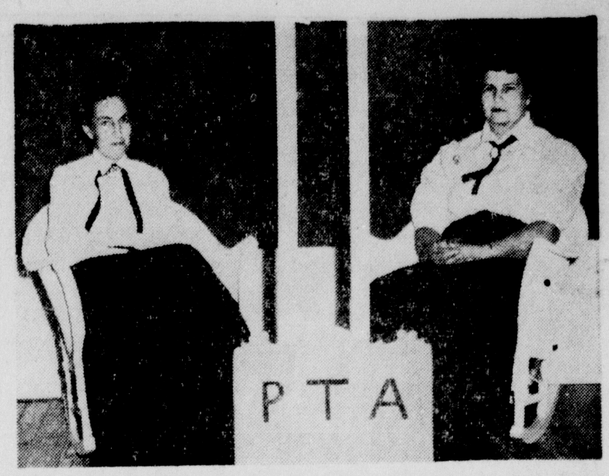

"No person can doubt the end result of the endless peace talks which never get anywhere unless the Communists desire this to happen."

Koo made clear the point that he would be pleasantly surprised if something good did come out. The Chinese diplomat hammered home the idea that in the latest maneuver, the United States had been "put under severe pressure from both the British and French and the Russians to include the Soviet Chinese into the meeting. It appeared for awhile as though the United States might have forced them to some kind of a decision until this happened," said Koo. He said that no matter how many denials were made concerning nonrecognition, "this latest action has been of great assistance to the Communist Chinese in Asia while undermining and confusing the forces of freedom in that part of the world."

Dr. Koo's statement was followed by a similar statement from the Chinese government on Formosa issued to the world by Dr. H. E. George Weh. Weh said that the government of China "views with concern the discussion of the four foreign ministers in Berlin on far eastern problems which is reported to have led to an agreement on a proposed conference to be held in Geneva in April with a view to reaching a settlement on the far eastern question. It assumes a different meaning inasmuch as the governments of the four powers participating in the Berlin conference have now become the sponsoring and inviting governments without reference to the United Nations. The Chinese government considers the proposed conference as not only setting a dangerous precedent, but as constituting a negation of the principles of the United Nations charter.

"The Chinese Communists, having given ample proof of what they are to have them as participants at the conference in Geneva, will not improve the chances of peace in Korea and the far east. Nor will a change in the form of the conference from a bilaterial to a multilateral one do so. The Chinese government and people cannot recognize the validity of any decision affecting their interest which may be reached at such a conference."

The interview granted by Dr. Koo was in an exclusive press conference on the far eastern question and related aspects to the Monroe Morning World and News-Star.

2 Suspects Held In Robbery Of Jennings Man

JENNINGS, La., Feb. 20—(UP)—A department store manager was held up and robbed of $1,273 by two unmasked men Friday, and Opelousas police said Saturday they have arrested two suspects.

Harry A. Singerman, manager of Weill's department store here, said the two men, both wearing khakis, entered the store early this morning, ordered suits of work clothes and asked him to cash a check.

Singerman said there was not enough money in the cash register, and he opened the store safe. One of the men, somewhat shorter than the other, pulled a gun, took the money, tied and gagged Singerman, and the two fled out the back door. There were no other people in the store at the time.

Ray L. Labry, assistant store manager, came in a few minutes later and unbound Singerman and the two reported the incident to police.

Opelousas police arrested two unidentified men later in the morning and Singerman has gone to Opelousas to check their identity.

Singerman said he had never seen the two men before. The money they got was all in small denominations, he added.

Mitchell To Aid In Screening Bids For Heart Funds

Undergraduate college work in cardiovascular research is being promoted by the Louisiana Heart Association, an affiliate of the National Heart Association.

Pat Mitchell Northeast State science instructor, is a member of the five-man committee who will review requests from colleges in the state to receive financial grants now available to carry out research projects.

Plans of the state association call for only one project to be carried on at a time in a college. The research program may be approved for a school year or a summer term.

The committee headed now by Dr. John Arnold of Loyola University, New Orleans, will meet twice a year to study and approve applications for research. During the first week of April they will consider grants for the fall. In the first week of November they will determine grants for the spring.

All colleges in the state are eligible to request financial assistance from the Heart Association to do research, Mitchell said.

The committee hopes that the project will become so stimulating to undergraduate students that when they reach the graduate level they will desire to continue work in this field.

Projects to be carried on were discussed at an organization meeting in Alexandria, when Dr. H. S. Mayerson, head of the physiology department of Tulane University, served as moderator of the discussion. Dr. Mayerson is a member of the research and fellowship committee of the Louisiana Heart Association.

The original committee who chose the five members to study applications and approve grants for research represented eleven institutions. They include: Northwestern State, Southwestern, Tulane University, Northeast State, McNeese State, Southeastern, Louisiana College, Louisiana Tech, Centenary College, Louisiana State University and Loyola University. With the exception of Tulane, which had two committee members, all other schools represented had one member.

Seek Bond Issue For N. O. Airport

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20—UP—Louis J. Roussel, president of the Orleans levee board, said Saturday application would be made to the state bond and tax board for approval of a proposed $8,000,000 bond issue to finance expansion of New Orleans airport.

The bond and tax board must approve plans of state political subdivisions to issue bonds.

Earlier in the week the levee board voted for the issue.

Several levee board members indicated Friday that they favor an open hearing on the proposed bond issue.

Wisdom Winner In Battle Over Postmastership

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 20—UP—Republican National Committeeman John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans won out in the battle of the postmastership in Alexandria and his appointee, J. N. (Jack) Lewis confirmed his appointment by President Eisenhower late Friday.

Lewis' appointment was to acting postmastership and he is to take over from acting postmaster James B. Toney, Sr., as soon as the office has been checked out with postal inspectors, which probably will be about the end of the month.

Local Republicans, who opposed Lewis because he was Pineville and not from Alexandria, had boosted instead Roscoe Douglas of Alexandria.

Toney had been acting postmaster under an appointment by former President Truman and will revert to his former status of superintendent of mails. He has been with the department 30 years, while Lewis, a lumber products dealer, has never been in postal service.

Color Photography Expert Meets With Delta Camera Club

Jack Leon, internationally recognized expert in color photography, met with the Delta Camera club of Northeast Louisiana Friday night and discussed the use of filters and speed lights in obtaining true color pictures. Following the discussion Leon demonstrated the various phases and uses of the filters.

Leon, whose color work has been written up in national photographic magazines, gave a constructive criticism of sample prints and slides submitted by club members and pointed out various ways in which the pictures could be improved.

The name, Delta Camera club, was selected by the members present as the title for the new organization. Meeting dates were set for the first Monday and third Friday of each month.

Approximately 15 new members attended the meeting Friday night, increasing the club's enrollment to 32 members. Equally interesting lectures and demonstrations are promised for subsequent meetings of the club.

Dust Storm Fails To Hamper Rash Of Lawbreaking

The inclement weather apparently did not hamper lawbreakers, who ran up a tally of three burglaries, one auto theft, and a check forgery Friday night, Chief of Detectives Hugh Tolbert said yesterday.

Tolbert said detectives yesterday arrested Leroy Bradley, 20, Negro, of Lucian Smith's place, who, the chief of detectives explained, admitted burglary of the Black Cat Saloon, 420 Eight Street. The theft was reported yesterday.

Bradley has been transferred to the parish jail, and will face charges in district court.

A 1950 Oldsmobile 88, belonging to Mrs. Donald H. Rohr, 106 Mulberry Street, was stolen from in front of the owner's home Friday night. The missing vehicle bears 1954 Louisiana license plates number 220-772.

Tolbert said that about 4 a.m. Saturday two men riding in black Oldsmobile fitting the description of the stolen vehicle entered a Vidalia service station and "passed a hot check" for $25. A state-wide pickup order had been broadcasted for the two men. The name Frank J. Curran was used when passing the check.

J. O. Morel, manager of the Butler Shoe Store, 201 DeSiard Street, reported that someone had entered that business establishment Friday night and stolen approximately $100 in cash from the cash register, and a Victor adding machine.

Richard Frost, 810 Alabama Street, reported the theft of a chest of mechanic's tools from his car between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday, Tolbert related. The car was parked in front of his house when the theft occurred.

The Chief of Detectives also reported the recovery of a boys' tent stolen from the yard of Mrs. George Harold, 3810 Gerald Street. The tent was found Friday in the possession of juveniles, and returned to the owner.

Two Mississippi Men Accused Of $400,000 Fraud

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bonds of $5,000 each were posted yesterday by two men accused of using the mails to swindle Midsouth residents out of $400,000.

William F. Snakard, 41, of Wellston, Okla., and Dr. V. J. Devine, 44-year-old osteopath of Kansas City, pleaded innocent at their arraignment. Trial was set for April 27.

Indictments said the men claimed they owned oil and gas leases on 2,400 acres near Brownwood, Texas, and a plant at Salem, Ill., for extracting raw gasoline, butane and propane from natural gas.

The investors funds were to be used to move the plant to the site of the leases where "fabulous profits" could be made, the indictment charged.

Man Sought For Three Attempts Upon Women

DALLAS, Feb. 20 —UP—Police Saturday sought a 30-year-old white man, who attempted to rape three East Dallas women within a half-hour.

All three women described the attacker as a heavy-set man, and two said he had formerly represented himself to them as a representative of a Dallas model agency.

Two of the women are roommates and the third lives about a block away. The two roommates spent an hour of terror fighting the rapist who had a butcher knife, before one broke loose and ran for help. The other attack occurred in the bedroom of the third woman. However, her roommate, sleeping in an adjoining room, heard the commotion and screamed until neighbors arrived.

Lag Seen In Heart Fund Here

The Heart Fund total, as of last night, is $1,100 according to chairman of the drive, Joe Saragusa.

Teams from the Lionettes pep squad and the Ouachita Parish chapter of DeMolay solicited DeSiard Street yesterday and brought in a total of $239.50.

"Inividual and business donations are lagging sadly behind," Saragusa said, "because of lack of teams soliciting prospective donors."

"Let me stress," he stated, "that persons interested in giving should not wait the approach of a solicitor for the heart drive, and it might be kept in mind that considering our modest goal—$5,000—a little goes a long way."

Saragusa said "there is a real need for business, labor and professional people to come through with funds to support the vital research financed by the Heart Fund."

Speaking of the prevalance of heart disease, the heart chairman said "There is an alarming number of deaths in Ouachita Parish caused by this relentless killer during the past year."

The drive ends officially February 28 but donations still be accepted after the deadline.

Checks should be mailed to: The Heart Fund, Monroe, La.

Mitchell To Aid In Screening Bids For Heart Funds

Undergraduate college work in cardiovascular research is being promoted by the Louisiana Heart Association, an affiliate of the National Heart Association.

Pat Mitchell, Northeast State science instructor, is a member of the five-man committee who will review requests from colleges in the state to receive financial grants now available to carry out research projects.

Plans of the state association call for only one project to be carried on at a time in a college. The research program may be approved for a school year or a summer term.

The committee, headed now by Dr. John Arnold of Loyola University, New Orleans, will meet twice a year to study and approve applications for research. During the first week of April they will consider grants for the fall. In the first week of November they will determine grants for the spring.

All colleges in the state are eligible to request financial assistance from the Heart Association to do research, Mitchell said.

The committee hopes that the project will become so stimulating to undergraduate students that when they reach the graduate level they will desire to continue work in this field.

Projects to be carried on were discussed at an organization meeting in Alexandria, where Dr. H. S. Mayerson, head of the physiology department of Tulane University, served as moderator of the discussion. Dr. Mayerson is a member of the research and fellowship committee of the Louisiana Heart Association.

The original committee who chose the five members to study applications and approve grants for research represented eleven institutions. They include: Northwestern State, Southwestern, Tulane University, Northeast State, McNeese State, Southeastern, Louisiana College, Louisiana Tech, Centenary College, Louisiana State University and Loyola University. With the exception of Tulane, which had two committee members, all other schools represented had one member.

Seek Bond Issue For N. O. Airport

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20—UP—Louis J. Roussel, president of the Orleans levee board, said Saturday application would be made to the state bond and tax board for approval of a proposed $8,000,000 bond issue to finance expansion of New Orleans airport.

The bond and tax board must approve plans of state political subdivisions to issue bonds.

Earlier in the week the levee board voted for the issue.

Several levee board members indicated Friday that they favor an open hearing on the proposed bond issue.

Wisdom Winner In Battle Over Postmastership

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 20—UP—Republican National Committeeman John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans won out in the battle of the postmastership in Alexandria and his appointee, J. N. (Jack) Lewis confirmed his appointment by President Eisenhower late Friday.

Lewis' appointment was to acting postmastership and he is to take over from acting postmaster James B. Toney, Sr., as soon as the office has been checked out with postal inspectors, which probably will be about the end of the month.

Local Republicans, who opposed Lewis because he was Pineville and not from Alexandria, had boosted instead Roscoe Douglas of Alexandria.

Toney had been acting postmaster under an appointment by former President Truman and will revert to his former status of superintendent of mails. He has been with the department 30 years, while Lewis, a lumber products dealer, has never been in postal service.

Color Photography Expert Meets With Delta Camera Club

Jack Leon, internationally recognized expert in color photography, met with the Delta Camera club of Northeast Louisiana Friday night and discussed the use of filters and speed lights in obtaining true color pictures. Following the discussion Leon demonstrated the various phases and uses of the filters.

Leon, whose color work has been written up in national photographic magazines, gave a constructive criticism of sample prints and slides submitted by club members and pointed out various ways in which the pictures could be improved.

The name, Delta Camera club, was selected by the members present as the title for the new organization. Meeting dates were set for the first Monday and third Friday of each month.

Approximately 15 new members attended the meeting Friday night, increasing the club's enrollment to 32 members. Equally interesting lectures and demonstrations are promised for subsequent meetings of the club.

Dust Storm Fails To Hamper Rash Of Lawbreaking

The inclement weather apparently did not hamper lawbreakers, who ran up a tally of three burglaries, one auto theft, and a check forgery Friday night, Chief of Detectives Hugh Tolbert said yesterday.

Tolbert said detectives yesterday arrested Leroy Bradley, 20, Negro, of Lucian Smith's place, who, the chief of detectives explained, admitted burglary of the Black Cat Saloon, 420 Eight Street. The theft was reported yesterday.

Bradley has been transferred to the parish jail, and will face charges in district court.

A 1950 Oldsmobile 88, belonging to Mrs. Donald H. Rohr, 106 Mulberry Street, was stolen from in front of the owner's home Friday night. The missing vehicle bears 1954 Louisiana license plates number 220-772.

Tolbert said that about 4 a.m. Saturday two men riding in black Oldsmobile fitting the description of the stolen vehicle entered a Vidalia service station and "passed a hot check" for $25. A state-wide pickup order had been broadcasted for the two men. The name Frank J. Curran was used when passing the check.

J. O. Morel, manager of the Butler Shoe Store, 201 DeSiard Street, reported that someone had entered that business establishment Friday night and stolen approximately $100 in cash from the cash register, and a Victor adding machine.

Richard Frost, 810 Alabama Street, reported the theft of a chest of mechanic's tools from his car between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday, Tolbert related. The car was parked in front of his house when the theft occurred.

The Chief of Detectives also reported the recovery of a boys' tent stolen from the yard of Mrs. George Harold, 3810 Gerald Street. The tent was found Friday in the possession of juveniles, and returned to the owner.

Two Mississippi Men Accused Of $400,000 Fraud

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bonds of $5,000 each were posted yesterday by two men accused of using the mails to swindle Midsouth residents out of $400,000.

William F. Snakard, 41, of Wellston, Okla., and Dr. V. J. Devine, 44-year-old osteopath of Kansas City, pleaded innocent at their arraignment. Trial was set for April 27.

Indictments said the men claimed they owned oil and gas leases on 2,400 acres near Brownwood, Texas, and a plant at Salem, Ill., for extracting raw gasoline, butane and propane from natural gas.

The investors funds were to be used to move the plant to the site of the leases where "fabulous profits" could be made, the indictment charged.

Man Sought For Three Attempts Upon Women

DALLAS, Feb. 20 —UP—Police Saturday sought a 30-year-old white man, who attempted to rape three East Dallas women within a half-hour.

All three women described the attacker as a heavy-set man, and two said he had formerly represented himself to them as a representative of a Dallas model agency.

Two of the women are roommates and the third lives about a block away. The two roommates spent an hour of terror fighting the rapist who had a butcher knife, before one broke loose and ran for help. The other attack occurred in the bedroom of the third woman. However, her roommate, sleeping in an adjoining room, heard the commotion and screamed until neighbors arrived.

Local Plumber Hits Big Money On Video Show

Turner, the plumber is $600 richer today in New York City after he and a partner won $1,200 on the Herb Shriner show "Two for the Money," last night.

N. A. Turner, from Sterlington, La., who operates his business in Monroe as Turner the Plumber, said representatives of the show called him Friday night to confirm his appearance on the TV show.

Turner said he wrote to the "Two for the Money" show about three weeks ago, requesting to appear on the program, and received a reply almost immediately.

The first reply, he said, was in the form of a telegram.

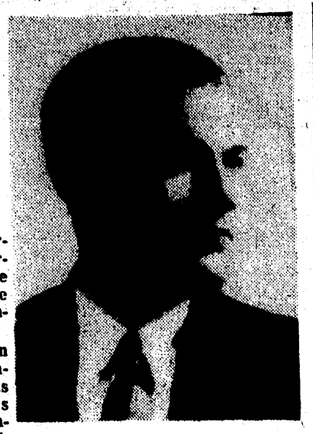

"The telegram asked me to call New York on a certain date and a certain time," he stated. "I did and they told me to send them a picture and some of my personal history."

"After I did that, they called me back again Friday night to tell me I could be on the show," he continued.

Turner said the show representatives talked to him over the long distance telephone "about 30 minutes" about his experiences as a plumber, apparently to get some idea of material for show use.

"They even asked me if I ever helped to get a fat lady unstuck from a bathtub," he said. "But I hadn't."

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Try-outs for "Craig's Wife" have been held over for still another time. Director Thom Feuerstien will hear readings for the play again this afternoon at the Selman Field Playhouse.

All those who have attended previous readings and all interested newcomers are cordially invited to visit the Little Playhouse this Sunday afternoon, 1:30 p.m. The play has been partially cast but there are still available roles for both men and women. The cast requires six women and four men.

Next Tuesday evening will be the first scheduled meeting of the public speaking class to be held at the Playhouse. The class will meet each Tuesday from 6 until 8 p.m. for the sixteen or more sessions that complete the course, which is designed to improve diction and poise and to prepare the individual to meet and face an audience effectively. Eight people have registered for the class. Six or eight more people would bring the group to about the right number which director Feuerstein had in mind when he planned the program of study and speaking.

RANDOM NOTES . . . One of Little Theatre s favorite leading ladies, Roberta Guion will give readings this afternoon for a meeting of the A. A. U. W. in the home of President and Mrs. Lewis Slater, 3:30 until 4:30 p.m. All interested friends are cordially invited . . . Word comes from New York that Polly Cole is quite busy these days as a TV actress. One of the week day shows in which she appears is "Brighter Day" . . . The enthusiasm of any Jaycee these days is directed toward their forthcoming production "Trippin' Around" which will be sparkling show fare at Neville Auditorium next Thursday and Friday evenings. Next Tuesday they will herald their show with a gigantic parade in downtown Monroe and West Monroe at 4 p.m. Ouachita and Neville bands will participate and besides a marching unit of the National Guards, local merchants will enter floats in the parade. They have also scheduled a special "Kiddies Section" and prizes will be given for the best decorated boys' and girls' bicycle, the best boys' and girls' costume, the best dressed pet and the best decoratid girl's doll buggy . . . But speaking of Jaycee enthusiasm, and we all know how enthusiastic that group can be when they undertake something, we nominate Slade Brown for the most enthusiastic. He has defied anyone to sell more tickets to "Trippin' Around" than he does. If someone can beat him he has declared that he will buy the steak and personally cook and serve it to the winner. Sounds wonderful doesn't it? And that's not all. Jack Howard is going to give the guy who sells the most tickets an electric razor. I have an idea there are going to be a lot of Monroyans to invade Neville's door next Thursday and Friday evening.

History Given Of Engineering At La. Tech

RUSTON, Feb. 20. (Special) — In connection with National Engineers' Week, to be observed from Feb. 21-27, a sketch of the history of Louisiana Tech's School of Engineering was prepared. It is as follows:

"The school of engineering had its beginning in September, 1895, in a frame building as the department of mechanic arts of the Louisiana Industrial Institute.

"In February, 1910, Frank Bogard was employed as head of the mechanic arts department and it was at that time a movement was begun to change the curriculum offered in mechanic arts to a curriculum qualifying its graduates to receive the bachelor of industry degree in general engineering.

"Beginning with the 1928 college year, two courses were offered leading to the bachelor of science degree in mechanical and electrical engineering and to the bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

"It was through Dean Frank Bogard's ability as an organizer and through his vision that the idea was planted and the hope nurtured that finally grew into the present School of Engineering. At present, the bachelor of science degree is offered in chemical engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, and in petroleum engineering.

"At present the departments of civil, electrical, mechanical, and petroleum engineering are accredited by the Engineers Council for Professional Development. The department of chemical engineering is being prepared for inspection for accreditation."

Former Official Of Glass Company Named In Suit

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 20 (AP) — Knox Glass Bottle Co. of Mississippi today filed suit against its former general manager charging he diverted one million dollars from the firm in a scheme to gain control of the firm.

The suit charges that C. R. Underwood "influenced and coerced suppliers to lend" him large sums of money to buy more stock in the company.

The company, a subsidiary of Knox Glass Corp of Knox, Pa., charges that members of Underwood's family sometimes pledged stock as collateral for loans, but retained voting rights on the encumbered stock.

The bill of complaint charges that Underwood was suspended as general manager last December after certain stockholders "received information concerning irregularities and wrongful activities on the part" of Underwood and other defendants.

Listed as defendants with Underwood were members of his family and officers in a trucking company in which the Underwoods held an interest.

The glass company asks the chancery court to seek a complete accounting between the parties and to give the company a decree for any damages found to be due it.

Pope's Condition Is Little Changed

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 20 (AP)—The condition of an aging and enfeebled Pope Piux XII appeared today to have reached a plateau after nearly four weeks of illness.

For the past 12 days no great change has been reported, either for better or worse.

Brief announcements from the Vatican have emphasized that the 77-year-old pontiff slowly, very slowly, is getting better from his still unexplained stomach ailment. Each has emphasized that it will be a long time before he can return to fullscale activity.

There is less immediate concern but chronic worries persist for the Pope's health.

Today's Vatican press office statement said the Pope's "gradual, slow recovery continues normally." It was issued apparently to answer rumors that he had taken a turn for the worse.

Citizens Urged To Become Active In Government

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20 (AP) — Robert W. French, vice president of Tulane University, said today one of the nation's biggest problems was getting citizens and businessmen to participate in local, state and national governments.

French told the Southern regional conference of the Controllers Institute of America such participation "must be as simple, direct and clear-cut as possible."

He said citizens must be aware of what the government is doing and can do as a "safeguard against misrule and dictatorship." He said many persons were "ignorant" and "apathetic" about their relations to government.

"The problems of government have grown so large and so complex today that they can no longer be handled in the traditional democratic manner," he said. "The present situation has developed because we have tried to go about our business and our politics as usual."

He urged people to organize to "get the facts on governmental problems," and cited the expanding complexities of modern government as the reason. He said such citizen-supported research agencies existed in many states and larger cities.

L. A. Wynhoff, of Price Waterhouse & Co., Houston, Texas, told the morning session that executives who became buried in details usually were "the victims of an inadequate system of control."

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Try-outs for "Craig's Wife" have been held over for still another time. Director Thom Feuerstien will hear readings for the play again this afternoon at the Selman Field Playhouse.

All those who have attended previous readings and all interested newcomers are cordially invited to visit the Little Playhouse this Sunday afternoon, 1:30 p.m. The play has been partially cast but there are still available roles for both men and women. The cast requires six women and four men.

Next Tuesday evening will be the first scheduled meeting of the public speaking class to be held at the Playhouse. The class will meet each Tuesday from 6 until 8 p.m. for the sixteen or more sessions that complete the course, which is designed to improve diction and poise and to prepare the individual to meet and face an audience effectively. Eight people have registered for the class. Six or eight more people would bring the group to about the right number which director Feuerstein had in mind when he planned the program of study and speaking.

RANDOM NOTES . . . One of Little Theatre's favorite leading ladies, Roberta Guion will give readings this afternoon for a meeting of the A. A. U. W. in the home of President and Mrs. Lewis Slater, 3:30 until 4:30 p.m. All interested friends are cordially invited . . . Word comes from New York that Polly Cole is quite busy these days as a TV actress. One of the week day shows in which she appears is "Brighter Day" . . . The enthusiasm of any Jaycee these days is directed toward their forthcoming production "Trippin' Around" which will be sparkling show fare at Neville Auditorium next Thursday and Friday evenings. Next Tuesday they will herald their show with a gigantic parade in downtown Monroe and West Monroe at 4 p.m. Ouachita and Neville bands will participate and besides a marching unit of the National Guards, local merchants will enter floats in the parade. They have also scheduled a special "Kiddies Section" and prizes will be given for the best decorated boys' and girls' bicycle, the best boys' and girls' costume, the best dressed pet and the best decoratd girl's doll buggy . . . But speaking of Jaycee enthusiasm, and we all know how enthusiastic that group can be when they undertake something, we nominate Slade Brown for the most enthusiastic. He has defied anyone to sell more tickets to "Trippin' Around" than he does. If someone can beat him he has declared that he will buy the steak and personally cook and serve it to the winner. Sounds wonderful doesn't it? And that's not all. Jack Howard is going to give the guy who sells the most tickets an electric razor. I have an idea there are going to be a lot of Monroyans to invade Neville's door next Thursday and Friday evening.

History Given Of Engineering At La. Tech

RUSTON, Feb. 20. (Special) — In connection with National Engineers' Week, to be observed from Feb. 21-27, a sketch of the history of Louisiana Tech's School of Engineering was prepared. It is as follows:

"The school of engineering had its beginning in September, 1895, in a frame building as the department of mechanic arts of the Louisiana Industrial Institute.

"In February, 1910, Frank Bogard was employed as head of the mechanic arts department and it was at that time a movement was begun to change the curriculum offered in mechanic arts to a curriculum qualifying its graduates to receive the bachelor of industry degree in general engineering.

"Beginning with the 1928 college year, two courses were offered leading to the bachelor of science degree in mechanical and electrical engineering and to the bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

"It was through Dean Frank Bogard's ability as an organizer and through his vision that the idea was planted and the hope nurtured that finally grew into the present School of Engineering. At present, the bachelor of science degree is offered in chemical engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, and in petroleum engineering.

"At present the departments of civil, electrical, mechanical, and petroleum engineering are accredited by the Engineers Council for Professional Development. The department of chemical engineering is being prepared for inspection for accreditation."

Former Official Of Glass Company Named In Suit

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 20 (AP) — Knox Glass Bottle Co. of Mississippi today filed suit against its former general manager charging he diverted one million dollars from the firm in a scheme to gain control of the firm.

The suit charges that C. R. Underwood "influenced and coerced suppliers to lend" him large sums of money to buy more stock in the company.

The company, a subsidiary of Knox Glass Corp. of Knox, Pa., charges that members of Underwood's family sometimes pledged stock as collateral for loans, but retained voting rights on the encumbered stock.

The bill of complaint charges that Underwood was suspended as general manager last December after certain stockholders "received information concerning irregularities and wrongful activities on the part" of Underwood and other defendants.

Listed as defendants with Underwood were members of his family and officers in a trucking company in which the Underwoods held an interest.

The glass company asks the chancery court to seek a complete accounting between the parties and to give the company a decree for any damages found to be due it.

Pope's Condition Is Little Changed

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 20 (AP)—The condition of an aging and enfeebled Pope Piux XII appeared today to have reached a plateau after nearly four weeks of illness.

For the past 12 days no great change has been reported, either for better or worse.

Brief announcements from the Vatican have emphasized that the 77-year-old pontiff slowly, very slowly, is getting better from his still unexplained stomach ailment. Each has emphasized that it will be a long time before he can return to fullscale activity.

There is less immediate concern but chronic worries persist for the Pope's health.

Today's Vatican press office statement said the Pope's "gradual, slow recovery continues normally." It was issued apparently to answer rumors that he had taken a turn for the worse.

Citizens Urged To Become Active In Government

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20 (AP) — Robert W. French, vice president of Tulane University, said today one of the nation's biggest problems was getting citizens and businessmen to participate in local, state and national governments.

French told the Southern regional conference of the Controllers Institute of America such participation "must be as simple, direct and clear-cut as possible."

He said citizens must be aware of what the government is doing and can do as a "safeguard against misrule and dictatorship." He said many persons were "ignorant" and "apathetic" about their relations to government.

"The problems of government have grown so large and so complex today that they can no longer be handled in the traditional democratic manner," he said. "The present situation has developed because we have tried to go about our business and our politics as usual."

He urged people to organize to "get the facts on governmental problems," and cited the expanding complexities of modern government as the reason. He said such citizen-supported research agencies existed in many states and larger cities.

L. A. Wynhoff, of Price Waterhouse & Co., Houston, Texas, told the morning session that executives who became buried in details usually were "the victims of an inadequate system of control."

Little Change In Cotton Futures Prices In Week

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Cotton futures prices plodded a narrowly irregular course this week and closed out the period with small net changes. Prices at the finish on the New York Cotton Exchange ranged from 55 cents a bale lower to 55 cents nigher than the week before.

There were no major developments of sufficient importance to influence the market either way. Buying reflected domestic and foreign price fixing and some short covering, while profit-taking, hedge selling and March liquidation created selling pressure. The market was depressed by absence of mill demand for spot cotton.

The latest government report on January cotton consumption—678,000 bales in the four-week period from Jan. 3 through Jan. 30—was considerably lower than trade sources had expected. Only two days earlier the New York Cotton Exchange had estimated January use at about 730,000 bales—7 per cent higher than the government figure.

January consumption compared with a total domestic use of 758,000 bales in the previous five-week period and with 903,000 bales in the period from Dec. 28 to Jan. 31 a year ago. Consumption for the first half of the current season, it was noted, stands at 4,421,000 bales as compared to 4,748,000 the year before.

New York Cotton Exchange officials pointed out that while the January total was somewhat below expectations, consumption as measured on a daily rate basis showed a bigger increase over the previous month than the average increase for recent past years.

Wiley Hits Out At All Backers Of Bricker Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 — In a heated speech on the senate floor yesterday afternoon, Senator Wiley (Republican-Wisconsin) denounced the Bricker proposal and all its supporters.

Wiley said that the constitution has survived all these years and there is no reason to change it. Wiley asserted that Bricker should include in his proposal the idea that any treaty repugnant to the constitution could be considered null and void.

He stated that he could not conceive of any Bricker supporter maligning the president but that such was, indeed the case.

Senator Russell Long of Louisiana, who now can be numbered among the Bricker supporters, attempted to get a word in edgewise but his efforts were in vain as the Wisconsin senator refused to yield asserting that he was tired physically and wanted to finish his speech.

"Thank God', the senator continued, "things are not entirely trusted to the senate as one could see what would have happened in the past."

Senator Bricker's office had no comment on the speech and the Senator is awaiting the crucial Tuesday vote on his proposal.

Senator McCarthy was in Albany, New York investigating subversion in the Mammouth General Electric plant in that city. His office reports that the senator uncovered "quite a number of fifth amendment cases" in the plant.

One has been engaged in constructing the atomic engine for the new submarine powered by nuclear fission.

"Isn't it a fine thing to contemplate Russian spies sending all that type information to Moscow as soon as the plans are finished", the senator stated. Commenting on the Bricker proposal and Wiley's speech, McCarthy's office was not optimistic on Senator Wiley's chances of reelection in the next Senate race in Wisconsin.

McCarthy is a backer of the Bricker proposal and will return to the capitol on Monday in time for the Tuesday vote. "Bricker needs every vote he can get," stated McCarthy. It is quite apparent that the senator was underestimating the case as official Washington seems to feel the Bricker proposal nearly a lost cause. There are hopes that the recent Manion case has swung numerous supporters from the Eisenhower bannerland that there may be enough votes to pass some measure of protection for the constitution.

800 Laid Off In Ordnance Plant

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—Layoff of about 800 employes of the Louisiana Ordnance Plant was announced today by James A. Ward, general manager of Remington-Rand, operators of the government - owned installation near here.

The production cutback was due to the end of war in Korea, Ward said.

Stocks Decline During Week To End Long Rally

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP) — The stock market broke its winning stride this week and declined for the first time in 1954.

For the first six weeks of the new year, the stock market advanced sharply in an almost straight line.

This week it suffered its sharpest setback of the year on Tuesday, and it never fully recovered from that shaking.

The turn down hasn't scared anyone in Wall Street. The market seldom maintains a sustained advance for as long as six weeks without a reaction. It is natural. It is expected. And so it happened.

Can this current decline continue? The answer is "yes." Brokers say it wouldn't be surprising to see the market go down from one-third to two-thirds of the previous advance before it gathers in enough buying support to try for another rise.

But note this—the market doesn't have to go down. Many brokers believe that the market could hold its reaction to minor dips while marking time for another try at a new high.

The going is bound to be difficult. Early in January of last year the market touched a new high since mid-1930, as measured by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks. It declined from that point to a low for the year in mid-September and then started to march ahead steadily.

When the market again got back up to the neighborhood of its old 1953 high last week, it hesitated. This week it turned down. A second try to break through to a new high always is more difficult. Wall Street is waiting for the try.

The market didn't display any weakness this week. The over-riding characteristic seemed to be one of indifference.

An old Wall Street saying seemed to apply quite well—it was a market of stocks rather than a stock market.

U. S. government bonds smashed through previous 1953-54 peaks this week in the bond market.

Little Change In Cotton Futures Prices In Week

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Cotton futures prices plodded a narrowly irregular course this week and closed out the period with small net changes. Prices at the finish on the New York Cotton Exchange ranged from 55 cents a bale lower to 55 cents nigher than the week before.

There were no major developments of sufficient importance to influence the market either way. Buying reflected domestic and foreign price fixing and some short covering, while profit-taking, hedge selling and March liquidation created selling pressure. The market was depressed by absence of mill demand for spot cotton.

The latest government report on January cotton consumption—678,000 bales in the four-week period from Jan. 3 through Jan. 30—was considerably lower than trade sources had expected. Only two days earlier the New York Cotton Exchange had estimated January use at about 730,000 bales—7 per cent higher than the government figure.

January consumption compared with a total domestic use of 758,000 bales in the previous five-week period and with 903,000 bales in the period from Dec. 28 to Jan. 31 a year ago. Consumption for the first half of the current season, it was noted, stands at 4,421,000 bales as compared to 4,748,000 the year before.

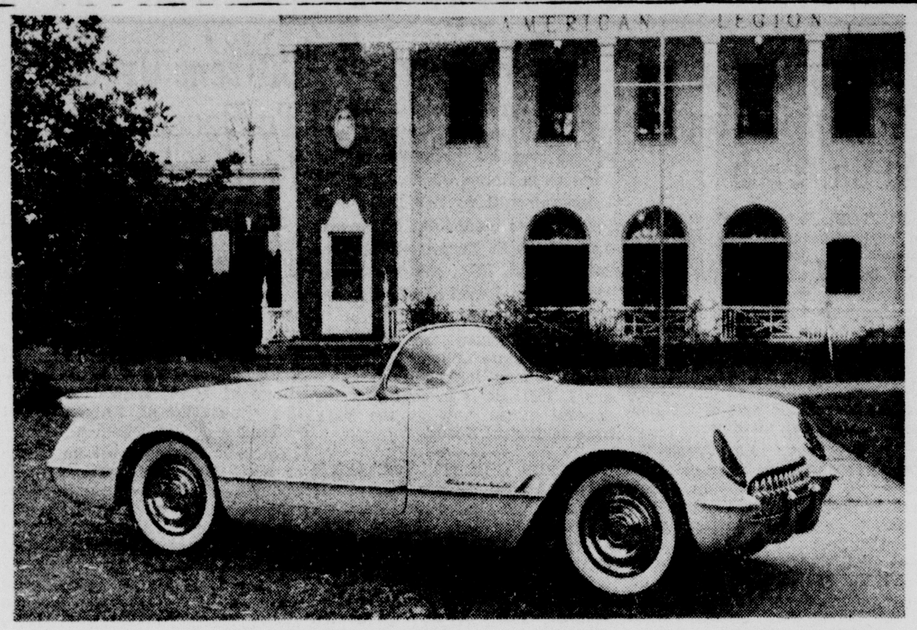

New York Cotton Exchange officials pointed out that while the January total was somewhat below expectations, consumption as measured on a daily rate basis showed a bigger increase over the previous month than the average increase for recent past years.

Wiley Hits Out At All Backers Of Bricker Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 — In a heated speech on the senate floor yesterday afternoon, Senator Wiley (Republican-Wisconsin) denounced the Bricker proposal and all its supporters.

Wiley said that the constitution has survived all these years and there is no reason to change it. Wiley asserted that Bricker should include in his proposal the idea that any treaty repugnant to the constitution could be considered null and void.

He stated that he could not conceive of any Bricker supporter maligning the president but that such was, indeed the case.

Senator Russell Long of Louisiana, who now can be numbered among the Bricker supporters, attempted to get a word in edgewise but his efforts were in vain as the Wisconsin senator refused to yield asserting that he was tired physically and wanted to finish his speech.

"Thank God', the senator continued, "things are not entirely trusted to the senate as one could see what would have happened in the past."

Senator Bricker's office had no comment on the speech and the Senator is awaiting the crucial Tuesday vote on his proposal.

Senator McCarthy was in Albany, New York investigating subversion in the Mammouth General Electric plant in that city. His office reports that the senator uncovered "quite a number of fifth amendment cases" in the plant.

One has been engaged in constructing the atomic engine for the new submarine powered by nuclear fission.

"Isn't it a fine thing to contemplate Russian spies sending all that type information to Moscow as soon as the plans are finished", the senator stated. Commenting on the Bricker proposal and Wiley's speech, McCarthy's office was not optimistic on Senator Wiley's chances of reelection in the next Senate race in Wisconsin.

McCarthy is a backer of the Bricker proposal and will return to the capitol on Monday in time for the Tuesday vote. "Bricker needs every vote he can get," stated McCarthy. It is quite apparent that the senator was underestimating the case as official Washington seems to feel the Bricker proposal nearly a lost cause. There are hopes that the recent Manion case has swung numerous supporters from the Eisenhower bannerland that there may be enough votes to pass some measure of protection for the constitution.

The production cutback was due to the end of war in Korea, Ward said.

Stocks Decline During Week To End Long Rally

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP) — The stock market broke its winning stride this week and declined for the first time in 1954.

For the first six weeks of the new year, the stock market advanced sharply in an almost straight line.

This week it suffered its sharpest setback of the year on Tuesday, and it never fully recovered from that shaking.

The turn down hasn't scared anyone in Wall Street. The market seldom maintains a sustained advance for as long as six weeks without a reaction. It is natural. It is expected. And so it happened.

Can this current decline continue? The answer is "yes." Brokers say it wouldn't be surprising to see the market go down from one-third to two-thirds of the previous advance before it gathers in enough buying support to try for another rise.

But note this—the market doesn't have to go down. Many brokers believe that the market could hold its reaction to minor dips while marking time for another try at a new high.

The going is bound to be difficult. Early in January of last year the market touched a new high since mid-1930, as measured by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks. It declined from that point to a low for the year in mid-September and then started to march ahead steadily.

When the market again got back up to the neighborhood of its old 1953 high last week, it hesitated. This week it turned down. A second try to break through to a new high always is more difficult. Wall Street is waiting for the try.

The market didn't display any weakness this week. The over-riding characteristic seemed to be one of indifference.

An old Wall Street saying seemed to apply quite well—it was a market of stocks rather than a stock market.

U. S. government bonds smashed through previous 1953-54 peaks this week in the bond market.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The won and lost record is unimportant right now for the Northeast Louisiana State basketball team—it has lost a lot more than it has won (6-13)—but it is important that the Redskins are out to help Mel Gibson win the Gulf States Conference scoring championship.

The Indian hoop artist has just three games to do it in and the pressure is on. Roy Moore, McNeese State, is Gibson's chief rival. We don't have Moore's figures up to date, but he has played three games since Gibson, with 421 points, saw his last action eleven days ago. McNeese has two games to go, against Northeast and Louisiana Tech. Northeast plays only three more, beginning with S. L. I. Tuesday night, McNeese Wednesday night, and Louisiana College here Friday night.

The cancellation of a game scheduled with Mississippi Southern last night could come close to being a decisive factor in Gibson's chances for the scoring crown. Mississippi Southern doubtless would have been heavily favored, but certainly Gibson would have picked up some points that could be mighty important by the time Northeast and McNeese conclude their schedule next week end.

Neville Cagers Take 1st, 2nd At Ruston

Simsboro's Boys, Sextets Of Start, Ringgold Triumph

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20. (Special) — High school boys' basketball teams from Neville of Monroe and Simsboro claimed championships in the annual north Louisiana District Tournament here tonight, while Eros and Ogden quintets were on the floor at a late hour seeking to settle on another title. The girls' sections of the meet were completed with Start, Ringgold, and Homer claiming championship trophies.

Neville's quintet, victorious in 39 out of 40 games this season, won the Class A division with a 38-32 finals triumph over Springhill after earlier disposing of Minden in a semi-final struggle, 60-52. Neville was behind all the way until the last few minutes against Minden and never led more than six points against Springhill, but the Tiger teamwork was effective. Springhill had nosed out Ruston in the semi-finals this morning, 43-40.

Neville missed a chance at a sweep of Class A honors when the Tiger girls fell before Homer, 37-22, in the finals contest, only "A" girls' game of the day.

The Class A section of the tournament that attracted 88 entries was an invitational affair, but the Class B and C sections carried with them official district titles and qualifications to the state championship tournaments.

The Simsboro boys distinguished themselves in grand style by stopping Calhoun, 44-39, in their Class B finals after Calhoun's Chiefs had eliminated high - geared Ringgold in a semi-final battle, 52-50. The lone loss against Neville's perfect record this year was suffered in a regularly scheduled game with Ringgold. Simsboro reached the finals by tripping Bernice, 49-42.

The Class B girls' crown went to Ringgold with a 38-29 victory over Athens, Ringgold tripped Spearsville on today's semi-final, 48-37, and Athens had reached the finals with a 34-15 win over Holly Ridge Friday.

Start's girls had to go into overtime before overcoming Bienville, 41-40, in a thrilling finish to the Class C girls' championhip race. Start sidetracked Central in the semi-finals, 46-35, after Bienville had climbed over Linville, 51-39.

The Eros and Ogden boys, battling it out for the boys' C crown had stopped Evergreen and Central in morning semi-finals. Eros beat Evergreen, 50-40, and Ogden topped Central, 54-47.

The Ringgold boys won third place in Class B by beating Bernice in a consolation, 57-30; Spearsville won on default from the Holly Ridge girls for third place distinction in the "B" class; and in the class C sections' consolations, the Evergreen boys nipped Central, 46-44, and the Linville girls beat Central, 50-45.

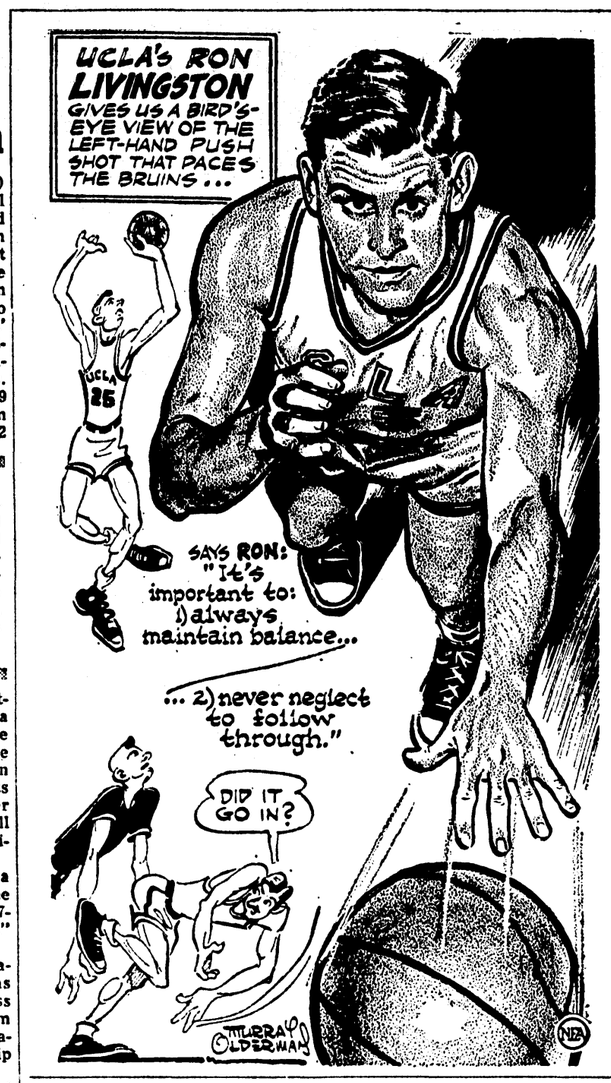

All - tournament teams, drawing talent from all classes, were selected as follows:

Girls — Blake of Ringgold, Sullivan of Start, Buckner of Athens, Ogden of Spearsville, Dickson of Central, and Hood of Bienville, forwards; Fuller and Trisler of Start, Mathew and Ford of Bienville, Prevett of Ringgold, and Kilpatrick of Calhoun, guards.

Boys — Crowe, Springhill; Bob James, Ruston; Morrow, Ringgold; White, Calhoun; Alexandria and Cole, Simsboro; Frickle, Neville; Moreland, Minden; Crowell, Eros; and Fain, Ogden.

EROS CROWNED

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20 (Special)—The Eros High School quintet wrapped up the annual North Louisiana Rally Association's district basketball tournament at Louisiana Tech here late tonight by defeating Ogden, 47 to 26, to take the boys' Class C championship.

8-Man Tag Wrestling Tuesday; Two Referees

For the first time in the history of Kallio's Arena, ten men will enter the ring Tuesday night to participate in the gala eight-man tag team feature event. Two of them, Gus Kallio and Loy Scarbrough, will officiate.

On the Curtis team will be Jack and George, Indian Chief Apache, and Bill Barney. Their opponents quartet is comprised of "Irish Jack" Kelly, Elmer Davis, Al Massey, and the big Mexican who hasn't been here for months, Charro Aztec.

Four ten-minute-time-limit preliminaries will serve as warmups for the main-eventers, with opposing team members in opposite corners.

Barney, despite his usual status as referee in the local ring, has waged good battles in his last two appearances with Johnny Silvers and Don Martin. He will have to be at his best Tuesday since all four opposing team members are ringwise veterans.

Huge Aztec, or "Az-teek-o" as Promoter Kallio calls him, hasn't fought here since the Johnny Henning days, when he and the young strongman had some crowd-pleasing battles.

The Curtis boys and Kelly need no introduction, since they are regular Tuesday night tooth-and-nail rivals at Kallio's; and the Indian Chief made a good impression here two weeks ago, aiding the Curtises in a six-man relay event.

Since Kelly, Aztec, Davis and Massey are all renowned villians, it may be assumed that their team will commit anything they can get away with; and with both "fair-and-square" Gus as well as conscientious Scarbrough refereeing, it will be interesting to note just how much they are able to pull.

Mr. Kallio states there will be no admission increase for the eight-grappler, five-match card.

Greenies Battle From Behind To Defeat Alabama

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20 (AP) — A one-hand push shot by guard Hal Cervini with less than 45 seconds to play brought Tulane a 54-50 win over favored Alabama in a tense Southeastern Conference basketball game tonight.

Tulane trailed 49-48 when Cervini hit from about 20 feet out. The goal thwarted a fourth period rally by Alabama.

Alabama, third in conference standings before tonight's game, had forged ahead before when guard Leon Marlaire sank a set shot from near the foul line.

Tulane added four more points in the remaining seconds on foul shots, two by Cervini and two by guard Roy Stoll.

Cervini led Tulane scoring with 15 points. Stoll had 14.

Forward George Linn, a 6-4 Alabama sophomore was the top scorer with 19 points.

Alabama led 18-16 at the end of the first quarter, but Tulane moved to a 27-24 halftime lead. Stoll hit a setshot at the end of the third period to give Tulane a 41-39 lead.

By TED HECKATHORN

For the second consecutive evening it was "Lion Night" at the Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium, as the home cagers swept another "AA" conference doubleheader last night, this time at Bossier City's expense.

The Ouachita boys beat the Bearkat five in a close thriller, 43-39; and the Lion girls had an easier time with the Bossier sextette in the 7 p.m. opener, leading handily all the way to win, 48-23.

Larry Barnes, the Lion mainstay was sizzling hot in the first period of the boys' fracas, with everything he tossed toward the net swishing through, excepting one. He emerged as high—point man as usual for the winners, with 28, of which 11 came in the first stanza, to pace his mates to a 16-12 end-of-period lead, which was the widest point spread from then on.

Bossier City, with Ed Walpole hitting constantly from long range, kept it close through the second and a layup just before the buzzer enabled them to leave the floor at intermission with a one-point lead, their first of the game.

Barnes, who accumulated four personals in the first half, handled the visitors very carefully all through the second, and stayed in the game all the way. But with the Ouachita inner defenses noticeably weakened, the Bearkats managed to work the ball in more frequently, and the lead changed hands three times. The Lions led by two points at quarter's end.

In the hectic and exciting final, it was a nip-and-tuck battle every minute of the way, with the fans screaming on every bounce of the ball. The lead changed no less than five times during the period, and the score was tied at 35-35, 37-37, and 39-39, before a Barnes goal made it 41-39 with less than three minutes to go. With Billy Smith and Doyle Holstead sinking last minute free throws after being fouled during the Lion deep-freeze, the two insurance points were added.

The Ouachita girls led 13-4 at the end of the first, 26-17 at halftime, and 39-18 at the end of the third to register their sixth "AA" win against two defeats.

Rhetha Norman, with overhand tosses and long-range hook shots, led the scorers, with 23. Betty Lee had 12, and Virginia Brunson, ten. Carolyn Pullig and Sue Walpole paced the losers, with eight apiece.

Joe Miceli Puts Knockout Punch On Smith In 5th

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20. (AP)—Joe Miceli, New York, 147, knocked out Wallace (Bud) Smith, Cincinnati 141, in one minute and 19 seconds of the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round boxing contest here tonight. A vicious left hook flush to the chin sent Smith, No. 1 challenger for the lightweight title, down for the full count.

The New York boxer ended the fight just when it appeared that he was in for a good lacing after winning three of the first four rounds by a slight margin.

Smith was unable to get away from Miceli's left hook consistently. Miceli had a slight edge in the first, third and fourth rounds because he made Smith miss while using his hook to advantage.

Smith, a left hooker himself made a vicious fight of it all the way and it was only in the fourth round that he showed to advantage.

Smith came out for the fifth round carrying the fight to his opponent as he had in the earlier rounds. He landed a half dozen solid left hooks and acouple of right crosses which sent Miceli into his shell.

Micell clinched and protected himself carefully but seemed tired. Suddenly he lunged forward with a tremendous left hook to the chin and Smith crashed to the canvas. He tried from the first count to get his legs under him and get up. But they were rubber.

He barely got to his haunches as referee Tony Warndorf counted him out. He was still badly dazed.

Pettit Smashes 2 Records As Tiger Five Tips Auburn

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 20 (AP)—Center Bob Pettit cracked two Southeastern Conference basketball scoring records tonight by dropping in 31 points in leading Louisiana State University to a 77-59 victory over Auburn.

The 6-9 All-America candidate thrilled the crowd of 7,000 by scoring on a variety of shots, but sticking mostly to his famed hook shot. His performance set a new season record by a conference player for all games by bringing his total to 594 points. The old mark was set last year by George Zippy Morocco.

Pettit also broke his own standard of 207 field goals in one season by bringing his output to 211.

The game was close only in the first quarter as LSU poured on the steam in the second quarter to take a 36-28 halftime advantage.

Center Bob Miller collected 21 points to lead Auburn. His total broke the Auburn scoring record for one season with his mark now standing at 354 points.

Owens Wins Stock Race That Claims Life Of Contender

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20. (AP)—The first death in Nascar's stock car races since they started here in 1936 came in today's 125-mile event, won by Everett (Cotton) Owens, Spartanburg, S. C., in record time despite a bulky field and multiple crashes.

Dick Kaufman, 23-year-old Korean veteran discharged from the army only two weeks ago, was killed on the north turn in the first lap of the race.

A mechanic at Harrisburg, Pa., Kaufman had raced before he went into the army.

His car skidded in the rough sand going into the turn. It rolled several times and flipped end over end. One official of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing said other cars hit Kaufman's, but other officials said they couldn't confirm this.

A hospital, where Kaufman was rushed, said he had died of head injuries.

Another four - car pileup on the road backstretch of the 4.1 mile course stopped the race in the third lap although none of the drivers was hurt. In a third accident Ned Garrett of Newton, N. C., rolled his car over on the beach stretch but his only injuries were cuts.

Owens, winning the race for the second straight year, drove his Plymouth powered by a Chrysler engine at an average of 93.87 miles an hour. He set the old record of 91.54 m.p.h. a year ago.

Fred Thompson, Birmingham, who qualified at a record 130 m.p.h. led for the first six laps but developed motor trouble and finished 27th in the field of 104.

Oldtime Oriole Mound Ace Dies, Won 177 Battles

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 20. (AP) —John J. (Sadie) McMahon, who pitched six years for the old Baltimore Orioles, died today after a lengthy illness. He was 86.

McMahon compiled a record 177 wins against 117 losses in his major league career and was a teammate of John McGraw, Willie Keeler and Hubbie Jennings.

A native of Wilmington, McMahon pitched for the Philadelphia Athletics of the old American Association in 1889 and 1890, winning 15 and losing 11 his first year and then soaring to a 30-19 record the next.

In 1891 his record was a phenomenal 35 wins and 24 losses. He was with the Orioles in 1894, 1895 and 1896 when they won three straight pennants and hurled several World Series wins although the official record book failed to carry a listing of these games.

He came to the end of his major league trail in 1897 with the Brooklyn Dodgers, compiling a 0-0 record in nine games.

McMahon was scheduled to attend the opening game of the new Baltimore Orioles to help welcome Baltimore back to the major leagues.

Texarkana Seeks Entry In Cotton States Baseball

TEXARKANA, Tex.-Ark., Feb. 20 (AP)—The chairman of a committee which is trying to keep organized baseball in this border city said tonight that a definite decision on fielding a team in the Cotton States League will be made tomorrow.

Horace Milan, who also is a scout for the Washington Senators, said his committee will meet with oilman J. C. Stroud tomorrow on plans for Texarkana and Longview, Tex., to enter the Class C League.

Both cities previously have been represented in the Class B Big State League.

Milan says Texarkana is ready to join the Cotton States, a six-team circuit, but must bring in another member to make up an eight-team league.

Stroud is considering sponsorship of a team at Longview, said Milan, and has indicated he will make a decision tomorrow.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 20. (AP) —Granite Flyn, a rank outsider who hadn't won a race in his last six starts, scored in the $3,000 inaugural purse as Oaklawn Park opened its 20th annual horse race meeting here today.

Jockey Edward Plesa took the five - year - old gelding to the front in the stretch to edge R. Fisher's Skin Junior by a nose in the five and a half furlong allowance feature. Third was Pollard and Harkins' Ever Bright, the 6-to-5 favorite.

The winner, who was clocked in 1:08.1 over a heavy track, paid $85.20, $28.00 and $8.60. Skin Junior returned $19.20 and $7.20, and Ever Bright paid $3.20.

Ever Bright, winner of last years Inaugural, took an early lead, but gave way to the rush of Granite Flyn inside the furlong marker. The victor, owned by Irene Denham and W. P. Walters, then staved off a challenge by Skin Junior, who shot through on the inside to press Granite Flyn.

Wagering totaled $415,471, a record for opening day. Last year's total was $399,712.

The 31-day meeting closes March 27 with the 18th running of the $10,000 Arkansas Derby.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The won and lost record is unimportant right now for the Northeast Louisiana State basketball team—it has lost a lot more than it has won (6-13)—but it is important that the Redskins are out to help Mel Gibson win the Gulf States Conference scoring championship.

The Indian hoop artist has just three games to do it in and the pressure is on. Roy Moore, McNeese State, is Gibson's chief rival. We don't have Moore's figures up to date, but he has played three games since Gibson, with 421 points, saw his last action eleven days ago. McNeese has two games to go, against Northeast and Louisiana Tech. Northeast plays only three more, beginning with S. L. I. Tuesday night, McNeese Wednesday night, and Louisiana College here Friday night.

The cancellation of a game scheduled with Mississippi Southern last night could come close to being a decisive factor in Gibson's chances for the scoring crown. Mississippi Southern doubtless would have been heavily favored, but certainly Gibson would have picked up some points that could be mighty important by the time Northeast and McNeese conclude their schedule next week end.

Neville Cagers Take 1st, 2nd At Ruston

Simsboro's Boys, Sextets Of Start, Ringgold Triumph

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20. (Special) — High school boys' basketball teams from Neville of Monroe and Simsboro claimed championships in the annual north Louisiana District Tournament here tonight, while Eros and Ogden quintets were on the floor at a late hour seeking to settle on another title. The girls' sections of the meet were completed with Start, Ringgold, and Homer claiming championship trophies.

Neville's quintet, victorious in 39 out of 40 games this season, won the Class A division with a 38-32 finals triumph over Springhill after earlier disposing of Minden in a semi-final struggle, 60-52. Neville was behind all the way until the last few minutes against Minden and never led more than six points against Springhill, but the Tiger teamwork was effective. Springhill had nosed out Ruston in the semi-finals this morning, 43-40.

Neville missed a chance at a sweep of Class A honors when the Tiger girls fell before Homer, 37-22, in the finals contest, only "A" girls' game of the day.

The Class A section of the tournament that attracted 88 entries was an invitational affair, but the Class B and C sections carried with them official district titles and qualifications to the state championship tournaments.

The Simsboro boys distinguished themselves in grand style by stopping Calhoun, 44-39, in their Class B finals after Calhoun's Chiefs had eliminated high - geared Ringgold in a semi-final battle, 52-50. The lone loss against Neville's perfect record this year was suffered in a regularly scheduled game with Ringgold. Simsboro reached the finals by tripping Bernice, 49-42.

The Class B girls' crown went to Ringgold with a 38-29 victory over Athens, Ringgold tripped Spearsville on today's semi-final, 48-37, and Athens had reached the finals with a 34-15 win over Holly Ridge Friday.

Start's girls had to go into overtime before overcoming Bienville, 41-40, in a thrilling finish to the Class C girls' championip race. Start sidetracked Central in the semi-finals, 46-35, after Bienville had climbed over Linville, 51-39.

The Eros and Ogden boys, battling it out for the boys' C crown had stopped Evergreen and Central in morning semi-finals. Eros beat Evergreen, 50-40, and Ogden topped Central, 54-47.

The Ringgold boys won third place in Class B by beating Bernice in a consolation, 57-30; Spearsville won on default from the Holly Ridge girls for third place distinction in the "B" class; and in the class C sections' consolations, the Evergreen boys nipped Central, 46-44, and the Linville girls beat Central, 50-45.

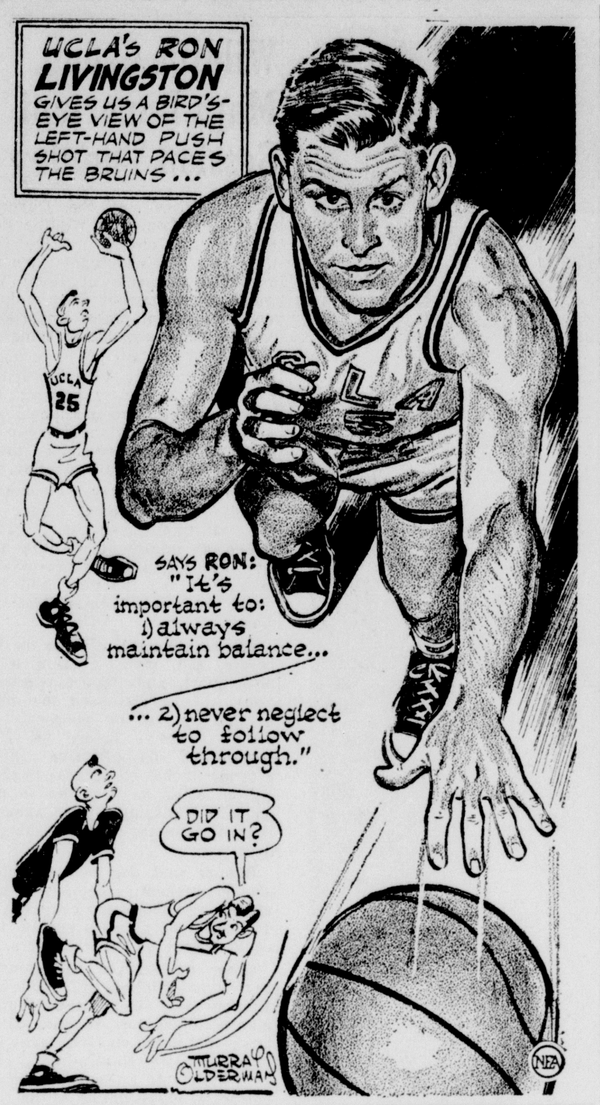

All - tournament teams, drawing talent from all classes, were selected as follows:

Girls — Blake of Ringgold, Sullivan of Start, Buckner of Athens, Ogden of Spearsville, Dickson of Central, and Hood of Bienville, forwards; Fuller and Trisler of Start, Mathew and Ford of Bienville, Prevett of Ringgold, and Kilpatrick of Calhoun, guards.

Boys — Crowe, Springhill; Bob James, Ruston; Morrow, Ringgold; White, Calhoun; Alexandria and Cole, Simsboro; Frickie, Neville; Moreland, Minden; Crowell, Eros; and Fain, Ogden.

EROS CROWNED

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20 (Special)—The Eros High School quintet wrapped up the annual North Louisiana Rally Association's district basketball tournament at Louisiana Tech here late tonight by defeating Ogden, 47 to 26, to take the boys' Class C championship.

8-Man Tag Wrestling Tuesday; Two Referees

For the first time in the history of Kallio's Arena, ten men will enter the ring Tuesday night to participate in the gala eight-man tag team feature event. Two of them, Gus Kallio and Loy Scarbrough, will officiate.

On the Curtis team will be Jack and George, Indian Chief Apache, and Bill Barney. Their opponents quartet is comprised of "Irish Jack" Kelly, Elmer Davis, Al Massey, and the big Mexican who hasn't been here for months, Charro Aztec.

Four ten-minute-time-limit preliminaries will serve as warmups for the main-eventers, with opposing team members in opposite corners.

Barney, despite his usual status as referee in the local ring, has waged good battles in his last two appearances with Johnny Silvers and Don Martin. He will have to be at his best Tuesday since all four opposing team members are ringwise veterans.

Huge Aztec, or "Az-teek-o" as Promoter Kallio calls him, hasn't fought here since the Johnny Henning days, when he and the young strongman had some crowd-pleasing battles.

The Curtis boys and Kelly need no introduction, since they are regular Tuesday night tooth-and-nail rivals at Kallio's; and the Indian Chief made a good impression here two weeks ago, aiding the Curtises in a six-man relay event.

Since Kelly, Aztec, Davis and Massey are all renowned villians, it may be assumed that their team will commit anything they can get away with; and with both "fair-and-square" Gus as well as conscientious Scarbrough refereeing, it will be interesting to note just how much they are able to pull.

Mr. Kallio states there will be no admission increase for the eight-grappler, five-match card.

Greenies Battle From Behind To Defeat Alabama

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20 (AP) — A one-hand push shot by guard Hal Cervini with less than 45 seconds to play brought Tulane a 54-50 win over favored Alabama in a tense Southeastern Conference basketball game tonight.

Tulane trailed 49-48 when Cervini hit from about 20 feet out. The goal thwarted a fourth period rally by Alabama.

Alabama, third in conference standings before tonight's game, had forged ahead before when guard Leon Marlaire sank a set shot from near the foul line.

Tulane added four more points in the remaining seconds on foul shots, two by Cervini and two by guard Roy Stoll.

Cervini led Tulane scoring with 15 points. Stoll had 14.

Forward George Linn, a 6-4 Alabama sophomore was the top scorer with 19 points.

Selvy Registers 1,000 Points In Season 1st Time

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 20 (AP)—Furman University's Franklin Delano Selvy tonight became the first player in major college basketball history to make 1,000 points in one season.

The 6-3 guard from Corbin, Ky., hit his final four points on free throws in the last minute of a 68-50 win over South Carolina. Selvy got 30 in all.

The 1,000th point came with 12 seconds left as the overflow crowd, estimated at 4,500, cheered.

Selvy holds 21 national individual scoring records, and has a 41.6 points a game average in 24 this season.

Among the national records that Selvy pushed still farther upward tonight: Varsity career total 2,329 at an average 32.2 clip (compared with his national champion average of 29.5 last season); 350 field goals this season; 845 field goals in career; 639 free throws in career.

Texarkana Seeks Entry In Cotton States Baseball

TEXARKANA, Tex.-Ark., Feb. 20 (AP)—The chairman of a committee which is trying to keep organized baseball in this border city said tonight that a definite decision on fielding a team in the Cotton States League will be made tomorrow.

Horace Milan, who also is a scout for the Washington Senators, said his committee will meet with oilman J. C. Stroud tomorrow on plans for Texarkana and Longview, Tex., to enter the Class C League.

Both cities previously have been represented in the Class B Big State League.

Milan says Texarkana is ready to join the Cotton States, a six-team circuit, but must bring in another member to make up an eight-team league.

Stroud is considering sponsorship of a team at Longview, said Milan, and has indicated he will make a decision tomorrow.

The Cotton States League now is composed of El Dorado, Hot Springs and Pine Bluff, Ark.; Meridian and Greenville, Miss., and Monroe, La.

By TED HECKATHORN

For the second consecutive evening it was "Lion Night" at the Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium, as the home cagers swept another "AA" conference doubleheader last night, this time at Bossier City's expense.

The Ouachita boys beat the Bearkat five in a close thriller, 43-39; and the Lion girls had an easier time with the Bossier sextette in the 7 p.m. opener, leading handily all the way to win, 48-23.

Larry Barnes, the Lion mainstay was sizzling hot in the first period of the boys' fracas, with everything he tossed toward the net swishing through, excepting one. He emerged as high—point man as usual for the winners, with 28, of which 11 came in the first stanza, to pace his mates to a 16-12 end-of-period lead, which was the widest point spread from then on.

Bossier City, with Ed Walpole hitting constantly from long range, kept it close through the second and a layup just before the buzzer enabled them to leave the floor at intermission with a one-point lead, their first of the game.

Barnes, who accumulated four personals in the first half, handled the visitors very carefully all through the second, and stayed in the game all the way. But with the Ouachita inner defenses noticeably weakened, the Bearkats managed to work the ball in more frequently, and the lead changed hands three times. The Lions led by two points at quarter's end.

In the hectic and exciting final, it was a nip-and-tuck battle every minute of the way, with the fans screaming on every bounce of the ball. The lead changed no less than five times during the period, and the score was tied at 35-35, 37-37, and 39-39, before a Barnes goal made it 41-39 with less than three minutes to go. With Billy Smith and Doyle Holstead sinking last minute free throws after being fouled during the Lion deep-freeze, the two insurance points were added.

The Ouachita girls led 13-4 at the end of the first, 26-17 at halftime, and 39-18 at the end of the third to register their sixth "AA" win against two defeats.

Rhetha Norman, with overhand tosses and long-range hook shots, led the scorers, with 23. Betty Lee had 12, and Virginia Brunson, ten. Carolyn Pullig and Sue Walpole paced the losers, with eight apiece.

Oaklawn Park's Inaugural Goes To Granite Flyn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 20. (AP)—Granite Flyn, a rank outsider who hadn't won a race in his last six starts, scored in the $3,000 inaugural purse as Oaklawn Park opened its 20th annual horse race meeting here today.

Jockey Edward Plesa took the five - year - old gelding to the front in the stretch to edge R. Fisher's Skin Junior by a nose in the five and a half furlong allowance feature. Third was Pollard and Harkins' Ever Bright, the 6-to-5 favorite.

The winner, who was clocked in 1:08.1 over a heavy track, paid $85.20, $28.00 and $8.60. Skin Junior returned $19.20 and $7.20, and Ever Bright paid $3.20.

Ever Bright, winner of last years Inaugural, took an early lead, but gave way to the rush of Granite Flyn inside the furlong marker. The victor, owned by Irene Denham and W. P. Walters, then staved off a challenge by Skin Junior, who shot through on the inside to press Granite Flyn.

Wagering totaled $415,471, a record for opening day. Last year's total was $399,712.

Joe Miceli Puts Knockout Punch On Smith In 5th

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20. (AP)—Joe Miceli, New York, 147, knocked out Wallace (Bud) Smith, Cincinnati, 141, in one minute and 19 seconds of the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round boxing contest here tonight. A vicious left hook flush to the chin sent Smith, No. 1 challenger for the lightweight title, down for the full count.

The New York boxer ended the fight just when it appeared that he was in for a good lacing after winning three of the first four rounds by a slight margin.

Smith was unable to get away from Miceli's left hook consistently. Miceli had a slight edge in the first, third and fourth rounds because he made Smith miss while using his hook to advantage.

Smith, a left hooker himself, made a vicious fight of it all the way and it was only in the fourth round that he showed to advantage.

Smith came out for the fifth round carrying the fight to his opponent as he had in the earlier rounds. He landed a half dozen solid left hooks and acouple of right crosses which sent Miceli into his shell.

Miceli clinched and protected himself carefully but seemed tired. Suddenly he lunged forward with a tremendous left hook to the chin and Smith crashed to the canvas. He tried from the first count to get his legs under him and get up. But they were rubber.

He barely got to his haunches as referee Tony Warndorf counted him out. He was still badly dazed.

Pettit Smashes 2 Records As Tiger Five Tips Auburn

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 20 (AP) — Center Bob Pettit cracked two Southeastern Conference basketball scoring records tonight by dropping in 31 points in leading Louisiana State University to a 77-59 victory over Auburn.

The 6-9 All-America candidate thrilled the crowd of 7,000 by scoring on a variety of shots, but sticking mostly to his famed hook shot. His performance set a new season record by a conference player for all games by bringing his total to 594 points. The old mark was set last year by Georgia Zippy Morocco.

Pettit also broke his own standard of 207 field goals in one season by bringing his output to 217.

The game was close only in the first quarter as LSU poured on the steam in the second quarter to take a 36-28 halftime advantage.

Center Bob Miller collected 16 points to lead Auburn. His total broke the Auburn scoring record for one season with his mark now standing at 354 points.

Majors Face Same Headaches As New Season Nears

Big Leaguers Aim Toward Camps In Florida, Arizona

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 20. (AP)—It's a new season but the same old headaches for the major league managers as all 16 teams swing into their annual spring training drills next week.

Twelve teams, one more than last year, are training in Florida while the other four are conditioning in Arizona. The Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals beat the gun, getting under way this week. The Pirates, who switched their camp from Havana to Fort Pierce, Fla., went into action last Monday. The St. Louis Cardinals opened their St. Petersburg camp yesterday.

Washington and Philadelphia start tomorrow at Orlando and Clearwater, Fla., respectively. Nine clubs — Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, New York in the American League and Chicago, Milwaukee, New York and Philadelphia in the National, will pitch camp on Monday. Cleveland and Brooklyn will follow the next day. Cincinnati, the last club to start conditioning will get under way Wednesday.

There isn't a manager who isn't faced with at least one problem. That includes Casey Stengel of the World Champion New York Yankees and Walter Alston, who succeeded Charlie Dressen last October as pilot of the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

Stengel, seeking a sixth straight pennant, must find a replacement for Johnny Sain, the retired right-hander who played such a big part in the Yankee triumph last year. He must also find a capable pinch hitter to fill the shoes of the departed Johnny Mize.

Alston, who is taking over a power-laden club that has carried an ordinary pitching staff for the past two years, is hoping that two years in the army hasn't robbed pitcher Don Newcombe of his blazing fast ball and wicked curve. Alston is banking on the big righthander duplicating his 20-victory season of 1951. He also must worry about the unfilled left field spot, hopes Junior Gilliam doesn't fall victim to the sophomore jinx, and that old age doesn't catch up with Jackie Robinson and Peewee Reese.

Eddie Stanky, aware of the St. Louis Cardinals' defensive weaknesses at first base and shortstop, is giving a great deal of attention to a pair of $100,000 purchases, Tom Alston, a big Negro first baseman from San Diego and Alex Grammas, a smooth fielding shortstop from Kansas City. Stanky must also come up with a righthanded pitching strength to plug a glaring weakness.

The sale of infielder Danny O'Connell and pitcher Murry Dickson left the Pittsburgh Pirates without a big name on the roster. The only players fairly certain of a regular job are outfielder Frank Thomas, Sid Gordon at third base and pitcher Max Surkont.

Milwaukee has been strengthened by the addition of O'Connell and outfielder Bobby Thompson from the New York Giants. The Braves, however, gave up 20 victories by trading pitchers Jonnny Antonelli, Don Liddle and Surkont and it remains to be seen if the others can make up the difference.

The Giants are banking heavily that Willie Mays, soon to be released from service, can fill the shoes of Thomson in center field. A great deal also depends on the condition of Monte Irvin's mending ankle. The potency, despite the addition of Antonelli and Liddle, is still a big question.

Cleveland, stymied in its efforts to complete a trade, is gambling that ex-National Leaguer Rocky Nelson can fill the bill at first base and that rookie Gale Wade can fill an aching void in the outfield. A hitting career and a starting left-hander are high on the want list of the Indians.

The Chicago White Sox are still seeking a third baseman as well as a hard - hitting outfielder. Manager Paul Richards knows these are "musts" as well as a comeback by first baseman Ferris Fain if the Sox are to challenge the Yankees for the flag.

Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox is hopeful that southpaw Leo Kiely, recently discharged by the army, can win the 18 games the club gave away when they traded Maury McDermott to Washington.

Detroit must improve its catching as well as the right side of the infield.

The Orioles have two good pitchers in Don Larsen and Bob Turley, a power hitter in Vic Wertz, a scrappy catcher in Clint Courtney and a fine defensive shortstop in Billy Hunter. Manager Jimmy Dykes faces a difficult job in filling the other positions.

The Philadelphia Phillies are no better than last year despite the purchase of Dickson. They need help in the catching department, improved play around shortstop and comebacks by first baseman Earl Torgeson and third baseman Willie Jones.

Cincinnati is in dire need of righthanded pitching strength. Manager Birdie Tebbetts also has been making frantic efforts to land the Cards' Solly Hemus to fill the second base gap.

The Chicago Cubs are depending heavily on rookies to fill their weaknesses at second, short and center field. Pitching, aside from Bob Rush and Warren Hacker, continues to be the big weakness.

Bobby Shantz is a must if the Philadelphia Athletics are to advance from their seventh place slot. The little southpaw, American League's most valuable player in 1952, suffered a lame arm last year and fell from 24 victories to five. Manager Eddie Joost also is hopeful that the players obtained from the Yankees for Harry Byrd and Eddie Robinson, will make the grade. Vic Power is his big hope.

Washington, strong in pitching, sorely lacks a long ball hitter.

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)—Determine, a Kentucky-bred colt, held off a belated challenge by the favored Duke's Lea and wheeled on home to win the $131,900 Santa Anita Derby by three and a half lengths today.

Determine, a gray son of Alibhai, got a masterly ride from little Ray York and settled the issue a 100 yards from the the finish wire as Eddie Arcaro and his Calumet star, Duke's Lea, got up too late to seriously challenge the victor.

Travertine, owned by Max Kolmer's New York Dormar stable, finished third in the field of 11 3-year-olds.

Determine equalled the derby time for a mile and one-eighth—1.48 4/5, carrying the derby weight of 118 pounds.

The winner paid $7.70, $3.50 and $3.10 as the runner-up choice; Duke's Lea $3.60 and $2.90, and Travertine, with Johnny Longden aboard, paid $4.

Determine is owned by Andrew J. Crevolin of nearby Alhambra and was a purchase at the Keeneland auction in Kentucky as a yearling.

A crowd of 53,000, about 2,000 less than witnessed the derby a year ago, turned out for the 17th running of the race. The weather was bright and the track was fast.

Calumet, seeking its third straight victory in the derby here, sent the running mate of Duke's Lea, Indian Red, out on the early pace, and the colt, with Euclid LeBlanc in the saddle, hung on to the lead for the first half mile.

York kept Determine back, but never too far, and made his move soon after the half-mile point.

Travertine, too, was making a strong bid for an upset, while Duke's Lea was held far behind—dead last at one stage going down the back stretch.

Determine began to fly entering the stretch, and so did Duke's Lea. But Determine, bent on winning his fifth stakes 18 trips to the post, would not yield. It was simply a case of one flying horse unable to catch another flying horse.

Major Speed, Mrs. Harry Curland's well regarded California colt, came in fourth.

Longden, a three time winner of the derby, made a bold bid at the far turn to pull an upset and make it four, but Travertine was not up to the task.

Wildlife Group Maps Important Session Tuesday

New officers of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation take charge for the first time here Tuesday night when the organization meets at Hotel Virginia, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, and subjects of major importance to sportsmen are due to come up, it was announced.

Ready to take office officially are Jake Benton, president; Lamar Coleman, vice president; and A. S. Tidwell, Jr., secretary-treasurer. Tidwell was re-elected to his post at the last unit meeting.

Benton yesterday announced Charles Shaw, project leader for the Pittman-Robertson section aimed at improving wildlife habitat, will appear as guest speaker to explain the functions and purposes of the Pittman-Robertson work.

The meeting will also be the last before the state convention at Shreveport, and important resolutions will be discussed for membership opinion on proposals expected to come before the state convention. One of these regards a proposal that all persons 16 years old or older be required to purchase a $1 fishing license annually regardless of the type of fishing he does.

Benton said dog owners should also be present, especially owners of hunting hounds and bird dogs for discussion of a proposed law that could affect the dog owners.

Other projects to be discussed regarding wildlife in Louisiana, Benton said, are a deep-swapping plan with Missouri, erection of five to six-foot dams on river lakes that would require small dams, plugging outlets to LaFourche to farm pot holes, investigation of the Lake Erwin fingers for possible Pittman-Robertson aid, and developing more cooperation with neighboring wildlife units.

Ben Kerner Puts Milwaukee Cage Club Up For Sale

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 20. (AP)—Owner Ben Kerner of the Milwaukee Hawks announced tonight his National Basketball Association team was for sale "to any Milwaukee individual or group that wishes to purchase it."

"I had my mind made up to move the franchise at the end of last season," Kerner said in a prepared statement, "but decided to stay in view of promises made for guaranteed support. I have been asked to remain again next season if a certain number of season tickets would be sold, but I cannot accept such an arrangement because of my experience this season.

"I am ready to give any local group an opportunity to buy the club at a very reasonable price."

Kerner, whose Hawks have been solid last place occupants during the three years he has operated here, said he was setting a deadline of March 14 for Milwaukee purchase offers.

"After that date," he said, "I will have only three alternatives—move the franchise to another city, sell the club to interests some place else or dispose of the players and break up the team. It is impossible for me to continue operations here."

Kerner said he had spent more than a half-million dollars here in three years, including $80,000 for rental of the arena - auditorium where he has played his home games, and indicated he would not have lasted this long if he had not sold players at a profit. His paid attendance for home games during the period has averaged well under 2,000.

"I believe local ownership is the answer to the dilemma now confronting the Hawks," he said. "I believe pro basketball can succeed in the future, but I cannot continue to operate and shoulder all the burden personally."

The current Hawk club trails first - place Minneapolis by 25 games in the N. B. A. western division with only 14 victories in 56 games.

Southeastern's Lions Overcome Demons, 83 to 75

HAMMOND, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—A scoring spurt by Charlie Kinsley in the overtime period and deadly foul shooting gave Southeastern Louisiana an 83-75 basketball victory over Northwestern State this afternoon and the lead in the Gulf States Conference race.

Southeastern now has a 10-0 conference record with two games remaining, one with Louisiana Tech at Ruston and a return game with Northwestern at Natchitoches.

Northwestern has a 10-1 mark with the second Southeastern game its final conference action.

Southeastern took an early 19-12 lead at the end of the first quarter, uBt Northwestern rallied to tie it at 39-39 at the half. The score was tied 53-53 at the end of the third quarter and 68-68 at the end of the game after Southeastern missed a last second shot.

Kinsley scored two quick field goals in the overtime and Jerry Askeroth added another to give Southeastern a six point lead. Northwestern began to press on defense and committed costly fouls. Southeastern sank seven out of eight free throws in the extra period.

Kinsley had 13 points for the game, eight in the overtime.

Southeastern sank 31 of 34 free throws in the contest and Northwestern made good on only 19 of 31.

Bill Collinsworth, Northwestern guard, led both teams in scoring with 32 points.

Might Pay To Play Safe In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 10 (AP)—It might have paid in more ways than one to stay right down the middle of the fairway as the Texas Open Golf Tournament moved through its third round today.

Nitro-glycerine is reportedly buried somewhere on Brackenridge Park course.

A fellow mixed up in a San Antonio burglary said it was buried there.

Officers weren't worried too much, though. They reasoned the nitro must be down too deep to be touched off by a bounding golf ball—and is probably in some out of the way spot.

They were going to search for it just the same.

Majors Face Same Headaches As New Season Nears

Big Leaguers Aim Toward Camps In Florida, Arizona

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 20. (AP)—It's a new season but the same old headaches for the major league managers as all 16 teams swing into their annual spring training drills next week.

Twelve teams, one more than last year, are training in Florida while the other four are conditioning in Arizona. The Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals beat the gun, getting under way this week. The Pirates, who switched their camp from Havana to Fort Pierce, Fla., went into action last Monday. The St. Louis Cardinals opened their St. Petersburg camp yesterday.

Washington and Philadelphia start tomorrow at Orlando and Clearwater, Fla., respectively. Nine clubs — Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, New York in the American League and Chicago, Milwaukee, New York and Philadelphia in the National, will pitch camp on Monday. Cleveland and Brooklyn will follow the next day. Cincinnati, the last club to start conditioning will get under way Wednesday.

There isn't a manager who isn't faced with at least one problem. That includes Casey Stengel of the World Champion New York Yankees and Walter Alston, who succeeded Charlie Dressen last October as pilot of the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

Stengel, seeking a sixth straight pennant, must find a replacement for Johnny Sain, the retired right-hander who played such a big part in the Yankee triumph last year. He must also find a capable pinch hitter to fill the shoes of the departed Johnny Mize.

Alston, who is taking over a power-laden club that has carried an ordinary pitching staff for the past two years, is hoping that two years in the army hasn't robbed pitcher Don Newcombe of his blazing fast ball and wicked curve. Alston is banking on the big righthander duplicating his 20-victory season of 1951. He also must worry about the unfilled left field spot; hopes Junior Gilliam doesn't fall victim to the sophomore jinx, and that old age doesn't catch up with Jackie Robinson and Peewee Reese.

Eddie Stanky, aware of the St. Louis Cardinals' defensive weaknesses at first base and shortstop, is giving a great deal of attention to a pair of $100,000 purchases, Tom Alston, a big Negro first baseman from San Diego and Alex Grammas, a smooth fielding shortstop from Kansas City. Stanky must also come up with righthanded pitching strength to plug a glaring weakness.

The sale of infielder Danny O'Connell and pitcher Murry Dickson left the Pittsburgh Pirates without a big name on the roster. The only players fairly certain of a regular job are outfielder Frank Thomas, Sid Gordon at third base and pitcher Max Surkont.

Milwaukee has been strengthened by the addition of O'Connell and outfielder Bobby Thomson from the New York Giants. The Braves, however, gave up 30 victories by trading pitchers Johnny Antonelli, Don Liddle and Surkont and it remains to be seen if the others can make up the difference.

The Giants are banking heavily that Willie Mays, soon to be released from service, can fill the shoes of Thomson in center field. A great deal also depends on the condition of Monte Irvin's mending ankle. The pitching, despite the addition of Antonelli and Liddle, is still a big problem.

Cleveland, stymied in its efforts to complete a trade, is gambling that ex-National Leaguer Rocky Nelson can fill the bill at first base and that rookie Gale Wade can fill an aching void in the outfield. A hitting catcher and a starting lefthander are high on the want list of the Indians.

The Chicago White Sox are still seeking a third baseman as well as a hard - hitting outfielder. Manager Paul Richards knows these are "musts" as well as a comeback by first baseman Ferris Fain if the Sox are to challenge the Yankees for the flag.

Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox is hopeful that southpaw Leo Kiely, recently discharged by the army, can win the 18 games the club gave away when they traded Maury McDermott to Washington.

Detroit must improve its catching as well as the right side of the infield.

The Orioles have two good pitchers in Don Larsen and Bob Turley, a power hitter in Vic Wertz, a scrappy catcher in Clint Courtney and a fine defensive shortstop in Billy Hunter. Manager Jimmy Dykes faces a difficult job in filling the other positions.

The Philadelphia Phillies are no better than last year despite the purchase of Dickson. They need help in the catching department, improved play around shortstop and comebacks by first baseman Earl Torgeson and third baseman Willie Jones.

Cincinnati is in dire need of righthanded pitching strength. Manager Birdie Tebbetts also has been making frantic efforts to land the Cards' Solly Hemus to fill the second base gap.

The Chicago Cubs are depending heavily on rookies to fill their weaknesses at second, short and center field. Pitching, aside from Bob Rush and Warren Hacker, continues to be the big weakness.

Bobby Shantz is a must if the Philadelphia Athletics are to advance from their seventh place slot. The little southpaw, American League's most valuable player in 1952, suffered a lame arm last year and fell from 24 victories to five. Manager Eddie Joost also is hopeful that the players obtained from the Yankees for Harry Byrd and Eddie Robinson, will make the grade. Vic Power is his big hope.

Washington, strong in pitching, sorely lacks a long ball hitter.

Determine Edges Duke's Lea For Santa Anita Pot

By BOB MEYERS

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)—Determine, a Kentucky-bred colt, held off a belated challenge by the favored Duke's Lea and wheeled on home to win the $131,900 Santa Anita Derby by three and a half lengths today.

Determine, a gray son of Alibhai, got a masterly ride from little Ray York and settled the issue a 100 yards from the the finish wire as Eddie Arcaro and his Calumet star, Duke's Lea, got up too late to seriously challenge the victor.

Travertine, owned by Max Kolmer's New York Dormar stable, finished third in the field of 11 3-year-olds.

Determine equalled the derby time for a mile and one-eighth—1.48 4/5, carrying the derby weight of 118 pounds.

Southeastern's Lions Overcome Demons, 83 to 75

HAMMOND, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—A scoring spurt by Charlie Kinsley in the overtime period and deadly foul shooting gave Southeastern Louisiana an 83-75 basketball victory over Northwestern State this afternoon and the lead in the Gulf States Conference race.

Southeastern now has a 10-0 conference record with two games remaining, one with Louisiana Tech at Ruston and a return game with Northwestern at Natchitoches.

Northwestern has a 10-1 mark with the second Southeastern game its final conference action.

Southeastern took an early 19-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. uBt Northwestern rallied to tie it at 39-39 at the half. The score was tied 53-53 at the end of the third quarter and 68-68 at the end of the game after Southeastern missed a last second shot.

Kinsley scored two quick field goals in the overtime and Jerry Askeroth added another to give Southeastern a six point lead. Northwestern began to press on defense and committed costly fouls. Southeastern sank seven out of eight free throws in the extra period.

Kinsley had 13 points for the game, eight in the overtime.

Southeastern sank 31 of 34 free throws in the contest and Northwestern made good on only 19 of 31.

Bill Collinsworth, Northwestern guard, led both teams in scoring with 32 points.

Might Pay To Play Safe In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 10 (AP)—It might have paid in more ways than one to stay right down the middle of the fairway as the Texas Open Golf Tournament moved through its third round today.

Nitro-glycerine is reportedly buried somewhere on Brackenridge Park course.

A fellow mixed up in a San Antonio burglary said it was buried there.

Officers weren't worried too much, though. They reasoned the nitro must be down too deep to be touched off by a bounding golf ball—and is probably in some out of the way spot.

They were going to search for it just the same.

Cupit Cracks Top 20 With Round Of 64 For 202 Total

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 20 (AP)—Grim little Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C., cut a seven-under-par 64 to set an all-time P.G.A. record for 54 holes at 191 today and take a long lead in the $12,500 Texas Open despite a record-tying 69 turned in by Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.

The chunky veteran of the tour holds a five-stroke lead as the field of 90 turns toward the final 18 holes of this storied tournament.

Kroll's 69 was registered in early afternoon and it looked for a time as if Palmer might break that. He did the first nine in 30 strokes but ran into trouble on the second nine and had 34.

It was the greatest day for records this 6,400-yard Brackenridge park course has ever known. Palmer's 191 broke the mark set in 1945 by Bryon Nelson at Seattle by two strokes and it was seven strokes under the Texas Open record set by Jack Burke in 1952.

The 35-year-old Palmer also appears on the way to a new Texas Open record for 72 holes and possibly a new P.G.A. record. Nelson did 259 in his 1945 round. Ben Hogan tied that at Greenbrier, W. Va., six years later. The Texas Open record is 260 set by Burke in 1952.

Kroll's great round was sensational. It tied the all-time P.G.A. record for 18 holes set by Al Brosch, Garden City, N. Y., here in 1951 and tied by Bill Nary, Los Angeles, at El Paso in 1952.

In a tie for second place at the 54-hole mark with 196 were Chandler Harper, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Lionel Hebert, Erie, Pa. Harper had a 63 today while Hebert shot a 66.

One of the worst blow-ups on the tournament thus far was that of Joe Moore Jr., White Plains, N. Y., who took a terrible 78 today for 206—well out of the money class. Moore was second at 128 yesterday when Palmer was leading at the halfway mark with 127.

Moore was missing all kinds of shots and had a huge 43 on the first nine.

The leaders:

Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C., 65-62-64—191

Lionel Hebert, Erie, Pa., 63-67-66—196.

Two Six-Rounders Head Boxing Card Tomorrow

After a several months' absence, professional boxing returns to Kallio's Arena tomorrow night, with two six - rounders headlining the card, plus three four - round preliminaries.

In the nightcap of the double-main, the Bastrop Bomber, Norris Ray, returns to fistic action against John Burnette, Memphis, Tenn., and in the first half, Dorsey Burnette is scheduled for six against Frank Smith, Jackson, Tenn.

A four - rounder between Negro middleweights opens the program. James Fisher Chicago, fights Jimmy Brown, Memphis. Both weigh 158.

Two more four-round prelims follow; one between Jimmy Stuart, Memphis and Macky Gore, Jackson, Tenn.; and another between Tommy Parks, Drew, Miss., and Rockey Jones, Memphis. The former two are near 160, and Parks and Jones each weigh close to 130.

Ray's opponent is a classy middleweight, and is handled by C. H. Nolan, whom local fight fans will remember for his dark glasses and his entourage of Greenwood, Miss., boys, including James Barrentine and Don Ellis.

Nolan, who has seen Ray box on numerous occasions, says John is not only a good match for Norris but should defeat the Bomber in the 160-pound class.

Dorsey Burnette, who has defeated the classy Barrentine, is a young promising boxer, and is expected to give Smith a real battle in the first feature event. His opponent holds a win over Bastrop's Bill Williams, which speaks for itself, for local fans may remember he has only tasted defeat once in the Walnut Street ring, and that by the closest of decisions at the hands of Ray

According to Promoter Kallio, Fisher is reputedly a knockout artist, with a vicious uppercut and haymaker, which, if it ever lands, spells sleep for any opponent. He meets a good man, in Brown, who is strong and fast, and should provide both the fans and Fisher with plenty of action.

The remaining four prelim boxers are fast, willing lads, and should also make for highly-interesting bouts.

FEATURE EVENTER, Dorsey Burnette, Memphis, Tenn., who is scheduled for six rounds tomorrow night on the Kallio Arena boxing card, against Frank Smith, Jackson, Tenn. Norris Ray fights brother John Burnette in the second six-rounder. Three fours complete the program.

Long Shot, Landlocked, Cops Widener In Upset

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—James Cox Brady's Landlocked, rank outsider at 34-1, was first out of the gate and first across the finish line today to win the $139,400 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park before a whopping crowd of 31,699.

Landlocked had to battle Apheim stable's Quiet Step all the way, but the speedy 4-year-old gelding had enough left to win by a head from Quiet Step.

Time for the mile and a quarter was 2:03 1-5 over a fast track.

River Divide farm's Andre was third, a length and a quarter behind Quiet Step and a neck ahead of Hasty House farms' Ruhe, a surprise starter in the field of 14.

Greenstree stable's Straight Face and Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale, co-favorites in the race, never threatened and finished out of the money.

Landlocked paid $70, $35.80 and $19.20. Quiet Step returned $28.30 and $14.70 while the show price on Andre was $4.80.

Brady picked up the winner's share of $102,200—richest in 17 runnings of the Widener—to make Landlocked's earnings $221,050.

The 4-year-old gelded son of Priam 2nd out of Oasis by Lucillite, was bred by Brady and won only twice as a 2-year-old. He raced 17 times last year and was in the money nine times to earn $88,875. He won an allowance race at Hialeah in January but was seventh in the McLennan on Feb. 6.

Landlocked, carrying 116 pounds and well ridden by jockey Johnny Heckmann, burst out of the gate from the No. 1 post position and hugged the rail all the way. Quiet Step with Hedley Woodhouse up and 113 pounds on his back, was second at the start and stayed there all the way.

Zaharias Climbs Into Tie For Top Purse In Serbin

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—Babe Zaharias, still fighting to regain her old power off the tees after her battle with cancer, tied men's par at the Bayshore golf course today to pull up into a tie with Patty Berg for the lead in the $5,000 Serbin Women's Tournament.

Although she tired on the back nine of today's third round, the Babe had plenty of courage to pull her through as she fired a 72 for a 54-hole total of 220 to advance from fourth place into a first place deadlock with the hard-hitting Miss Berg.

National open champion Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., stood in third place with 221, one stroke off the lead, after firing a par 74 today. One more stroke back at 222 was the consistent little Atlanta veteran. Louise Suggs. Miss Suggs reported a 76 for her fourth round of the tournament.

Strong Lion Cage Team Visits Tech For Monday Date

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20 (Special)—In the last home game of the season, Louisiana Tech's cagers take on Southeastern Louisiana College here Monday night in a contest that might have some important bearing upon the conference championship.

Strong Southeastern has been running neck and neck with Northwestern State for the Gulf States Conference leadership and a setback to the Southeastern Lions Monday night might mean the difference in a first and second place standing for the Hammond College.

Out of the running for repeating as G.S.C. champs this season, the Techmen will be out to revenge an earlier 74-62 loss to the Lions in a game at Hammond. At the same time coach Cecil Crowley's Techsters will be gunning for a possible third place in the loop standings.

A hard team to beat on their home floor this season, the Bulldogs have won 10 while losing only three in the Memorial Gymnasium, and local fans are expecting the Canines to go all out to take this last home battle.

Two other G.S.C. games are on tap for coach Crowley's quintet during the week. Friday night Tech meets Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette. Saturday night the Bulldogs close out the season in a tilt at Lake Charles with McNeese State.

Cards Sidetrack Broadcast Plans For Minor Cities

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today quietly cancelled their plan to beam radio broadcasts of their games into minor league cities.

The radio plan, arranged for the 1954 season, was announced by the club last month as an experiment to determine the effect of major league broadcasts on minor league attendance — long a controversy in baseball.

What the Cardinals hoped would "help promote minor league baseball," however, drew a quick blast from George Trautman, commissioner of minor league baseball.

At the time of the Cardinals' announcement Trautman said: "There can only be room for one professional ball club in a community. If radio or television divide and steal the loyalties and interest, the team that represents the community will certainly suffer."

In reply the Cardinals said they thought they were serving all baseball by making the test.

Today, however, the Cardinals issued a short statement by President August A. Busch which said previously planned broadcasts of Cardinal games in Omaha, Houston, Columbus, Ohio; Wichita, Indianapolis, Burlington, Iowa; Mount Vernon, Ill.; Paris, Ill.; and Muskogee, Okla., have been cancelled.

Paul Minner, lefthander for the Chicago Cubs, was the only Cub to pitch two shutouts in 1953.

Futuresque Cops Lecomte Sprint; Bugledrums 2nd

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20. (AP)—Futuresque, a seven-year-old gelding from the Red Head stables, blazed through the stretch today to win the $10,000 - added Lecomte Handicap as the highly - favored Smoke Screen finished out of the money.

Futuresque, the lesser regarded half of the entry which included the late - running Roedna, caught Sam E. Wilson's Bugledrums a sixteenth a mile from the finish line and won by a half-length.

G. and G. stables' Moneybroker, winner of last year's $100,000-added Florida Derby, finished third, two lengths behind Bugledrums.

Third choice of the 13,000 fans, Futuresque returned $12.40, $6 and $4. Bugledrums paid $8.20 and $4.40, while Money Broker returned $3.80.

Reverie Knoll farm's Smoke Screen, a 4-5 favorite at post time, finished a distant ninth in the 11-horse field, a neck behind Roedna.

The victory was worth $9,220 of the gross $13,750 purse.

Futuresque ran the mile and one-sixteenth in a sparkling 1:45 3-5 over a fast track. Jockey Evans Jenkins held Futuresque up with the front runners. Ivan Peat's Sun Tan Gal and Bugledrums, as the field turned into the backstretch.

Futuresque dropped to fourth as the field made the final turn for home, but rallied as Jenkins went to the whip.

Goodloe Meets Chapman Today For Golf Title

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe, Valdosta, Ga., and Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, N. C., won semi-final matches in the Tournament of Golf Club Champions today. They meet tomorrow for the title.

Goodloe beat Ray Graham, Locust Valley, N. Y., 1 up and Chapman beat young Billy Thornton, Mansfield, Conn., 2 and 1 in the 36-hole matches.

Chapman also came from behind. The U. S. Walker Cup player was three down to 12-year-old Thornton after eight holes but birdied five of the next six to go ahead for good.

Palmer On Record Spree To Hold Texas Open Lead

Cupit Cracks Top 20 With Round Of 64 For 202 Total

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 20 (AP)—Grim little Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C., cut a seven-under-par 64 to set an all-time P.G.A. record for 54 holes at 191 today and take a long lead in the $12,500 Texas Open despite a record-tying 60 turned in by Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.

The chunky veteran of the tour holds a five-stroke lead as the field of 99 turns toward the final 18 holes of this storied tournament.

Kroll's 60 was registered in early afternoon and it looked for a time as if Palmer might break that. He did the first nine in 30 strokes but ran into trouble on the second nine and had 34.

It was the greatest day for records this 6,400-yard Brackenridge park course has ever known. Palmer's 191 broke the mark set in 1945 by Bryon Nelson at Seattle by two strokes and it was seven strokes under the Texas Open record set by Jack Burke in 1952.

The 35-year-old Palmer also appears on the way to a new Texas Open record for 72 holes and possibly a new P.G.A. record. Nelson did 259 in his 1945 round. Ben Hogan tied that at Greenbrier, W. Va., six years later. The Texas Open record is 260 set by Burke in 1952.

Kroll's great round was sensational. It tied the all-time P.G.A. record for 18 holes set by Al Brosch, Garden City, N. Y., here in 1951 and tied by Bill Nary, Los Angeles, at El Paso in 1952.

In a tie for second place at the 54-hole mark with 196 were Chandler Harper, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Lionel Hebert, Erie, Pa. Harper had a 63 today while Hebert shot a 66.

One of the worst blow-ups on the tournament thus far was that of Joe Moore Jr., White Plains, N. Y., who took a terrible 78 today for 206—well out of the money class. Moore was second at 128 yesterday when Palmer was leading at the halfway mark with 127.

Moore was missing all kinds of shots and had a huge 43 on the first nine.

The leaders:

Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C., 65-62-64—191

Lionel Hebert, Erie, Pa., 63-67-66—196.

Chandler Harper, Chattanooga, Tenn., 70-63-63—196.

Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J., 67-64-66—197.

Shelley Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass., 63-69-66—198.

Al Besselink, Grossinger, N. Y., 68-63-68—199.

Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., 67-64-68—199.

Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., 66-68-66—200.

Wally Ulrich, Maplewood, N. J., 63-72-65—200.

Fred Haas, New Orleans, 67-66-67—200.

Two Six-Rounders Head Boxing Card Tomorrow

After a several months' absence, professional boxing returns to Kallio's Arena tomorrow night, with two six - rounders headlining the card, plus three four - round preliminaries.

In the nightcap of the double-main, the Bastrop Bomber, Norris Ray, returns to fistic action against John Burnette, Memphis, Tenn., and in the first half, Dorsey Burnette is scheduled for six against Frank Smith, Jackson, Tenn.

A four - rounder between Negro middleweights opens the program. James Fisher Chicago, fights Jimmy Brown, Memphis. Both weigh 158.

Two more four-round prelims follow; one between Jimmy Stuart, Memphis and Macky Gore, Jackson, Tenn.; and another between Tommy Parks, Drew, Miss., and Rockey Jones, Memphis. The former two are near 160, and Parks and Jones each weigh close to 130.

Ray's opponent is a classy middleweight, and is handled by C. H. Nolan, whom local fight fans will remember for his dark glasses and his entourage of Greenwood, Miss., boys, including James Barrentine and Don Ellis.

Nolan, who has seen Ray box on numerous occasions, says John is not only a good match for Norris but should defeat the Bomber in the 160-pound class.

Dorsey Burnette, who has defeated the classy Barrentine, is a young promising boxer, and is expected to give Smith a real battle in the first feature event. His opponent holds a win over Bastrop's Bill Williams, which speaks for itself, for local fans may remember he has only tasted defeat once in the Walnut Street ring, and that by the closest of decisions at the hands of Ray.

According to Promoter Kallio, Fisher is reputedly a knockout artist, with a vicious uppercut and haymaker, which, if it ever lands, spells sleep for any opponent. He meets a good man, in Brown, who is strong and fast, and should provide both the fans and Fisher with plenty of action.

The remaining four prelim boxers are fast, willing lads, and should also make for highly-interesting bouts.

FEATURE EVENTER, Dorsey Burnette, Memphis, Tenn., who is scheduled for six rounds tomorrow night on the Kallio Arena boxing card, against Frank Smith, Jackson, Tenn. Norris Ray fights brother John Burnette in the second six-rounder. Three fours complete the program.

Long Shot, Landlocked, Cops Widener In Upset

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—James Cox Brady's Landlocked, rank outsider at 34-1, was first out of the gate and first across the finish line today to win the $139,400 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park before a whopping crowd of 31,699.

Landlocked had to battle Apheim stable's Quiet Step all the way, but the speedy 4-year-old gelding had enough left to win by a head from Quiet Step.

Time for the mile and a quarter was 2:03 1-5 over a fast track.

River Divide farm's Andre was third, a length and a quarter behind Quiet Step and a neck ahead of Hasty House farms' Ruhe, a surprise starter in the field of 14.

Greenstree stable's Straight Face and Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale, co-favorites in the race, never threatened and finished out of the money.

Landlocked paid $70, $35.80 and $19.20. Quiet Step returned $28.30 and $14.70 while the show price on Andre was $4.80.

Brady picked up the winner's share of $102,200—richest in 17 runnings of the Widener—to make Landlocked's earnings $221,050.

The 4-year-old gelded son of Priam 2nd out of Oasis by Lucillite, was bred by Brady and won only twice as a 2-year-old. He raced 17 times last year and was in the money nine times to earn $88,875. He won an allowance race at Hialeah in January but was seventh in the McLennan on Feb. 6.

Landlocked, carrying 116 pounds and well ridden by jockey Johnny Heckmann, burst out of the gate from the No. 1 post position and hugged the rail all the way. Quiet Step with Hedley Woodhouse up and 113 pounds on his back, was second at the start and stayed there all the way.

Doris Hart Wins Singles Throne In Miami Event

Garcia, who won 18 and lost nine last year, said at his home near San Francisco that he "didn't take a cut" in pay and that "I'm well satisfied."

The Indians did not make his salary public but he is believed to have received about $30,000 last year.

Zaharias Climbs Into Tie For Top Purse In Serbin

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—Babe Zaharias, still fighting to regain her old power off the tees after her battle with cancer, tied men's par at the Bayshore golf course today to pull up into a tie with Patty Berg for the lead in the $5,000 Serbin Women's Tournament.

Although she tired on the back nine of today's third round, the Babe had plenty of courage to pull her through as she fired a 72 for a 54-hole total of 220 to advance from fourth place into a first place deadlock with the hard-hitting Miss Berg.

National open champion Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., stood in third place with 221, one stroke off the lead, after firing a par 74 today. One more stroke back at 222 was the consistent little Atlanta veteran, Louise Suggs. Miss Suggs reported a 76 for her fourth round of the tournament.

20-Game Slate Awaiting Baseball Team At Tech

Strong Lion Cage Team Visits Tech For Monday Date

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20 (Special)—In the last home game of the season, Louisiana Tech's cagers take on Southeastern Louisiana College here Monday night in a contest that might have some important bearing upon the conference championship.

Strong Southeastern has been running neck and neck with Northwestern State for the Gulf States Conference leadership and a setback to the Southeastern Lions Monday night might mean the difference in a first and second place standing for the Hammond College.

Out of the running for repeating as G.S.C. champs this season, the Techmen will be out to revenge an earlier 74-62 loss to the Lions in a game at Hammond. At the same time coach Cecil Crowley's Techsters will be gunning for a possible third place in the loop standings.

A hard team to beat on their home floor this season, the Bulldogs have won 10 while losing only three in the Memorial Gymnasium, and local fans are expecting the Canines to go all out to take this last home battle.

Two other G.S.C. games are on tap for coach Crowley's quintet during the week. Friday night Tech meets Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette. Saturday night the Bulldogs close out the season in a tilt at Lake Charles with McNeese State.

Cards Sidetrack Broadcast Plans For Minor Cities

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today quietly cancelled their plan to beam radio broadcasts of their games into minor league cities.

The radio plan, arranged for the 1954 season, was announced by the club last month as an experiment to determine the effect of major league broadcasts on minor league attendance — long a controversy in baseball.

What the Cardinals hoped would "help promote minor league baseball," however, drew a quick blast from George Trautman, commissioner of minor league baseball.

At the time of the Cardinals' announcement Trautman said: "There can only be room for one professional ball club in a community. If radio or television divide and steal the loyalties and interest, the team that represents the community will certainly suffer."

In reply the Cardinals said they thought they were serving all baseball by making the test.

Today, however, the Cardinals issued a short statement by President August A. Busch which said previously planned broadcasts of Cardinal games in Omaha, Houston, Columbus, Ohio; Wichita, Indianapolis, Burlington, Iowa; Mount Vernon, Ill.; Paris, Ill., and Muskogee, Okla., have been cancelled.

Paul Minner, lefthander for the Chicago Cubs, was the only Cub to pitch two shutouts in 1953.

RUSTON, La., Feb. 20. (Special)—A tough 20-game baseball schedule for Louisiana Tech's 1954 diamond competition has been announced by Joe Aillet, Tech's athletic director.

The Bulldogs open the season March 15 in a game at Biloxi, Miss., with Keesler Field. Coach Berry Hinton is Tech's varsity baseball coach.

Besides playing two games with each of the six Gulf States Conference members, the Techsters have non-conference contests with the Shreveport Sports, Centenary College and service teams in Florida and Mississippi.

A new baseball diamond is now under construction on the Tech campus just west of the college's new Memorial Gymnasium. Coach Hinton reports the field is expected to be completed in time for the first home game on March 24.

Tech's complete baseball schedule is as follows:

March 15 - Keesler Field at Biloxi, Miss.

March 16 - Keesler Field at Biloxi, Miss.

March 17 - Elgin Field at Valparaiso, Fla.

March 18 - Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla.

Futuresque Cops Lecomte Sprint; Bugledrums 2nd

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20. (AP)—Futuresque, a seven-year-old gelding from the Red Head stables, blazed through the stretch today to win the $10,000 - added Lecomte Handicap as the highly - favored Smoke Screen finished out of the money.

Futuresque, the lesser regarded half of the entry which included the late - running Roedna, caught Sam E. Wilson's Bugledrums a sixteenth a mile from the finish line and won by a half-length.

G. and G. stables' Moneybroker, winner of last year's $100,000-added Florida Derby, finished third, two lengths behind Bugledrums.

Third choice of the 13,000 fans, Futuresque returned $12.40, $6 and $4. Bugledrums paid $8.20 and $4.40, while Money Broker returned $3.80.

Reverie Knoll farm's Smoke Screen, a 4-5 favorite at post time, finished a distant ninth in the 11-horse field, a neck behind Roedna.

The victory was worth $9,220 of the gross $13 750 purse.

Futuresque ran the mile and one-sixteenth in a sparkling 1:45 3-5 over a fast track. Jockey Evans Jenkins held Futuresque up with the front runners, Ivan Peat's Sun Tan Gal and Bugledrums, as the field turned into the backstretch.

Futuresque dropped to fourth as the field made the final turn for home, but rallied as Jenkins went to the whip.

Goodloe Meets Chapman Today For Golf Title

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe, Valdosta, Ga., and Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, N. C., won semi-final matches in the Tournament of Golf Club Champions today. They meet tomorrow for the title.

Goodloe beat Ray Graham, Locust Valley, N. Y., 1 up and Chapman beat young Billy Thornton, Mansfield, Conn., 2 and 1 in the 36-hole matches.

Graham, who upset Jimmy Paul, Daytona Beach, yesterday, took an early lead over Goodloe this morning, but the jolly five-by-five Georgian caught up at the 12th hole and never trailed.

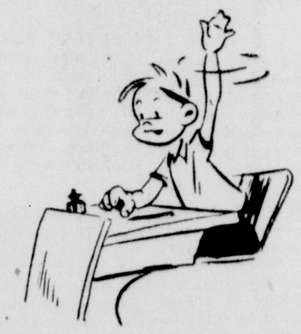

Chapman also came from behind. The U. S. Walker Cup player was three down to 12-year-old Thornton after eight holes but birdied five of the next six to go ahead for good.

Pepper Martin Will Continue As Skipper

McALESTER, Okla., Feb. 20. (AP)—Pepper Martin, who managed Fort Lauderdale of the Florida-International League last season, announced today he would again manage the baseball team, which has been moved to Miami Beach.

Martin, former St. Louis Cardinal great, said he had planned to run for Pittsburg county commissioner here this year but the management of Miami Beach "made me too good an offer" to turn down.

Last year, Martin directed Fort Lauderdale to the loop's pennant. He operates a ranch near here and for a time last year served as deputy sheriff.

Wisconsin Solon Says Ike's Dairy Program A 'Kick In The Pants'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 —UP— Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski (R-Wis.) said Saturday the Eisenhower administration has given the dairy farmers in his district "a kick in the pants" and "many are bitter enough about it to vote Democratic."

O'Konski and other members of Congress from the Wisconsin-Minnesota dairying area—complained that the impending reduction in dairy price supports will have serious political consequences if it is allowed to stand.

They said the protest mail from the area is starting to come in.

O'Konski told reporters the gist of some of the letters is:

"We've been life - long Republicans. We can't be anymore with this going on. We apologize for working for the Republicans in the last election."

He added that two farmers wrote him "we need a wholesale housecleaning in Washington. Everyone should go."

Rep. Gardner R. Withrow (R-Wis), who has written the President protesting the price cut and has introduced a bill to veto it, said "there is going to be so much pressure on the administration to change the order that I am not willing to assume, yet, that it will stick."

The order, which goes into force April 1, will reduce the government's support price for butter 8 1-4 cents a pound and will cut 4 3-4 cents per pound off cheese supports and about one cent off dried skim milk supports.

The cuts were ordered because present high guarantees had piled up more than one billion pounds of surplus dairy products.

President Eisenhower told a news conference this week, that he has no thought of reconsidering the order.

Heroism Of Navy Pilot Who Died In Crash Told

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—Witnesses pieced together today how a heroic Navy flier elected to go down with his F6F plane rather than bail out and hope the craft would clear this city of 50,000.

The pilot was identified today as Lt. George Garfield Jeffries of Frostburg, Md. He was on a routine flight from Kingsville Naval Air Base, Tex., to MacDill AFB at Tampa, Fla., when his World War II fighter plane developed engine trouble last night.

From radio reports, an accompanying plane and ground witnesses, this was the story:

The two planes, with the second piloted by Lt. Walter H. Maddox, circled the area from 7:20 p.m., when engine trouble developed, until the crash, between 8:12 and 8:15 p.m.

At 16,000 feet Jeffries radioed "losing altitude fast." At 8:08 p.m. he radioed he was down to 8,000 feet with his engine almost dead.

Maddox told Jeffries to bail out at 3,400 feet and he wanted to see what was below and would try to bail out at 2,500.

At 8:12 he reported he was at 2,500 approaching a large city from the west and would try to make Lake Charles AFB east of the city. When he couldn't make the landing field, he said he would try to bail out at 500 feet.

Witnesses said he came out of the overcast, dipped his wings first to one side and then to the other to get a better look at the terrain. When he saw he couldn't make the landing field and might go down in the city, he changed directions and headed for a rice field.

He would have made a belly landing, but a 10-foot embankment on an abandoned irrigation canal was too high. His plane crashed and burst into flames.

Witnesses pulled the charred body from the wreckage and it was taken to a Lake Charles funeral home. The Orange, Tex., Navy Base would handle arrangements, the funeral home reported.

Urges Building Of New Post Offices

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was urged by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark) today to recommend immediately a post office construction program to "recharge the nation's economy."

Such a program, Gathings told the President in a letter, also would make jobs available to the unemployed.

"There has been no such public building program undertaken since 1939," Gathings said. "New projects that were ready to be built at that time were postponed due to the breaking out of hostilities in Europe."

Wisconsin Solon Says Ike's Dairy Program A 'Kick In The Pants'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 —UP— Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski (R-Wis.) said Saturday the Eisenhower administration has given the dairy farmers in his district "a kick in the pants" and "many are bitter enough about it to vote Democratic."

O'Konski and other members of Congress from the Wisconsin-Minnesota dairying area—complained that the impending reduction in dairy price supports will have serious political consequences if it is allowed to stand.

They said the protest mail from the area is starting to come in.

O'Konski told reporters the gist of some of the letters is:

"We've been life - long Republicans. We can't be anymore with this going on. We apologize for working for the Republicans in the last election."

He added that two farmers wrote him "we need a wholesale housecleaning in Washington. Everyone should go."

Rep. Gardner R. Withrow (R-Wis), who has written the President protesting the price cut and has introduced a bill to veto it, said "there is going to be so much pressure on the administration to change the order that I am not willing to assume, yet, that it will stick."

The order, which goes into force April 1, will reduce the government's support price for butter 8 1-4 cents a pound and will cut 4 3-4 cents per pound off cheese supports and about one cent off dried skim milk supports.

The cuts were ordered because present high guarantees had piled up more than one billion pounds of surplus dairy products.

President Eisenhower told a news conference this week, that he has no thought of reconsidering the order.

Heroism Of Navy Pilot Who Died In Crash Told

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—Witnesses pieced together today how a heroic Navy flier elected to go down with his F6F plane rather than bail out and hope the craft would clear this city of 50,000.

The pilot was identified today as Lt. George Garfield Jeffries of Frostburg, Md. He was on a routine flight from Kingsville Naval Air Base, Tex., to MacDill AFB at Tampa, Fla., when his World War II fighter plane developed engine trouble last night.

From radio reports, an accompanying plane and ground witnesses, this was the story:

The two planes, with the second piloted by Lt. Walter H. Maddox, circled the area from 7:20 p.m., when engine trouble developed, until the crash, between 8:12 and 8:15 p.m.

At 16,000 feet Jeffries radioed "losing altitude fast." At 8:08 p.m. he radioed he was down to 8,000 feet with his engine almost dead.

Maddox told Jeffries to bail out at 3,400 feet and he wanted to see what was below and would try to bail out at 2,500.

At 8:12 he reported he was at 2,500 approaching a large city from the west and would try to make Lake Charles AFB east of the city. When he couldn't make the landing field, he said he would try to bail out at 500 feet.

Witnesses said he came out of the overcast, dipped his wings first to one side and then to the other to get a better look at the terrain. When he saw he couldn't make the landing field and might go down in the city, he changed directions and headed for a rice field.

He would have made a belly landing, but a 10-foot embankment on an abandoned irrigation canal was too high. His plane crashed and burst into flames.

Witnesses pulled the charred body from the wreckage and it was taken to a Lake Charles funeral home. The Orange, Tex., Navy Base would handle arrangements, the funeral home reported.

Urges Building Of New Post Offices

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was urged by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark) today to recommend immediately a post office construction program to "recharge the nation's economy."

Such a program, Gathings told the President in a letter, also would make jobs available to the unemployed.

"There has been no such public building program undertaken since 1939," Gathings said. "New projects that were ready to be built at that time were postponed due to the breaking out of hostilities in Europe."

Bending Your Ear?

WELL . . . Just slightly for we're on the carpet again and here's why: we have an unrivaled 3-bedroom home on the market that we need to sell so the owner can purchase a home for his family in another city. The home is a "family" home from A to Z loaded with comfortable features. Features such as: more storage space than you have ever seen in any home; a bath and a half; there are three spacious bedrooms; the 12'x13' kitchen has nice cabinet space and breakfast area; there's a delightful breezeway on the back plus a carport with store room with washer plumbing & wired for a dryer. It's located at 322 STEWART in W. Monroe and priced at the FHA appraised value of $11,500. You wanta' look?

Sample It!

AND I'll bet you a nickel you'll come away with a happy gleam in your eyes! A gleam that will never diminish as long as you're the proud owner of this unblemished home at 1309 COLLEGE AVE. with all of its comfortable features. Such as: tastefully decorated living room has fireplace with floor-to-ceiling bookcases on either side . . . unusual pecan floors . . . attic fan with automatic shutters . . . well-arranged kitchen with roomy dining area . . . as well as a garage with overhead door and 6'x20' storeroom. It's truly an unusual home and only $2763 down buys it. The location is: 808 S. 6th.

May I Suggest . . .

. . . A Tour today of this imposing home at 3104 GORDON AVE. It's a tour you'd love dear, there's about you would find 912 sq. feet of floor space fairly wrapped up with unusual features. Such as: excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; attic fan and floor furnace; tremendous walk-in closet in one bedroom and another in the hall; a kitchen that smiles at you with apples & cabinets, washer plumbing and utility closet; it also has aluminum screens throughout and the happiest thought of all . . . only $1050 down buys it.

Strike It Rich!

IN MANY respects . . . for not only are these two brand new 3-bedroom homes located just across the street from Millsaps grammar school and only one block to the new West Monroe High School, they're low-priced, at only $10,450 with only $1850 down . . . and look what it buys: 1118 sq. feet of living area including such features as: 3 bedrooms with a large living room & separate dining area; 3 wall heaters (panel-ray); 42" attic fan; large kitchen with breakfast area plus carport and storage. They both are on 75 foot lots and located at 506 & 510 CRYER.

Man, Am I Built!

MAYBE IT does sound a little conceited, but I'm proud of the way my owner built me with the best of materials from my brick exterior to my colored bath fixtures (and a shower). I'm vacant now, but I shouldn't be for I'm designed for comfortable living with 2 bedrooms (one with walk-in closet); unique bath with green fixtures; novel kitchen with natural wood work cabinets; separate dining area; breezeway on back (I'm on a corner lot, too); carport with storeroom with washer plumbing. I'm located at 4308 LEE AVE. and only $2400 down buys me.

Family Growing?

. . . THEN you'll love this spacious 3-bedroom & den home on a 100'x150' lot just a half-a-block from the new West Monroe High School. For among the 1443 sq. feet of living area are these features: 3 bedrooms; separate living & dining room; (3) floor furnaces; 20'x18' kitchen covered with cabinets and also has a GE dishwasher & garbage disposal; house has a 50 gallon water heater; den on back is 10'x26'; has gutters & downspouts . . . fenced back yard and a large double garage. It's located at 408 TRAVIS ST. and $3900 down does it!

100% G. I.

YOU'VE NO further complaint if you're in need of a roomy, 3 bedroom home in a good location with a small down payment . . . for we've "the goods" at 1613 S. 4th. Pay only the closing costs, move in and enjoy such features as: 1138 sq. feet of living area; 2 bedrooms and a 10'x15' pine-paneled den; a well-proportioned living room and a separate dining room; attic fan and floor furnace and monthly payments as low as $63 per month. It's vacant and won't last long . . . so you'd better call for appointment!

It's A Shame!

IT IS INDEED, for I am on the verge of being left vacant since my devoted owner has been transferred to another city. Possibly if I tell you what I'm like, you'd come see me. Well . . . I'm roomy (1134 sq. feet) with 5-rooms, 2 bedrooms (both 14'x14'), separate living and dining room & wonderful taste in wallpaper throughout I also have a new 30-gal. water heater. . .garage with storeroom and many more features. $1550 down buys me. Oh yes, I'm located at 1102 COLE AVE.

Bending Your Ear?

WELL . . . Just slightly for we're on the carpet again and here's why: we have an unrivaled 3-bedroom home on the market that we need to sell so the owner can purchase a home for his family in another city. The home is a "family" home from A to Z loaded with comfortable features. Such as: excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; attic fan and floor furnace; tremendous walk-in closet in one bedroom and another in the hall; a kitchen that smiles at you with spotless cabinets, washer plumbing and utility closet; it also has aluminum screens throughout and the happiest thought of all . . . only $1050 down buys it.

Strike It Rich!

IN MANY respects . . . for not only are these two brand new 3-bedroom homes located just across the street from Millsaps grammar school and only one block to the new West Monroe High School, they're low-priced at only $10,860 with only $1860 down . . . and look what it buys: 1118 sq. feet of living area including such features as: 3 bedrooms with a large living room & separate dining area; 3 wall heaters (panel-ray); 42" attic fan; large kitchen with breakfast area plus carport and storage. They both are on 75 foot lots and located at 506 & 510 CRYER.

Man, Am I Built!

MAYBE IT does sound a little conceited, but I'm proud of the way my owner built me with the best of materials from my brick exterior to my colored bath fixtures (and a shower). I'm vacant now, but I shouldn't be for I'm designed for comfortable living with 2 bedrooms (one with walk-in closet); unique bath with green fixtures; novel kitchen with natural wood work cabinets; separate dining area; breezeway on back (I'm on a corner lot, too); carport with storeroom with washer plumbing. I'm located at 4208 LEE AVE. and only $2400 down buys me.

Family Growing?

. . . THEN you'll love this spacious 3-bedroom & den home on a 100'x150' lot just a half-a-block from the new West Monroe High School. For among the 1443 sq. feet of living area are these features: 3 bedrooms; separate living & dining room; (2) floor furnaces; 20'x8' kitchen covered with cabinets and also has a GE dishwasher & garbage disposal; house has a 50 gallon water heater; den on back is 10'x26'; has gutters & downspouts . . . fenced back yard and a large double garage. Monroe Masons Plan Hundredth Anniversary

Judge O. B. Hall will be the speaker on February 22, when Monroe Chapter No. 18, celebrates its one hundreth anniversary. He was educated in the public schools of Alabama but attended Peabody College in Tennessee, also the University of Michigan and the University of Alabama. He has practised law since 1921 and was appointed judge of the police court for the City of Birmingham in 1939, over which court he still presides.

Judge Hall was raised a Master Mason, in 1922. He is a member of Zamora Shrine Temple and is active in both York and Scottish Rite Freemasonry. Many honors have been conferred upon him. In 1951 he served as grand high priest of royal Arch Masons of the State of Alabama and is presently serving as deputy grand master of the Grand Council Royal and Select Masters of Alabama. Judge Hall is also a member of Saint Dustin's Conclave of the Red Cross of Constantine.

Judge Hall is a man of keen intellect, remembered for his cheerfulness, kindness and sunny disposition. A loyal Mason and courteous gentleman who is beloved by a host of friends in Capitular Masonry. Capitular Masonry with its beautiful degrees has always appealed to our M. E. companion and to its work he has given keen attention.

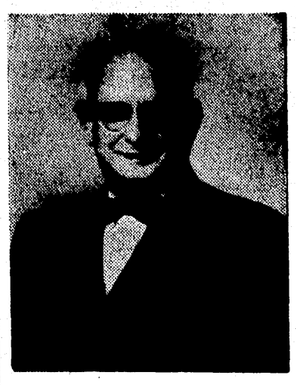

All Master Masons are invited to hear this distinguished visitor.

Conroe Chapter No. 18 was chartered February 22, 1854, and has had a prosperous and uninterrupted existence from that date to the present time. The first high priest to preside over the chapter was Robert F. McGuire, who was an outstanding Mason of that time. A Blue Lodge in Rayville, La., is named for him thus honoring his memory. Louise L. McGuire Chapter No. 4, Order of the Eastern Star of Monroe, is named for his beloved wife. The first secretary was Frank P. Stubbs, a name well known in our community.

Today Monroe chapter is one of the largest and most active in the state. It has been honored by having six members serve as grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, Graham Surghnor (deceased) served in 1904, Will M. Washburn served in 1919 and is now the senior living past grand high priest of the state, Bradley Waelder (deceased) served in 1931, W. E. Leigh served in 1941, Curtis B. Hair served in 1947 and Henry O. Hartman served in 1952.

Monday night at 7:30 p.m. Monroe chapter will be host to Master Masons at the Masonic Temple. An interesting program has been planned with Judge Oliver B. Hall, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala., the principal speaker. Refreshments will will be served.

Sick In Bed But Attends Classes

HARRISONBURG, Va., Feb. 20 —UP— Eleven-year-old Timmy Lowe, sick in bed here with yellow jaundice, will attend school by radio.

Timmy's dad, Ira T. Lowe, who is a combination radio engineer-announcer, rigged up a two-way communication system from Timmy's bedside to the fifth grade classroom where the youngster is enrolled.

Timmy wasn't too happy about the matter. "What's the sense in being sick if you gotta go to school?" he asked.

Plan Workshop On Exceptional Children Here

Robert William Haacker, director of the Caddo school for exceptional children in Shreveport, will be the principal speaker at an educational program which has been arranged by the Cerebral Palsy Association Monday at 8 p.m. at Ouachita Parish High School auditorium, to which the public of Monroe, West Monroe and the Fifth Congressional District is invited.

Mr. Haacker will discuss the cerebral palsied child and he will show a film to illustrate his talk.

Mr. Haacker was born in Chicago. He attended Crane Technical High School and upon graduation, entered Northern Illinois State Teachers College. He received his B. S. degree in the area of chemistry and education with minor in math and psychology.

He then taught chemistry at the Marshall High School in Chicago. Later he attended the State University of Iowa, where he received his M. A. degree in the area of special education under the able sponsorship of Dr. J. B. Stroud, professor of education and psychology.

Mr. Haacker then began work with severely physically handicapped children at the hospital school in Iowa City and also at the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital in Chicago. His thesis is now in the process of being published and is entitled "The Education of the Cerebral Palsied."

He then moved westward to Spencer, Ia., locating in the extreme northwest corner of the state where he assumed the position of director of remedial reading. After several years, he was advanced to supervisor of special education for a three county area covering approximately 1400 square miles. In this position he provided educational facilities, transportation, and diagnostic work for the mentally retarded, visually, auditorially, physically, emotionally, and socially handicapped. This work was extremely interesting and challenging.

In September, 1952, he assumed the position of director of the Caddo School for Exceptional Children. Since his graduation he has spent every summer attending State University of Iowa and Northwestern University taking work toward his Ph. D. degree in the area of special education.

Mrs. Haacker also is employed at the Caddo School for Exceptional Children as a speech therapist. Both Mr. and Mrs. Haacker have been very active in various civic and community organizations and church work.

Also appearing on the same program will be Dr. Malcolm Kaffie, president of Caddo Foundation in Shreveport and other members of his staff.

There will be no admission and no contributions taken up. Mr. Sam Rubin, board member of UCPA of northeast Louisiana and chairman of this program, urges all to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the speaker and see the film and to learn more of what cerebral palsy is, what is being done and what can be done for affected persons.

J. Y. Pipes, Jr., is president of the local cerebral palsy association which includes the thirteen parishes in the fifth congressional district.

Sounds so high pitched that the human ear is unable to hear them can sterilize food, mix paints, kill germs, homogenize milk, clear away fog and smoke and wash clothes, says the American Hearing Aid Association.

Dedication Week To Be Conducted By Methodists

Methodist churches of the Monroe district will join with fellow Methodists throughout the nation in observing the Week of Dedication, February 28-March 7. It will be the denomination's sixth consecutive annual observance.

Purpose of the week is to deepen the spiritual life of members of the congregation as the Lenten season begins. An offering will be received for urgent needs in the church's mission fields at home and overseas, with special priority being given to a fund to bring Crusade scholars from other countries to study in the United States.

Dedication Week includes Ash Wednesday, March 3, and ends on the first Sunday in Lent, when the special offering will be taken. The offering, sent to the general treasurer of the Methodist Church, is used exclusively for the support of Week of Dedication projects.

Projects designated for aid this year are as follows:

Crusade Scholarship fund, $100,000; Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief.

Sick In Bed But Attends Classes

HARRISONBURG, Va., Feb. 20 —UP— Eleven-year-old Timmy Lowe, sick in bed here with yellow jaundice, will attend school by radio.

Timmy's dad, Ira T. Lowe, who is a combination radio engineer-announcer, rigged up a two-way communication system from Timmy's bedside to the fifth grade classroom where the youngster is enrolled.

Timmy wasn't too happy about the matter. "What's the sense in being sick if you gotta go to school?" he asked.

Plan Workshop On Exceptional Children Here

Robert William Haacker, director of the Caddo school for exceptional children in Shreveport, will be the principal speaker at an educational program which has been arranged by the Cerebral Palsy Association Monday at 8 p.m. at Ouachita Parish High School auditorium, to which the public of Monroe, West Monroe and the Fifth Congressional District is invited.

Mr. Haacker will discuss the cerebral palsied child and he will show a film to illustrate his talk.

Mr. Haacker was born in Chicago. He attended Crane Technical High School and upon graduation, entered Northern Illinois State Teachers College. He received his B. S. degree in the area of chemistry and education with minor in math and psychology.

He then taught chemistry at the Marshall High School in Chicago. Later he attended the State University of Iowa, where he received his M. A. degree in the area of special education under the able sponsorship of Dr. J. B. Stroud, professor of education and psychology.

Mr. Haacker then began work with severely physically handicapped children at the hospital school in Iowa City and also at the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital in Chicago. His thesis is now in the process of being published and is entitled "The Education of the Cerebral Palsied."

He then moved westward to Spencer, Ia., locating in the extreme northwest corner of the state where he assumed the position of director of remedial reading. After several years, he was advanced to supervisor of special education for a three county area covering approximately 1400 square miles. In this position he provided educational facilities, transportation, and diagnostic work for the mentally retarded, visually, auditorially, physically, emotionally, and socially handicapped. This work was extremely interesting and challenging.

In September, 1952, he assumed the position of director of the Caddo School for Exceptional Children. Since his graduation he has spent every summer attending State University of Iowa and Northwestern University taking work toward his Ph. D. degree in the area of special education.

Mrs. Haacker also is employed at the Caddo School for Exceptional Children as a speech therapist. Both Mr. and Mrs. Haacker have been very active in various civic and community organizations and church work.

Also appearing on the same program will be Dr. Malcolm Kaffie, president of Caddo Foundation in Shreveport and other members of his staff.

There will be no admission and no contributions taken up. Mr. Sam Rubin, board member of UCPA of northeast Louisiana and chairman of this program, urges all to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the speaker and see the film and to learn more of what cerebral palsy is, what is being done and what can be done for affected persons.

J. Y. Pipes, Jr., is president of the local cerebral palsy association which includes the thirteen parishes in the fifth congressional district.

Sounds so high pitched that the human ear is unable to hear them can sterilize food, mix paints, kill germs, homogenize milk, clear away fog and smoke and wash clothes, says the American Hearing Aid Association.

Miss Ellen Fontenot Weds Willis DeWitt Boatright In Candlelight Ceremony

Dignity and simplicity marked the setting for the wedding of Miss Ellen Fontenot and Willis Dewitt Boatright who exchanged vows Sunday afternoon, February 14, at three o'clock in the First Baptist Church of this city.

The double-ring ceremony was said by the Rev. James T. Horton before an altar decorated with graceful bouquets of white gladioli standing tall against a dark green background with myriads of white tapers in slender branched candelabra forming an arch of light which illuminated the scene. Lighting the candles were Tommy Leos and Lyndell Thrower.

A concert of nuptial music was given by Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, church organist, and Elvie M. Wooten, vocalist. Mrs. Allbritton accompanied Mr. Wooten as he sang, "I Love Thee" and "Because." The traditional wedding music, "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and "Recessional" by Mendelssohn were used.

The bride entered with her brother, Calvin Fontenot, who gave her in marriage. Her dress of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin featured a sheared, slim bodice with a high neckline embroidered in seed pearls. Tiny covered buttons fastened the bodice and were repeated on the long fitted sleeves which came to lily points over the wrists. The voluminous chapel length skirt of tulle posed over satin was richly appliqued in lace. Her finger tip veil fell from a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and she wore white satin slippers.

A white orchid with a shower of stephanotis blossoms topped her white Bible. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She also carried a dainty French lace handkerchief of historic significance, which was sent from France to Mrs. H. K. Touchstone by the late H. K. Touchstone during World War I. The traditional six-pence in her shoe, was previously worn by Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr. on her wedding day.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. William Endy, Jr. of Pottstown, Pa., whose dress was of pink taffeta, fashioned with a low neckline and fitted bodice with brief sleeves, and full chapel length skirt. She wore a matching taffeta hat with long mitts. Her shoes were of matching satin. A nosegay of pink asters centered with a touch of blue complimented her ensemble.

Mark Boatright was best man for his brother, and ushers were Danny Sullivan, Tommy Leos, and Lyndell Thrower.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mrs. Nelson Abell, Sr. with whom the bride has made her home since coming to Monroe, was hostess at a reception in the church parlors which were beautifully decorated with a profusion of smilax and other greenery and white spring flowers with white camellias.

The bride and groom received with Mrs. Abell. The bride's table was elegant with an imported cut work cloth adorned with clusters of white camellias and fern extending gracefully the length of the cloth.

At opposite ends were single five-branch silver candelabra entwined with flower blossoms and satin streamers and an embossed four-tiered wedding cake on a reflector.

A bridal bouquet centered the artistically arranged table.

Miss Margaret Ann Tatum served the cake. Mrs. Herbert Breard, Sr., and Miss Grace Carter served punch from adjacent tables.

Mrs. A. L. Tatum presided at the bride's register.

Others assisting in extending courtesies were: Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. H. Roye, Mrs. Brady Dean, Mrs. H. K. Litton, Miss Wilma Smith, Mrs. Forrest Seaman, Mrs. Lyndell Thrower, Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Mrs. W. A. Brothers, Mrs. Harry Hebert, Mrs. A. D. Foreman, III, Mrs. W. Mann, Mrs. M. B. Reynolds, Mrs. Raymond Potter, Mrs. Richard Cryar, Mrs. Tom Leos, Mrs. H. O. Colley and Mrs. M. V. Hargrove.

After their trip the young couple will be at home at 305 Arkansas Avenue in Monroe.

Guests attending the wedding from out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes, Corydon, Ky.; Mrs. William Endy, Jr. and little Billy Endy, III, Pottstown, Pa.; Mrs. H. O. Colley, Ruston; Mrs. Y. L. Rehearsal Supper

Decorations in the Touchstone home on College Avenue carried out a spring theme. Lovely arrays of camellias were tastefully displayed throughout the reception rooms.

The table overlaid with a cut-work cloth was elegant with the central floral decor flanked on either side by tapers in five-branch silver candelabra.

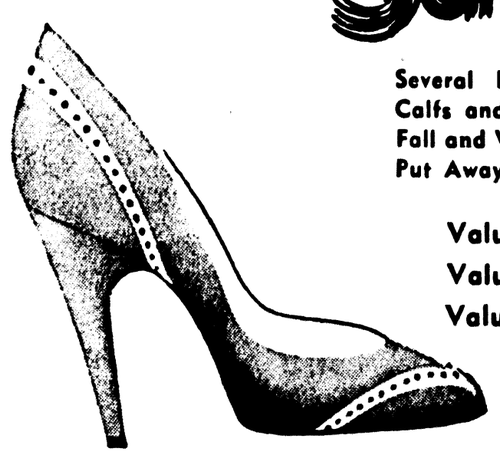

Mrs. M. V. Hargrove and Mrs. Lucius G. Hughes presided at the coffee and tea services.

Miss Ellen Fontenot Weds Willis DeWitt Boatright In Candlelight Ceremony

Dignity and simplicity marked the setting for the wedding of Miss Ellen Fontenot and Willis Dewitt Boatright who exchanged vows Sunday afternoon, February 14, at three o'clock in the First Baptist Church of this city.

The double-ring ceremony was said by the Rev. James T. Horton before an altar decorated with graceful bouquets of white gladioli standing tall against a dark green background with myriads of white tapers in slender branched candelabra forming an arch of light which illuminated the scene. Lighting the candles were Tommy Leos and Lyndell Thrower.

A concert of nuptial music was given by Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, church organist, and Elvie M. Wooten, vocalist. Mrs. Allbritton accompanied Mr. Wooten as he sang, "I Love Thee" and "Because." The traditional wedding music, "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and "Recessional" by Mendelssohn were used.

The bride entered with her brother, Calvin Fontenot, who gave her in marriage. Her dress of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin featured a sheared, slim bodice with a high neckline embroidered in seed pearls. Tiny covered buttons fastened the bodice and were repeated on the long fitted sleeves which came to lily points over the wrists. The voluminous chapel length skirt of tulle posed over satin was richly appliqued in lace. Her finger tip veil fell from a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and she wore white satin slippers.

A white orchid with a shower of stephanotis blossoms topped her white Bible. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She also carried a dainty French lace handkerchief of historic significance, which was sent from France to Mrs. H. K. Touchstone by the late H. K. Touchstone during World War I. The traditional six-pence in her shoe, was previously worn by Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr. on her wedding day.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. William Endy, Jr. of Pottstown, Pa., whose dress was of pink taffeta, fashioned with a low neckline and fitted bodice with brief sleeves, and full chapel length skirt. She wore a matching taffeta hat with long mitts. Her shoes were of matching satin. A nosegay of pink asters centered with a touch of blue complimented her ensemble.

Mark Boatright was best man for his brother, and ushers were Danny Sullivan, Tommy Leos, and Lyndell Thrower.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mrs. Nelson Abell, Sr. with whom the bride has made her home since coming to Monroe, was hostess at a reception in the church parlors which were beautifully decorated with a profusion of smilax and other greenery and white spring flowers with white camellias.

The bride and groom received with Mrs. Abell. The bride's table was elegant with an imported cut work cloth adorned with clusters of white camellias and fern extending gracefully the length of the cloth.

At opposite ends were single five-branch silver candelabra entwined with flower blossoms and satin streamers and an embossed four-tiered wedding cake on a reflector.

A bridal bouquet centered the artistically arranged table.

Miss Margaret Ann Tatum served the cake. Mrs. Herbert Breard, Sr., and Miss Grace Carter served punch from adjacent tables.

Mrs. A. L. Tatum presided at the bride's register.

Others assisting in extending courtesies were: Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. H. Roye, Mrs. Brady Dean, Mrs. H. K. Litton, Miss Wilma Smith, Mrs. Forrest Seaman, Mrs. Lyndell Thrower, Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Mrs. W. A. Brothers, Mrs. Harry Hebert, Mrs. A. D. Foreman, III, Mrs. W. Mann, Mrs. M. B. Reynolds, Mrs. Raymond Potter, Mrs. Richard Cryar, Mrs. Tom Leos, Mrs. H. O. Colley and Mrs. M. V. Hargrove.

After their trip the young couple will be at home at 305 Arkansas Avenue in Monroe.

Guests attending the wedding from out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes, Corydon, Ky.; Mrs. William Endy, Jr. and little Billy Endy, III, Pottstown, Pa.; Mrs. H. O. Colley, Ruston; Mrs. Y. L. Fontenot and Mrs. Albert Kreger, Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Small, Miss Nina Belle Small, and Miss Lola Dyer, Oakdale; Miss Lola Cooper, Port Allen; Miss Nan Claire Fontenot and Miss Clevie Ann Fontenot, Vinton; Mr. and Mrs. Elton Brazzeal, Yazoo City, Miss.; Mrs. Grady Kennedy, and Mrs. N. G. Brazzeal, Farmerville; Mrs. B. C. Dean, Sterlington; Miss Beverly Arrant, Bastrop.

Rehearsal Supper

Mrs. H. K. Touchstone and Mrs. Herbert Breard, Sr. hosted the bridal party and close friends at a buffet super following the rehearsal for the Fontenot-Boatright wedding Saturday evening.

Decorations in the Touchstone home on College Avenue carried out a spring theme. Lovely arrays of camellias were tastefully displayed throughout the reception rooms.

The table overlaid with a cut-work cloth was elegant with the central floral decor flanked on either side by tapers in five-branch silver candelabra.

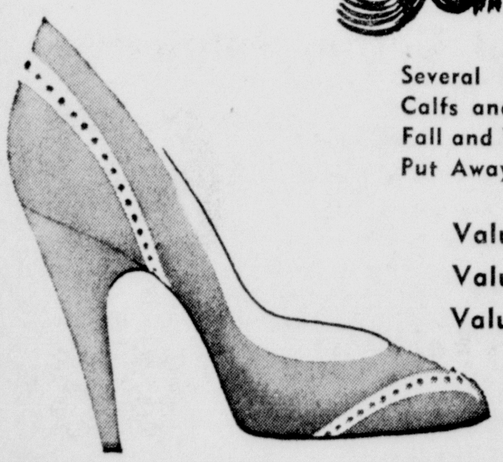

Mrs. M. V. Hargrove and Mrs. Lucius G. Hughes presided at the coffee and tea services.

The hostesses were assisted in serving by Miss Helen Touchstone and Miss Jan Touchstone, young granddaughters of Mrs. Touchstone.

Those sharing the hospitality of the hostesses along with the honor guest were: Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Abell, Jr., Mrs. Nelson Abell, Sr., Mrs. William Endy, Sr., Miss Clevie Ann Fontenot, Miss Nan Claire Fontenot, Mr. and Mrs. B. Keep the fireside look out of home sewing:

To sew this spring we must use interfacing to get the built - in shape we see in ready - made garments. Now that the whole trend of fashion is shaped from within, the application of interfacing can make all the difference between a "limp" and a "lush" fashion. The stand away necklines, beltless princess dress, empire or raised waist line are produced by using interfacing. Some of these garments call for interfacing from bosom to hem The smart topper coat is interfaced the entire body of the garment. If your pattern says interface — use it. Check on the various kinds on the market. Buy the type which can be washed if you are using it in a wash garment.

PRINTS

Prints can be found in many patterns ranging from the traditional dots, neat geometrics, sensational flowers, to vegetables, fruits, paisley, marble etc. But before buying a printed pattern, check to see if the print is "grain perfect." Nothing can be done to straighten a print that is "off grain." The appearance of the finished garment may be affected by the printed design.

CREASE RESISTANT MATERIALS

Crease resistant, blended and man - made fabrics are hard to cut because their surface is slick. Avoid cutting into the seam allowances. Allow more seam than the pattern company does on fabrics that fray. Easing in fullness is hard to handle when material is stiff and crisp Better choose a pattern that does not require such treatment. Yokes with gathers and designs that call for easing one piece on to another are not for material that has no "give."

GARDEN

There's much to be done in the garden — vegetable or landscape. If you haven't fertilized your shrubs, do it now. Broadcast over the bed 1¼ pounds of 8-8-8 for each 40 square feet of bed. When you mulch apply a top dressing of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia just before or just after a rain, or water it well in with the hose. Don't forget your trees. Use one pound of a complete fertilizer 8-8-8 or 5-10-5 for each year of tree's age. Make holes with a crow bar and then apply fertilizer.

PRUNING

Proper pruning is one of the most neglected, yet one of the most important of all good garden practices. There are several reasons for pruning shrubs, namely:

1. To shape plant and control size.

2. To stimulate the growth of new wood.

3. To maintain a healthful and vigorous plant by removing dead or dying wood, criss - cross branches, and,

4. To obtain flowers — more or better ones.

The bulletin on "Take Care of Your Plants" will give you information on pruning — call 3-2252 for a copy.

Transplanting

This is time to complete your plant "lifting." If you are a new gardener, you need the bulletin "Choose Your Plants Wisely." You'll be wise to follow the recommendations given in this bulletin when making your choice of plants. It also, tells the size the plant will grow to be and where it is best to use each plant. You may get this bulletin from the extension service at the Agricultural Building, West Monroe.

Strawberries

It's time to scrape around strawberries and straw around them They're beginning to bloom now. If your plants are not growing well a light side dressing of nitrate of soda will get them growing, but do it now.

See you next week.

MRS. RONALD WALLACE DAVENPORT

Sharon Anderson Becomes Bride Of Ronald Davenport

The Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church in Houston, Tex., was the setting for the impressive double ring ceremony uniting Miss Sharon Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Anderson of this city, and Ronald Wallace Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Davenport of Houston. The vows were read by Dr. Charles L. King at six o'clock Saturday evening, February 20.

Artistic arrangements of white gladioli decorated the altars of the chapel.

Mr. Charles W. Pabor rendered an organ prelude of nuptial music before the ceremony.

Lafayette Azalea Trail Opens February 25th

The famous Lafayette azalea trail, called one of the greatest floral treats in the south, will officially begin February 25, according to Mr. Charles A. Mouton, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce azalea trail committee. Barring unforseen interference from cold and inclement weather, the flowers should be at their peak for a period of about two weeks.

The azalea trail will cover approximately 20 miles of floral and scenic splendor. This, in addition to the many other early spring flowers and blossoming trees, should enable Lafayette to offer tourists one of the most beautiful floral displays to be found in the country, Chairman Moutin stated.

The azalea is claimed to be a native of East Asia and brought to the Gulf Coast by missionaries over two centures ago. Some of the largest bushes still blooming around Lafayette are over a half century old. There are 50 distinct species plus a number of botanical varieties originated as bud sprouts.

The Chamber of Commerce announced that greater publicity over a wider area is being given Lafayette azalea trail this year. All major newspapers within a four-state area are being mailed publicity, in addition to other azalea trail literature.

"Lafayette should be crowded with tourists for the next few weeks and local citizens are urged to assist whenever the opportunity presents itself" stated R. J. Castille, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Information booths at all major highways entering Lafayette will be installed as an added convenience to tourists. This, according to Louis Michot manager, will aid tourists in locating the trail as well as serving as a distribution booth for literature.

The chamber also called attention to the assistance being given this year by the Jaycees who will handle the marking and maintenance of the trail signs, as well as the assistance rendered by the Lafayette Garden Club which will decide the route of the trail.

MRS. RONALD WALLACE DAVENPORT

Sharon Anderson Becomes Bride Of Ronald Davenport

The Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church in Houston, Tex., was the setting for the impressive double ring ceremony uniting Miss Sharon Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Anderson of this city, and Ronald Wallace Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Davenport of Houston. The vows were read by Dr. Charles L. King at six o'clock Saturday evening, February 20.

Artistic arrangements of white gladioli decorated the altars of the chapel.

Mr. Charles W. Pabor rendered an organ prelude of nuptial music before the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a becoming powder blue suit with a jeweled collar. She wore a white satin hat trimmed in pearls and a corsage of white orchids.

Miss Jan Porter of Houston, a cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a pink velveteen suit with blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Richard Davenport of San Antonio, Tex., brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Venetian room of the Shamrock Hotel. After their wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 3233 Purdue Street, Houston, Tex.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Anderson, Mr. Glen W. Anderson, Mr. Kerry Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Kent Anderson, all of Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana State University where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Davenport graduated from Texas A. and M. College.

Lafayette Azalea Trail Opens February 25th

The famous Lafayette azalea trail, called one of the greatest floral treats in the south, will officially begin February 25, according to Mr. Charles A. Mouton, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce azalea trail committee. Barring unforseen interference from cold and inclement weather, the flowers should be at their peak for a period of about two weeks.

The azalea trail will cover approximately 20 miles of floral and scenic splendor. This, in addition to the many other early spring flowers and blossoming trees, should enable Lafayette to offer tourists one of the most beautiful floral displays to be found in the country, Chairman Moutin stated.

The azalea is claimed to be a native of East Asia and brought to the Gulf Coast by missionaries over two centures ago. Some of the largest bushes still blooming around Lafayette are over a half century old. There are 50 distinct species plus a number of botanical varieties originated as bud sprouts.

Azaleas in all sizes, dwarf to jumbo, in colors from white, salmon, lavender, pale pink to bright red can be seen on the well marked azalea trail which winds along the paved and black topped streets of Lafayette.

No admission charge is given to this annual floral trail conducted by the Chamber of commerce with assistance of the Garden Club. This permits thousands of nature lovers to enjoy this seasonal sight of beauty.

The Chamber of Commerce announced that greater publicity over a wider area is being given Lafayette azalea trail this year. All major newspapers within a four-state area are being mailed publicity, in addition to other azalea trail literature.

"Lafayette should be crowded with tourists for the next few weeks and local citizens are urged to assist whenever the opportunity presents itself" stated R. J. Castille, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Information booths at all major highways entering Lafayette will be installed as an added convenience to tourists. This, according to Louis Michot, manager, will aid tourists in locating the trail as well as serving as a distribution booth for literature.

The chamber also called attention to the assistance being given this year by the Jaycees who will handle the marking and maintenance of the trail signs, as well as the assistance rendered by the Lafayette Garden Club which will decide the route of the trail.

Girl Scout News

The recently cleared land at Pine Wood now has sprouted a border of green, the pine seedlings Scouts have planted during the past several weeks. Let's join the Scouts in hoping that many of them will live. Last Saturday, being another pretty day, found many groups of girls at camp, hiking and playing, cooking, laying and following trails as well as planting a few trees each.

Troop 35 had spent the night under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Riser and Mrs. W. R. Lindsay. It was a cold night, but a fire in the fireplace made the big room cozy for games and dramatics. The cook patrol cooked a one-pot dish for supper and the girls pulled the tables close to the fire for their meal. Instead of having dessert at meal time, the girls enjoyed popcorn and toasted marshmallows later in the evening.

Nobody was hardy enough to suggest sleeping on the porch. Dropping off to sleep by the light of the dying fire was a new experience for the girls, the leader says. After the nine hours of sleep that is the rule for campers, the girls were ready for a full day in the out-of-doors. Breadtwists for breakfast are practically a must for campers at Pine Wood, and Troop 35 had no wish to be an exception.

There is always something new to see along the way, so a hike to the river never fails to attract the girls, whatever the season. On the way back to camp the girls cut sticks from the persimmon trees in the field to use in lashing a table. Around the fire Friday night the girls had practiced lashing sticks together. Time was against them, however, and they didn't get to start the table. Well, that will give them a reason to go back again.

Girls who took part in the overnight trip are: Mary Elizabeth Fontenot, Beth Lewis Jo Ann Lindsay, Mary Martin, Barbara McCurry, Linda Reeves Patsy Riser, Doris Sanders, Sheila Watson, and Mary Elizabeth Windham.

Troop 10 had a big day at Pine Wood, it seems, using the occasion to fulfill many requirements on outdoor badges. They baked potatoes, wrapped in wet brown paper, in the coals of Troop 35's breakfast fire, and like Billy Boy's intended wife, they baked a cherry pie, on a reflector oven, of course.

Highlight of the troop's day at camp, according to Helen Lewis and Camille Yeldell, who accompanied the girls, was the trail laid by Peggy Pierce and followed by the rest of the girls. The girls from Troop 10 are: Mary Lou Clay, Lucy Anne Fletcher, Ruth Johnston, Saundra Knowles, Sandra Lea, Lynne Lewis, Patty Prophit, Betty Slaughter, Ellen Wedemeyer, and Francis Louise Yeldell.

Some of the other troops at camp Saturday were Troop 21 with Mrs. Raymond Boyd, Troop 31 with Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. J. L. Norris girls from Troops 2, 15, 27 and 37-maybe others we didn't hear about.

The Girl Planning Board met with Lucy Huckabee in the campfire circle to discuss the birthday program on March 7.

You've been hearing the rumor; now it's ready to be known, Ethel Easterling, established camp chairman says. There will be a two-week camp for our girls at Wawbansee, Shreveport's beautiful camp near Arcadia. August 15-29 are the probably dates.

MRS. CLAYTON JAMES JR.

Annell West, Clayton James Pledge Troth In Afternoon

A wedding marked by beauty and simplicity was that of Miss Annell West, daughter of Mrs. L. L. West and the late Mr. West of Columbia and Clayton James Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton James of Long Lake which was solemnized late in January at the First Methodist Church in Columbia. Reverend Sam Holladay performed the impressive double ring ceremony. Mrs. Earl Harris at the organ rendered a concert of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Daisy Mae Jones who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The vows were exchanged before a wedding arch of green. Floor baskets of white gladioli and candelabra holding burning white tapers formed the background for the bridal party. White satin bows marked the pews for the family and out - of - town guests.

Miss Lane West, sister of the bride served as maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a dress of confederate blue linen and a matching flower hat completed her costume. She carried a nosegay fashioned of sweetheart roses.

The bride was lovely in an imported navy linen suit with pale pink jewelled neckline blouse. Her hat was of pale pink flowers and net and her bouquet was heart-shaped and centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. James, the bridegroom's mother, chose a navy suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the social rooms of the church, which was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and stock. Mrs. West, the parents of the bridegroom, and the bridal party received the guests. Mrs. Huey Gregory presided over the guest register.

The bride's table was centered with the tiered wedding cake surrounded by pink camellias. Miss Jo Ann James served the cake and Miss Caroline Coates presided over the punch bowl. Others assisting were Miss Mary Mack and Miss Bert Hearn.

Mrs. James graduated from Columbia High School and is attending Louisiana Tech in Ruston. She is a member of the senior class, Blue Jackets and Phi Mu social sorority and is an honorary member of Phi Kappa Phi.

Mr. James graduated from Columbia High School and is attending law school at Louisiana State University.

Your Hands Need Care

Why is it that the sight of dirty hands is so unpleasant? A smudge on a face in some instance may seem amusing, but soiled hands never fail to make a bad impression.

Because of the work they engage in, some people just cannot avoid having dirty hands a good part of the day. As frequent as are their trips to the wash basin, they suffer this problem.

But, teen-agers, it would seem that you do not have such an excuse. And it is true that many of you do go through a day with hands you should use a nail brush and lots of sudsy warm water. Really work at those fingernails.

While drying your hands, push back the cuticles with the towel. A few times during the day massage in a bit of hand cream.

Your Hands Need Care

Why is it that the sight of dirty hands is so unpleasant? A smudge on a face in some instance may seem amusing, but soiled hands never fail to make a bad impression.

Because of the work they engage in, some people just cannot avoid having dirty hands a good part of the day. As frequent as are their trips to the wash basin, they suffer this problem.

But, teen-agers, it would seem that you do not have such an excuse. And it is true that many of you do go through a day with hands you should use a nail brush and lots of sudsy warm water. Really work at those fingernails.

While drying your hands, push back the cuticles with the towel. A few times during the day massage in a bit of hand cream.

Fashion Shop On St. John Street To Open Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Behr, in the millinery business in Monroe the past 20 years, will launch a new project here Monday at 9 a.m. with the opening of Allen's Fashion Shop at 108-110 St. John street.

Formerly exclusively millinery and bags, the new store will be a "shop of shops," according to Behr, co-owner and general manager.

"Each separate division of ladies' apparel will be a shop of its own," Behr said, "with each shop specializing in its particular field with special services answering special needs."

Behr said the store will stock everything in ladies' wear, including dresses, lingerie, hats, hosiery, bags and sportswear. Only ladies' shoes will be excepted.

"We intend to serve full figures as well as teen-agers, career girls as well as housewives, grandmothers as well as the younger set," Behr went on, "and we'll feature outstanding fashion values in each of these lines at all times."

The store manager, who, with his wife, has operated Allens' Millinery at the same location the last six years and on DeSiard for 14 years, where Walgreen's now stands, said prizes will be given at the opening on Monday.

"Each person will register in the store," he said, "and later different items of wearing apparel will be given as prizes."

He said eight or nine different wearing items will be given away and a pound of coffee will be given with each purchase of $5 or more in merchandise.

Behr emphasized that the new, enlarged personnel will "give the same friendly service which has been our custom."

The apparel shops will be managed by Mrs. Helen Blanchard, who will also act as buyer. Mrs. Blanchard is well known in ready-to-wear circles in Monroe, having been connected with some of Monroe's well known ready-to-wear shops. She is active in civic and club work and patrons will find her eager to help them in the selection of the proper attire.

Mrs. Behr, he said, will head the staff and act as buyer for the millinery shop. Mrs. Vivian Carter and Miss Lena Sciara will be salesladies in the new shop, Mrs. Alda Mae Russell will be in alterations, and Miss Gladys Brady will be in the office. Mrs. Irene McClain will be employed with Mrs. Behr in the millinery shop.

Behr said the store will feature nationally advertised lines in each of its different shops.

Rainer-Hadskey Vows Said In Double Ring Ceremony

In an impressive candle-light ceremony at 7:30 on the evening of February 6, Miss Mildred Wyolene Hadskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cameron Hadskey of McNair, Miss., became the bride of Mr. Thomas Edgar Rainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rainer of West Monroe.

The Rev. Mac Hart of Fayette, Miss., officiated for the double ring ceremony which was solemnized in the Oldenburg Presbyterian church in Oldenburg, Miss.

The altar, surrounded by an array of magnolia leaves and trailing ivy, was centered with two seven-branched candelabra and a tall basket of pink gladiolas and pink stock. Two smaller baskets and large ferns were at each side, flanked by six other seven-branched candelabra containing myriads of candles, the background was of greenery. Pink satin bows marked pews for the family.

Preceeding the ceremony, Miss Kathy Lehmann, cousin of the bride, played several pre-nuptial selections. Then Miss Helen White gave a pre-nuptial concert of traditional wedding music, which included "I Love You Truly," "How Much Do I Love Thee?", a reading was given by Miss Betty Sue Rocket from Rayville.

Mr. Glynn Hadskey, brother of the bride, and Mrs. Maxine Prather, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a light pink topper style suit. The suit was fashioned with a tiny pleated skirt, a fitted bodice and a pink suit coat, cutaway in front with shawl effect. The "butterfly" sleeve was brought together at the wrist with round pink buttons. Her white hat was accented with ruffles of nylon net and a veil. The bride's only jewelry was a locket that belonged to her great-grandmother.

The bride carried a white Bible topped by a pink orchid with a purple throat, set in puffs of nylon net.

Mr. William Bernard Nelson of West Monroe served the groom as best man. Ushers were Mr. Glynn Hadskey and Mr. Maxine Prather.

Mrs. Henry Cameron Hadskey, mother of the bride, was attired in a lavender suit. She wore black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. James E. Rainer, chose a light blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Reception Held

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. Pink floral arrangements were used throughout the room.

The bride's book,, presided over by Mrs. J. H Rainer, from Monroe, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Thelma Parsons, West Monroe, centered a table covered with a banquet cloth. It contained a three-branched crystal candelabra bra, tied with a pink satin bow and an arrangement of pink camellias and purple magnolias.

The bride's table was overlaid with a cut work cloth and centered with a white three - tiered wedding cake, with embossed designs. The cake, surrounded by pink camellias and greenery, was topped with a miniature bride and groom which was overshadowed with lilies-of-the-valley. Nut compotes and two thee-bdanched crystal candelabra were at each end of the table. Mrs. John William Hadskey, sister-in-law of the bride, served the cake.

At one end of the table, Mrs. Armenia Farr from Roxie, Miss., aunt of the bride, served punch from its crystal bowl, surrounded by pink flowers and greenery. A white background contained trailing ivy. Tea girls were Miss Esther Hadskey, sister of the bride; Miss Kathy Lehmann and Miss Katherine Owens, cousins of the bride; and Miss Millie Bush.

This community will join in prayer with the United Church Women of Monroe and West Monroe for world peace on Friday, March 5, with Christians in 20,000 other U. S. communities and in more than a hundred countries around the world. For the 67th successive year the World Day of Prayer will be observed on this day.

On the World Day of Prayer, March 5, prayers will rise in hundreds of world's languages and dialects, asking that the churches "speak the word of healing to this troubled world"; that the United Nations may "be given the grace to work together"; that the "leaders of the nations of the world" may be given wisdom to work for peace.

The World Day of Prayer, held on the first Friday in Lent each year, is an observance that dates back to 1887, when a Presbyterian woman in Boston called for a nationwide day of prayer for home missions.

Today the World Day of Prayer is observed by people of almost every Christian church around the globe. It is sponsored in this country by the United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., and by state and local councils of church women and special prayer groups across the country.

Offerings from World Day of Prayer services support church enterprises in many nations. In the U. S., yearly offerings of more than a quarter of a million dollars are shared among interdenominational mission projects at home and overseas, as a practical expression of Christian brotherhood.

World Day of Prayer services in this country are held in churches, schools, hospitals, and other institutions; in fields where migratory farm workers are going out to pick the crops; in trailer camps spread around new defense installations. The day itself is marked in many places by proclamations from mayors and governors, by the ringing of church bells and the closing of business establishments and sometimes by public prayer in the streets and squares.

The United Church Women will sponsor three observances to be held for World Day of Prayer. The morning meeting will be in the First Methodist Church of Monroe at 10 o'clock with Mrs. D. C. Metcalf as chairman and Mrs. D. V. Loflin, Jr., as leader.

The three children's observances will be at 3:30 o'clock in the following churches with Mrs. Charles Chisholm, general chairman; First Presbyterian Church, St. Paul's Methodist Church and West Monroe First Methodist Church.

The night meeting will be held at the First Christian Church with Mrs. Cecil Massey as leader for the business women of the city. Men and women are invited to attend the morning and the evening meeting.

Mrs. Dana Dawson of Topeka, Kan., will hold a retreat on March 4, from 10 until 12 o'clock at St. Paul's Methodist Church preceding World Day of Prayer on Friday. Women in Monroe and the outlying area are invited to attend the retreat and hear Mrs. Dawson.

Colored sugar may be sprinkled on cup cakes or cookies for small-fry parties. To prepare the sugar, measure a half cup into a small bowl. Blend in 6 drops of vegetable food coloring with a fork if you want a light color, 12 drops for medium color, and 24 drops for dark color. Allow the sugar to dry on waxed paper at room temperature. Use beet or cane sugar, it makes no difference!

Rainer-Hadskey Vows Said In Double Ring Ceremony

In an impressive candle-light ceremony at 7:30 on the evening of February 6, Miss Mildred Wyolene Hadskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cameron Hadskey of McNair, Miss., became the bride of Mr. Thomas Edgar Rainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rainer of West Monroe.

The Rev. Mac Hart of Fayette, Miss., officiated for the double ring ceremony which was solemnized in the Oldenburg Presbyterian church in Oldenburg, Miss.

The altar, surrounded by an array of magnolia leaves and trailing ivy, was centered with two seven-branched candelabra and a tall basket of pink gladiolas and pink stock. Two smaller baskets and large ferns were at each side. Flanked by six other seven-branched candelabra containing myriads of candles, the background was of greenery. Pink satin bows marked pews for the family.

Preceeding the ceremony, Miss Kathy Lehmann, cousin of the bride, played several pre-nuptial selections. Then Miss Helen White gave a pre-nuptial concert of traditional wedding music, which included "I Love You Truly." "How Much Do I Love Thee?", a reading was given by Miss Betty Sue Rocket from Rayville.

Mr. Glynn Hadskey, brother of the bride, and Mrs. Maxine Prather, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a light pink topper style suit. The suit was fashioned with a tiny pleated skirt, a fitted bodice and a pink suit coat, cutaway in front with shawl effect. The "butterfly" sleeve was brought together at the wrist with round pink buttons. Her white hat was accented with ruffles of nylon net and a veil. The bride's only jewelry was a locket that belonged to her great-grandmother.

The bride carried a white Bible topped by a pink orchid with a purple throat, set in puffs of nylon net.

Miss Edwina Farr, cousin of the bride from Roxie, Miss., was her only attendant. She wore a light blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. William Bernard Nelson of West Monroe served the groom as best man. Ushers were Mr. Glynn Hadskey and Mr. Maxine Prather.

Mrs. Henry Cameron Hadskey, mother of the bride, was attired in a lavender suit. She wore black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. James E. Rainer, chose a light blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Reception Held

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. Pink floral arrangements were used throughout the room.

The bride's book,, presided over by Mrs. J. H Rainer, from Monroe, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Thelma Parsons, West Monroe, centered a table covered with a banquet cloth. It contained a three-branched crystal candelabra bra, tied with a pink satin bow and an arrangement of pink camellias and purple magnolias.

The bride's table was overlaid with a cut work cloth and centered with a white three - tiered wedding cake, with embossed designs. The cake, surrounded by pink camellias and greenery, was topped with a miniature bride and groom which was overshadowed with lilies-of-the-valley. Nut compotes and two thee-bdanched crystal candelabra were at each end of the table. Mrs. John' William Hadskey, sister-in-law of the bride, served the cake.

At one end of the table, Mrs. Armenia Farr from Roxie, Miss., aunt of the bride, served punch from its crystal bowl, surrounded by pink flowers and greenery. A white background contained trailing ivy. Tea girls were Miss Esther Hadskey, sister of the bride; Miss Kathy Lehmann and Miss Katherine Owens, cousins of the bride; and Miss Millie Bush.

Mrs. Rainer, a home economics education major, completed her work for a Bachelor of Science degree at Northeast State in January. At Northeast she was a member of the Gamma Zeta social sorority; Gold Jackets, honorary service organization, Future Teachers of America, and Home Economics Club.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: What Kind of laughter is meant concerning God in Psalm 2:4, "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh?" H. A. S.

ANSWER: There are many kinds of laughter. Some laughter is so spontaneous as to kindle the lips of all who stand near. Some laughter is so cynical as to chill the blood of the hearers. Solomon speaks of the laughter of fools, which is as the crackling of thorns under a pot. (Ecc. 7:6). Yet, there is another laughter which is neither gay nor bitter nor insane. It is the laughter of God. Four times in the Bible we have the record of this laughter of God and a study of the passages brings some sober, solemn teaching for us today.

Notice the moment when God laughs according to the Psalmist. In the midst of the harsh cry of mankind, shrieking out its rage against God, we read how God laughs. In other words, man reaches the place where he thinks that he can defy God, when he thinks that he can do what he likes and get away with it. Then is the moment when God laughs. The solmen teaching is that God today is dealing with men in grace, but the time is coming when, as Paul reminds us in his great address on Mars Hill, "He shall judge the world in righteousness by that man whom He hath ordained." (Acts 17:31) Well for us, is it, if we are prepared for that great day.

TEXAN REVIVAL LEADER— The Church of God, 809 Montgomery Street, West Monroe, will begin a revival, Sunday night, February 21, under the leadership of W. F. Ainsworth, widely known Evangelist throughout Louisiana and Texas. There will be healing services and special singing each night. Services will begin at 7:15. The public is cordially invited to attend. Reverend J. P. Nolan is pastor.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Messages:

0. Acts 23:11. Take courage, for as you have testified, so you must bear witness.
1. Rom. 12:13. Practice hospitality.
2. Matt. 7:11. If you then, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him?
3. Luke 12:48. Every one to whom much is given, of him will much be required; and of him to whom men commit much they will demand the more.
4. I Cor. 8:2. If anyone imagines that he knows something, he does not yet know as he ought to know. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

ART FROM NATURE

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—When artist Pansy Stockton gets ready to do a picture, she doesn't have to go to the art store for tubes of paint.

Her so-called "sun paintings" are made entirely from bits of coral, fiber, cork, milk-week fluff, dried vegetation and native materials, none artificially colored.

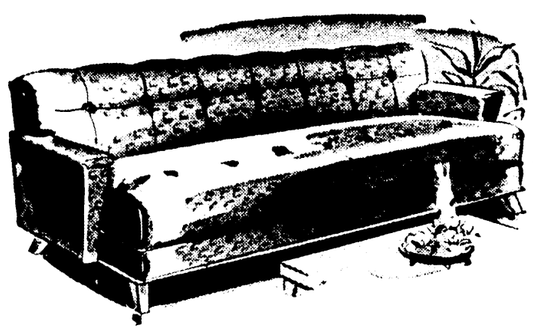

If you use glass or pottery cooking dishes, remember not to plunge them into cold water while they are still hot. Soak them to loosen any food that has crusted on them; if there are stubborn spots remove them with steel wool or other metal scourer.

L. Ball, D. Arnaz Are New Romantic Team

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, whose comedy adventures in the "I Love Lucy" series have made them the most popular and endearing couple in show business, now join forces on the screen in M-G-M's uproarious Ansco Color picture, "The Long, Long Trailer," currently showing at the Jim Theatre.

Arnaz and Miss Ball again are seen as husband and wife, this time as Nick and Tacy Collini, newlyweds who embark on a cross-country honeymoon in a trailer. Their adventures, comic mishaps, semi-tragedies and countless crises, as they start out from California to Nick's engineering job in Colorado, are punctuated and punctured with one calamity-howling situation after the other in their valiant attempts to set up housekeeping in their dazzling but dangerous mobile mansion.

It begins when Tacy decides that, since her husband's job takes him to all parts of the country, it would be more efficient and economical to live on wheels. The young couple are soon disillusioned about the economy part when what starts out as $1,700 investment proves a $5,345 one, plus extras. But this is only the beginning of the headaches, backaches and heartaches!

Nicky's nerves are frayed right at the start by the hazards of maneuvering the trailer in traffic, to say nothing of parking it. There are the problems of packing all their possessions in the confined quarters, of cooking, taking a shower, maintaining their equilibrium on rocky roads. Their wedding night is ruined by the exuberant hospitality of fellow trailerites. At one point a cloudburst almost washes them away. They back over a rich aunt's prize rose bush. They're fined by a trailer-hating judge. It all reaches the climax of climaxes when Tacy's collection of rocks (she keeps them as sentimental souvenirs of the spots they've visited) overloads the trailer to the point where they are barely able to make the treacherous ascent of a mountain road. It is at this point that it seems as though the honeymoon will be a short-lived one, with Tacy running home to Mama. But all ends happily in the end, and Tacy and Nick once again hit the road, wagging their trailer behind them.

Lucille Ball as the well-meaning, loving but blundering wife, and Desi Arnaz as the perplexed, harassed but equally devoted husband, have become the nation's idea of the typical young married couple and they are completely captivating in their film roles. Marjorie Main adds to their laugh complications as Mrs. Hittaway, the amiable busybody who spoils their wedding night, and a helpful cast also includes Keenan Wynn as an irate traffic officer, Gladys Hurlbut as Tacy's mother, Marge Blake as Aunt Anastacia and Bert Freed as a loquacious trailer show foreman.

"The Long, Long Trailer" was directed by Vincente Minnelli and was produced by Pandro S. Berman, from a screen play by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett. This is the quartet who combined for the hilarious "Father of the Bride" and its sequel, "Father's Little Dividend." In the new Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz co-starrer they have managed to top even those two hilarity hits with an unequalled comedy gem.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, this is almost as important as being in love, because you marry the "whole darned family" and also the other's circle of friends. This is why having the same background is a better prediction of married happiness than romantic love. Our booklet, "How To Pick A Mate," has helped thousands solve their problems. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only), plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Often not. The grades of 385 college students were compared with their IQs. Those with the highest mental ability were the lowest achievers in proportion to their ability. Bright students can do a lot of loafing and still pass. Slower students have to work for what they get. They often outdo brighter ones in college and in life.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Probably, with many exceptions. Two psychologists found that among 7,897 young people those born between March 21-June 20 made slightly higher intelligence and personality scores, than those born between Dec. 21-March 20. The autumn-winter-born averaged slightly more extroverted, the spring-summer-born slightly more introverted. I was born in October! Those findings have no bearing on astrology.

How To Pick A Mate

What kind of a mate do YOU want? This booklet, a condensation of the famous book of the same name by psychologist and marriage counselor, Dr. Clifford Adams, includes practical tests for you and your prospective husband or wife—tests of personality, emotional maturity and love as distinguished from infatuation. For a copy of the booklet, HOW TO PICK A MATE, send 15 cents (coin only), (give name of city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of this newspaper.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lawman

Opera Star's Victory Inspiration For All Of Us

For many years now "Why Grow Old?" has been talking about the tremendous effect of overweight on personality. Of course there are charming exceptions but the average woman with too many pounds is self-conscious, talks about her figure constantly and too often does nothing about it. This is only human.

It interested me to discover recently beautiful proof that even the famous react vibrantly to a youthful figure. A few weeks ago when blond blue-eyed Claramae Turner, contralto of the Metropolitan and San Francisco Opera Associations, sang "Carmen" everyone was amazed because of her new streamlined figure.

Lost 50 Pounds

A visit backstage, after her triumphant performance, brought forth some fascinating comments from Miss Turner. She has lost 50 pounds and says she knows she looks ten years younger and feels even younger than that. It seems that her burning desire to sing "Carmen," and to look the part, started her on the road to weight reduction.

She asked, "What Don Jose would risk his career and his soul for a fat Carmen?" She continued with, "Carmen was my goal literally and figuratively, if you will forgive the pun. That mental image of the person I wanted to be sustained me past the temptations of hot fudge sundaes and bon bons, which I happen to relish."

Miss Turner returned to this country the seventh of February after an extremely successful month's tour of Europe. Today this svelte, attractive artist feels that shedding 50 pounds was the turning point in her career. She said, "Suddenly I was wearing the chiffons of Delilah and the bare midriffs of Amneris in 'Aida' and feeling perfectly at ease in them.

"Most remarkable of all, everyone says that my voice is better, I myself know that I feel better; never listless but filled with an exhilaration which makes my days a delight."

Now Pads Herself

Claramae Turner's 75 roles include only two in the glamour category, "Carmen" and "Delilah." Now she must pad all over for the many roles in which she plays an old woman. She even has to resort to false double chins.

This famous and lovely woman's experience emphasizes two fundamental truths. First, each woman must have some reason to want to lose those extra pounds. This may be a career, a man, or simply because she finds life so exciting that she feels that something wonderful may happen at any minute and wishes to be ready for it.

Two, I think it is most interesting that Miss Turner's voice has improved with her loss of weight. Of course this may come from better physical condition, but I suspect that it is due, in some part, to a more vibrant and uninhibited expression of her personality.

She is lovely and her experience is enough to put the pressure on all of us!

Movie Fans Change Little

By GILBERT ROLAND
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, February 20 — Hollywood and the movies have changed a lot during the past 25 years, but the movie fans — bless 'em — change very little from one generation to the next.

I think I know what I'm talking about. I now get fan letters from the daughters of fans who used to write to me a generation ago. They express themselves differently but the meaning is about the same.

Back in the late 'twenties they would write such things as "you're the cat's pajamas," or "our club thinks you're the bee's knees." A few years later the favorite phrase was "you're simply super."

Currently the daughters of the "cat's pajama" ladies write things like . . "in 'The French Line' you and Jane Russell were the most," or "man — you were real gone in that one." I think they mean approximately the same sentiments.

It's the movies themselves that have changed a lot in a generation or two, as any televiewer can tell you. A few minutes watching movies made only a few years ago points up the contrast between those and the current ones playing at your neighborhood theatre.

The dialogue sounds more like people, the actors' makeup looks more natural and, perhaps most of all, the actors act more like real people. Some of the love scenes I played with Norma Talmadge and other stars of the era — scenes which often brought floods of enthusiastic fan mail, would elicit nothing but hoots and laughter from today's audiences.

Back in the silent picture era you naturally had to make more gestures and play scenes more broadly than is required now when sound and voice inflections convey so much to audiences.

The mobile eye-brows, arm-waving, eye-rolling and deep breathing carried over into early sound pictures, and some of it persisted until recently. But more and more you'll find writer, producer, director and actors huddling as a team in an effort to get more naturalness into scenes, movements and dialogue.

Just now I'm working at RKO with Jane Russell, Richard Egan, and Lori Nelson in "The Big Rainbow." Almost daily we have brief huddles with Scenarist Walter Newman, Producer Harry Tatelman and Director John Sturges on the cooperative job we're doing.

Perhaps Jane will say: "This speech here — it's fine but it doesn't seem natural when I speak the lines this way."

"How would you say it?" the writer will ask, and Jane will tell him. "O. K.," Director Sturges will decide. "It means the same thing, say it in your own words."

Or Dick Egan or I will decide that a movement we're supposed to make seems awkward or left-handed. A quick conference nearly always results in our moving in a natural way, just so we arrive at the given point at the proper time.

Such things may seem minor to the layman, but often, added together, they make the difference between a stiffly enacted, artificial movie and one in which the audience feel it is participating in the unfolding of the story.

And such team-work is a far cry from the way we often made movies in the old days. I've played roles in which I had no idea why I was saying and doing the things I did. The director couldn't tell me because the producer and writer hadn't yet finished the script.

As one director — since "retired" — once told me when I asked why I was supposed to be sad on the eve of my wedding scene:"

"We haven't decided yet — but actors aren't hired to think or ask questions. Just get in there and act like I tell you."

If the results of this school of dramatics were sometimes confusing, we had comparatively few complaints from the customers, who were far less critical than those today.

I remember one time when we took a picture 100 miles from Hollywood to Santa Barbara, for a sneak preview. We arrived only a short time before our picture was to go on and only then discovered that we'd brought only 7 reels of an 8-reel picture. Somehow, Reel 4 had been left at the studio.

There was nothing to do but screen what we had, cross our fingers and pray — all of which we did. And do you know — at the finish of the preview the audience applauded loudly and we had not a single complaint on the fact that one-eighth of the story had been left out.

A few days later I received a letter from a Santa Barbara fan who had seen the preview and who wrote: "It's your best movie so far —even my boy-friend agrees you're the snakes hips."

I know — real crazy, but do you dig me, Jackson?

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am disgusted with your old-fashioned ideas concerning people like "Contented," the girl who was satisfied to remain single. For one thing, men nowadays aren't worth the powder to blow them up with; they are all out for all they can get and "Contented" is smart in resisting their so-called affections.

As for people feeling sorry for us career women ("old maids" as you prefer to call us) I think jealousy would be the better adjective! Most married people I know regret the day they ever put their necks into the marriage noose and eye us with envy because they weren't smart enough to hold onto the security, the chances to travel, the interesting, well-paying positions single girls like "Contented" and I have.

How can you brand her as selfish when she is only looking out for her personal security and happiness? (Which she'll have only as long as she doesn't take people like you seriously and give it all up for a lifetime of drudgery and insecurity!) Three cheers for "Contented," who is one person who realizes how well off she is.—J. L. A.

Dear Mrs. Landers: Your recent comments to a correspondent regarding men helping with the dishes and other chores when they are at home makes me wonder if you realize how men feel about such work?

At a small gathering at my home three weeks ago, I said I thought even though a woman had plenty of time to do her work during the day, it was more companionable for both husband and wife to do the dishes together at night. Later, when I asked my fiance to help me clean up after dinner, he was nice about helping with the dishes but when I asked him to get a mop and wipe up some water around the sink he said he would not do it but would gladly take his ring back . . . that he had seen enough. My girl friends now tell me I should have waited until after marriage to insist on the help when a wife has the whip-hand. But I think that is unfair; a man should know ahead what a woman might expect of him. I feel bad about this but am standing pat.—Betty R.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I agree wholeheartedly with "E. M.", the happy bachelor. I think a bachelor's life is the life of a king. There are no in-laws to boss you around, no nagging or arguments from the so-called loving wife; no kids to feed, clothe or worry about. As for my humble abode, it may not be the show place of the nation; it may leak when it rains or be a little untidy, but it's my sanctum sanctorum . . . and long may it be.—Another Happy Bachelor.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I agree with your reply to "Frosh" that teacher-worship is a universal disease. I can imagine what her English teacher is like if he is even one-tenth as terrific as my math teacher! However, I am not sure your cure works very well (it didn't work with you, or wasn't he worth his salt?) because I have a teacher who is quite proficient in the art of sarcasm —which I think is rather cute. Writing from a student's viewpoint, I doubt the feelings "Frosh" is experiencing are romantic; it is more of a challenge to win the approval of so discerning a gentleman.—Sympathetic Co-Ed

3. Probably, with many exceptions. Two psychologists found that among 7,897 young people those born between March 21-June 20 made slightly higher intelligence and personality scores, than those born between Dec. 21-March 20. The autumn-winter-born averaged slightly more extroverted, the spring-summer-born slightly more introverted. I was born in October! Those findings have no bearing on astrology.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Opera Star's Victory Inspiration For All Of Us

For many years now "Why Grow Old?" has been talking about the tremendous effect of overweight on personality. Of course there are charming exceptions but the average woman with too many pounds is self-conscious, talks about her figure constantly and too often does nothing about it. This is only human.

It interested me to discover recently beautiful proof that even the famous react vibrantly to a youthful figure. A few weeks ago when blond blue-eyed Claramae Turner, contralto of the Metropolitan and San Francisco Opera Associations, sang "Carmen" everyone was amazed because of her new streamlined figure.

Lost 50 Pounds

A visit backstage, after her triumphant performance, brought forth some fascinating comments from Miss Turner. She has lost 50 pounds and says she knows she looks ten years younger and feels even younger than that. It seems that her burning desire to sing "Carmen," and to look the part, started her on the road to weight reduction.

She asked, "What Don Jose would risk his career and his soul for a fat Carmen?" She continued with, "Carmen was my goal literally and figuratively, if you will forgive the pun. That mental image of the person I wanted to be sustained me past the temptations of hot fudge sundaes and bon bons, which I happen to relish."

Miss Turner returned to this country the seventh of February after an extremely successful month's tour of Europe. Today this svelte, attractive artist feels that shedding 50 pounds was the turning point in her career. She said, "Suddenly I was wearing the chiffons of Delilah and the bare midriffs of Amneris in 'Aida' and feeling perfectly at ease in them.

"Most remarkable of all, everyone says that my voice is better. I myself know that I feel better; never listless but filled with an exhilaration which makes my days a delight."

Now Pads Herself

Claramae Turner's 75 roles include only two in the glamour category, "Carmen" and "Delilah." Now she must pad all over for the many roles in which she plays an old woman. She even has to resort to false double chins.

This famous and lovely woman's experience emphasizes two fundamental truths. First, each woman must have some reason to want to lose those extra pounds. This may be a career, a man, or simply because she finds life so exciting that she feels that something wonderful may happen at any minute and wishes to be ready for it.

Two, I think it is most interesting that Miss Turner's voice has improved with her loss of weight. Of course this may come from better physical condition, but I suspect that it is due, in some part, to a more vibrant and uninhibited expression of her personality.

She is lovely and her experience is enough to put the pressure on all of us!

By GILBERT ROLAND
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, February 20 — Hollywood and the movies have changed a lot during the past 25 years, but the movie fans — bless 'em — change very little from one generation to the next.

I think I know what I'm talking about. I now get fan letters from the daughters of fans who used to write to me a generation ago. They express themselves differently but the meaning is about the same.

Back in the late 'twenties they would write such things as "you're the cat's pajamas," or "our club thinks you're the bee's knees." A few years later the favorite phrase was "you're simply super."

Currently the daughters of the "cat's pajama" ladies write things like . . "in 'The French Line' you and Jane Russell were the most," or "man — you were real gone in that one." I think they mean approximately the same sentiments.

It's the movies themselves that have changed a lot in a generation or two, as any televiewer can tell you. A few minutes watching movies made only a few years ago points up the contrast between those and the current ones playing at your neighborhood theatre.

The dialogue sounds more like people, the actors' makeup looks more natural and, perhaps most of all, the actors act more like real people. Some of the love scenes I played with Norma Talmadge and other stars of the era — scenes which often brought floods of enthusiastic fan mail, would elicit nothing but hoots and laughter from today's audiences.

Back in the silent picture era you naturally had to make more gestures and play scenes more broadly than is required now when sound and voice inflections convey so much to audiences.

The mobile eye-brows, arm-waving, eye-rolling and deep breathing carried over into early sound pictures, and some of it persisted until recently. But more and more you'll find writer, producer, director and actors huddling as a team in an effort to get more naturalness into scenes, movements and dialogue.

Just now I'm working at RKO with Jane Russell, Richard Egan, and Lori Nelson in "The Big Rainbow." Almost daily we have brief huddles with Scenarist Walter Newman, Producer Harry Tatelman and Director John Sturges on the cooperative job we're doing.

Perhaps Jane will say: "This speech here — it's fine but it doesn't seem natural when I speak the lines this way."

"How would you say it?" the writer will ask, and Jane will tell him. "O. K." Director Sturges will decide. "It means the same thing, say it in your own words."

Or Dick Egan or I will decide that a movement we're supposed to make seems awkward or left-handed. A quick conference nearly always results in our moving in a natural way, just so we arrive at the given point at the proper time.

Such things may seem minor to the layman, but often, added together, they make the difference between a stiffly enacted, artificial movie and one in which the audience feel it is participating in the unfolding of the story.

And such team-work is a far cry from the way we often made movies in the old days. I've played roles in which I had no idea why I was saying and doing the things I did. The director couldn't tell me because the producer and writer hadn't yet finished the script.

As one director — since "retired" — once told me when I asked why I was supposed to be sad on the eve of my wedding scene:"

"We haven't decided yet — but actors aren't hired to think or ask questions. Just get in there and act like I tell you."

If the results of this school of dramatics were sometimes confusing, we had comparatively few complaints from the customers, who were far less critical than those today.

I remember one time when we took a picture 100 miles from Hollywood to Santa Barbara, for a sneak preview. We arrived only a short time before our picture was to go on and only then discovered that we'd brought only 7 reels of an 8-reel picture. Somehow, Reel 4 had been left at the studio.

There was nothing to do but screen what we had, cross our fingers and pray — all of which we did. And do you know — at the finish of the preview the audience applauded loudly and we had not a single complaint on the fact that one-eighth of the story had been left out.

A few days later I received a letter from a Santa Barbara fan who had seen the preview and who wrote: "It's your best movie so far —even my boy-friend agrees you're the snakes hips."

I know — real crazy, but do you dig me, Jackson?

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am disgusted with your old-fashioned ideas concerning people like "Contented," the girl who was satisfied to remain single. For one thing, men nowadays aren't worth the powder to blow them up with; they are all out for all they can get and "Contented" is smart in resisting their so-called affections.

As for people feeling sorry for us career women ("old maids" as you prefer to call us) I think jealousy would be the better adjective! Most married people I know regret the day they ever put their necks into the marriage noose and eye us with envy because they weren't smart enough to hold onto the security, the chances to travel, the interesting, well-paying positions single girls like "Contented" and I have.

How can you brand her as selfish when she is only looking out for her personal security and happiness? (Which she'll have only as long as she doesn't take people like you seriously and give it all up for a lifetime of drudgery and insecurity!) Three cheers for "Contented," who is one person who realizes how well off she is.—J. L. A.

Dear Mrs. Landers: Your recent comments to a correspondent regarding men helping with the dishes and other chores when they are at home makes me wonder if you realize how men feel about such work?

At a small gathering at my home three weeks ago, I said I thought even though a woman had plenty of time to do her work during the day, it was more companionable for both husband and wife to do the dishes together at night. Later, when I asked my fiance to help me clean up after dinner, he was nice about helping with the dishes but when I asked him to get a mop and wipe up some water around the sink he said he would not do it but would gladly take his ring back . . . that he had seen enough. My girl friends now tell me I should have waited until after marriage to insist on the help when a wife has the whip-hand. But I think that is unfair; a man should know ahead what a woman might expect of him. I feel bad about this but am standing pat.—Betty R.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I agree wholeheartedly with "E. M.", the happy bachelor. I think a bachelor's life is the life of a king. There are no in-laws to boss you around, no nagging or arguments from the so-called loving wife; no kids to feed, clothe or worry about. As for my humble abode, it may not be the show place of the nation; it may leak when it rains or be a little untidy, but it's my sanctum sanctorum . . . and long may it be.—Another Happy Bachelor.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I agree with your reply to "Frosh" that teacher-worship is a universal disease. I can imagine what her English teacher is like if he is even one-tenth as terrific as my math teacher! However, I am not sure your cure works very well (it didn't work with you, or wasn't he worth his salt?) because I have a teacher who is quite proficient in the art of sarcasm —* which I think is rather cute. Writing from a student's viewpoint, I doubt the feelings "Frosh" is experiencing are romantic; it is more of a challenge to win the approval of so discerning a gentleman.—Sympathetic Co-Ed

'Boy From Oklahoma' Whimsy Tale Of West

A lighthearted Western tale about a gun-shy, gal-shy sheriff who manages to keep law and order and win the prettiest gal in town, is coming to the Paramount Theatre when "The Boy From Oklahoma," starring Will Rogers, Jr. and Nancy Olson, opens on Wednesday!

Filmed in WarnerColor, "The Boy From Oklahoma" combines whimsy, action and romance and returns to the screen, for his second starring role, Will Rogers, Jr., in a role which the former Congressman, ex-newspaper publisher and ex-Army Officer, referred to as "a tailor-made part." Cast as the unarmed sheriff of Bluerock County, Rogers performs his lawful duties in an efficient though somewhat unusual manner. Armed only with his trusty wit and unerring lariat, Rogers manages to best Billy the Kid in a duel, round up a gang of cattle rustlers and perform all the various and sundry chores that befall a Western sheriff. The methods he uses reportedly will provide many chuckles for movie fans.

The romantic interest in the Warner Bros. film is provided by Nancy Olson whose six-guns help Rogers in his sheriff's duty. As the daughter of the former sheriff of Bluerock County, Nancy proves to be an efficient gun-slinger but her main talents lie in her ability to set her sights on young Rogers and finally win his love.

As a young man studying law, Rogers is inveigled into accepting the sheriff's badge in Bluerock County when the former sheriff is killed by rustlers. His dislike of guns makes Rogers seem to be the ideal choice for the job, at least from the point of view of the lawless element of the county. Much to their sorrow, however, Rogers proves himself willing and able to stamp out the ruthless rustlers and thieves with only his horse, Blaze, to ride and his lariat for a weapon.

"The Boy From Oklahoma" was directed for Warner Bros. by Michael Curtiz and was produced by David Weisbart. The screenplay was written by Frank Davis and Winston Miller. It was Davis who wrote 'The Will Rogers Story," in which Will, Jr., made his movie starring debut.

THE BOY FROM OKLAHOMA — Will Rogers, Jr., and Nancy Olson are teamed romantically in Warner Bros.' "The Boy from Oklahoma," which opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. The Warner Color production concerns the sheriff of Bluerock County who never carried a gun and yet managed to capture Billy the Kid and rout a gang of thieves. Nancy Olson is the girl who finally corrals the bashful sheriff.

Man Smashes Wax Figure Of Winnie

LONDON, Feb. 20—UP—A London court ordered a 30-year-old draftsman held for a medical examination Friday for battering the wax figure of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and three cabinet ministers in Madame Tussaud's wax museum. The draftsman, Ernest William Bridgen, said he bore "no personal grudge" against Churchill when he shattered the figures with a hammer Thursday.

'The Robe' Is Being Held Over In Rayville

Twentieth Century-Fox's great motion picture "The Robe" will be held over at the Joy Theatre in Rayville through Tuesday because of the popular demand for the film. Based on the Lloyd C. Douglas best seller, first published in 1941, the picture was ten years in the making at a cost of more than $5 million.

Producer Frank Ross and the Twentieth Century-Fox studios took special pains in transferring "The Robe" to the screen. Not only is it an extremely popular novel, but the film version is used to launch the new CinemaScope process — which gives the viewer the illusion of depth without artificial aids. CinemaScope also employs a new stereophonic sound system.

When "The Robe" was first published in 1941, it climbed immediately to the top of the best-seller lists and remained there for an extended period. The book, now available in a popular - priced Houghton Mifflin edition, has been read by more than twenty million persons.

"The Robe" is the story of Marcellus, a Roman soldier, and his slave, Demetrius, who are at Jerusalem at the time of the Crucifixion. Marcellus and other Roman warriors cast lots for Christ's mantle—"The Robe." Marcellus wins, and the garment affects the rest of the warrior's days profoundly.

Heading the supporting cast of thousands in "The Robe" are Jay Robinson, Dean Jagger, Torin Thatcher, Richard Boone and Betta St. John. Philip Dunne wrote the screen play.

'Boy From Oklahoma' Whimsy Tale Of West

A lighthearted Western tale about a gun-shy, gal-shy sheriff who manages to keep law and order and win the prettiest gal in town, is coming to the Paramount Theatre when "The Boy From Oklahoma," starring Will Rogers, Jr. and Nancy Olson, opens on Wednesday!

Filmed in WarnerColor, "The Boy From Oklahoma" combines whimsy, action and romance and returns to the screen, for his second starring role, Will Rogers, Jr., in a role which the former Congressman, ex-newspaper publisher and ex-Army Officer, referred to as "a tailor-made part." Cast as the unarmed sheriff of Bluerock County, Rogers performs his lawful duties in an efficient though somewhat unusual manner. Armed only with his trusty wit and unerring lariat, Rogers manages to best Billy the Kid in a duel, round up a gang of cattle rustlers and perform all the various and sundry chores that befall a Western sheriff. The methods he uses reportedly will provide many chuckles for movie fans.

The romantic interest in the Warner Bros. film is provided by Nancy Olson whose six-guns help Rogers in his sheriff's duty. As the daughter of the former sheriff of Bluerock County, Nancy proves to be an efficient gun-slinger but her main talents lie in her ability to set her sights on young Rogers and finally win his love.

As a young man studying law, Rogers is inveigled into accepting the sheriff's badge in Bluerock County when the former sheriff is killed by rustlers. His dislike of guns makes Rogers seem to be the ideal choice for the job, at least from the point of view of the lawless element of the county. Much to their sorrow, however, Rogers proves himself willing and able to stamp out the ruthless rustlers and thieves with only his horse, Blaze, to ride and his lariat for a weapon.

"The Boy From Oklahoma" was directed for Warner Bros. by Michael Curtiz and was produced by David Weisbart. The screenplay was written by Frank Davis and Winston Miller. It was Davis who wrote 'The Will Rogers Story," in which Will, Jr., made his movie starring debut

THE BOY FROM OKLAHOMA — Will Rogers, Jr., and Nancy Olson are teamed romantically in Warner Bros.' "The Boy from Oklahoma," which opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre. The Warner Color production concerns the sheriff of Bluerock County who never carried a gun and yet managed to capture Billy the Kid and rout a gang of thieves. Nancy Olson is the girl who finally corrals the bashful sheriff.

Man Smashes Wax Figure Of Winnie

LONDON, Feb. 20—UP—A Loudon court ordered a 30-year-old draftsman held for a medical examination Friday for battering the wax figure of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and three cabinet ministers in Madame Tussaud's wax museum. The draftsman, Ernest William Bridgen, said he bore "no personal grudge" against Churchill when he shattered the figures with a hammer Thursday.

'The Robe' Is Being Held Over In Rayville

Twentieth Century-Fox's great motion picture "The Robe" will be held over at the Joy Theatre in Rayville through Tuesday because of the popular demand for the film. Based on the Lloyd C. Douglas best seller, first published in 1941, the picture was ten years in the making at a cost of more than $5 million.

Producer Frank Ross and the Twentieth Century-Fox studios took special pains in transferring "The Robe" to the screen. Not only is it an extremely popular novel, but the film version is used to launch the new CinemaScope process — which gives the viewer the illusion of depth without artificial aids. CinemaScope also employs a new stereophonic sound system.

When "The Robe" was first published in 1941 it climbed immediately to the top of the best-seller lists and remained there for an extended period. The book, now available in a popular - priced Houghton Mifflin edition, has been read by more than twenty million persons.

"The Robe" is the story of Marcellus, a Roman soldier, and his slave, Demetrius, who are at Jerusalem at the time of the Crucifixion. Marcellus and other Roman warriors cast lots for Christ's mantle—"The Robe." Marcellus wins, and the garment affects the rest of the warrior's days profoundly.

Heading the supporting cast of thousands in "The Robe" are Jay Robinson, Dean Jagger, Torin Thatcher, Richard Boone and Betta St. John. Philip Dunne wrote the screen play.

Twin City Gardens Are Beautiful Now

"Just anything that grows we'd like to have" says Mrs. Elroy Smith, whose husband is business manager of east Louisiana Hospital for the mentally ill, at Jackson, La. "That includes bulbs, shrubs, or any discards or overflows," Elroy states. Mae Modes and other Pilot Club members will see that the plans get to Jackson. Just call Mae at 8194 or Ellen Thompson at 3-8680 or Miss Garlington at 6104.

For a year or more Monroe Pilot members have gathered formals, costume jewelry, and evening slippers for the women at Jackson hospital. The change from everyday attire into glamorous clothes seems to give them happiness like nothing else can do. Mae says while you're looking through the yard for plants, run through the clothes for costume jewelry and formals. Please call the same numbers.

In Your Garden

These dry spells, it's a good idea to water pansies. Feed them every two weeks with liquid fertilizer made by dissolving a cup of 5-10-5 in a gallon of water. You'll get more and larger blooms.

You can plant nasturtium seed, now. They can stand more cold than most annuals.

When you prune the crape myrtles, give the cuttings to another gardener. These root easily and it's time for that job.

You can still plant and transplant trees and shrubs. Water well because the ground is dry.

Monique Coates, very unselfishly, wants to share some clematis plants, which she says she has in large numbers—call by 131 Reagan St., West Monroe any time after 4:15 in the afternoon. This is the variety of clematis vine that blooms in late summer 'til Thanksgiving, with many small, white, lacy blossoms.

Your Sunday Drive

Notice the pear trees all around the Twin Cities. They're worth their price if they never bear fruit. Such a gorgeous show of white when we need color.

The white Japanese magnolia is in bloom in Miss Emmy Lou Biedenhorn's garden. Drive down Riverfront to 2006 and turn on Forsythe. At the back just over the brick wall you'll see this white magnolia blooming. It's the denudata. The purple magnolias can be seen all about town. A particularly spectacular very large one can be seen in the Richard Kellogg garden, 1801 Pargoud Boulevard. Monroe. Then go on out Loop road and see the pearl bushes in bloom in Haydn Cutler's garden, 624 Loop Road. These shrubs are blooming in the front shrubbery border right along the street.

For those of you who say you're not familiar with the white flowering quince, drive out Loop Road by the Ernest Holloways, 3402. Miss Sophie has more of the white variety than any gardener I know. It's just about bloomed out, as it began its show the last of January.

The white lacy magnolia blooming in the McHenry garden, 1810 Riverside is the Star or Stilleto. These come, also in palest pink and lavender.

On around now to the Bailey garden, 808 Hilton for the loveliest show of blue, old fashioned hyacinths. I don't think I've ever seen so many in one garden.

Get Out The Fertilizer

Feed all azaleas and camellias just as they stop blooming. A good safe mixture is the regular azalea, camellia fertilizer. Use one handful for each foot of height. Feed again in June.

Fertilize every thing else in the yard including the lawn. If your soil is poor, mix equal amounts of cotton seed meal and 5-10-5. If your soil is good, 5-10-5 alone will do. Don't feed newly planted shrubs and trees with anything except a little cotton seed meal. Put the fertilizer out at the edge of the spread of the branch and work it in the top 2 or 3 inches of soil. Of course don't work around azaleas. If you don't get a rain within 24 hours after feeding plants, get out the hose.

Animal manures enrich the lawn, but that has the disadvantage of bringing weed seeds to the lawn areas, and we don't want weeds on our lawn. Compost is wonderful for the lawn, if you have enough to ever get past the flower beds with the loads.

Plentiful Foods

Foods on the best buy list are: shoulder or leg of lamb, fryers, eggs, ground beef, milk and cheese, potatoes, cabbage, onions, root crops, carrots, broccoli, lettuce, grapefruit, oranges and apples.

Announcements

You're invited to tune in on KNOE-TV Tuesday for the coat and suit revue. Every garment was made by the wearer in the tailoring work shop.

See you next Sunday.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Growth And Care Of Winter Irises

Iris fans are apt to boast that they can have some kind of iris in bloom "almost every month in the year." If you ask what irises bloom in the winter months, they will tell you about the Winter Iris that opens during the period from October till March. This is iris unguicularis about which we are always writing in the column. There are several tiny irises that bloom from December till March here in the South, too. One group of them is called the "reticulata group" and gets its name from the fact that the first one ever discovered had a little netted or veined covering over the bulb or corm. All of the tiny corms of this group of irises have this same netting over them. You have perhaps seen some of the tiny orchid like blossoms of these irises in photographs in bulb catalogues. Next fall when you are ordering all those guady tulips and giant daffodils, remember to also order a dozen or so of the various named varieties of iris reticulata. Tney are not expensive and will give you a real surprise when they bloom in January or February.

The reticulata irises can be planted in a pot and brought in to sit on a window sill and bloom for a week or more in the house. If you have a very hot, dry spot on a slope near a path in the garden or woods, you can try planting them out there. They will not stand for summer floods, however. They want to dry up and bake in summer like almost all the bulbous plants from Asia Minor. Since the tiny corms are subject to a mildew like disease that takes them off in a hurry if it gets into them, beat up some charcoal and mix it with their soil to discourage the mold. Your soil should be fairly rich garden soil, and the only fertilizer to add is a handful of bone meal to the bushel of dirt. Cow manure — even if it is very old—should not be used nor any commercial fertilizer because all of these seem to encourage the mold. In more northern parts of the world, in England and in Europe, the skilled old gardeners claim that these brilliant winter irises have the habit of breaking up into many tiny corms that will not bloom for several years. Down south here, however, your columnist has had them to bloom over and over again for several years from the same patch of corms. When they disappear here, it seems to be from the mold. In our open winters, the foliage develops into five or six-inch onion like leaves with sort of angular sides. The big crop of healthy leaves must develop the corms. Up north, the foliage does not seem to get so long.

"But," you will say, "why all this fuss over those little things?" It is because these tiny irises are really very intriguing to all gardeners. There is something so amazing about seeing tiny blue or purple or golden irises blooming on almost bare ground in the winter. It is wonderful to see people humble themselves to get down on their hands and knees and smell the violet perfume and enjoy the intimate beauty of anything so small. You will find iris reticulata and its named varieties, Cantab, J. S. Dyt, Hercules listed together in the catalogues. Iris reticulata, the wild one from which the others were developed, is dark blue. Cantab is a little larger flower and a lighter blue. This tiny thing was given the Royal Horticulture Society's Award of Merit when the famous Mr. E. A. Bowles, author of books on bulbs and other subjects, found it in his seedlings and exhibited it at one of the shows of the society. Most of the gardeners here in the south who have I. reticulata in their gardens seems to have the reddish purple variety, J. S. Dijt. It is vigorous. The orange crest on the flowers contrasts strongly with the purplish color.

There is a yellow flowered iris species which belongs in the reticulata group. The miniature golden yellow flowers are startling when they open up in mid-winter. The stems are not more than an inch or two long, so you must be sure to spread a half-inch mat of pine straw over the place where they will bloom in winter when the corms are planted. Otherwise, the big heavy raindrops will smear them by dashing dirt over them. You will not find this yellow kind which is called Iris Danfordiae listed in many catalogues, but it is well worth searching for it. Give it the same treatment you do the other reticulatas, but do not look for leaves in profusion after the flowers have brightened their two- or three-week stay with you and gone. This little iris has only a single leaf. It is hard to see how it gets along and makes new corms with but one leaf. Fortunately, the rabbits do not seem to eat the foliage of any of these tiny irises. Where they grow in your columnist's garden, the rabbits chew off the winter crocus foliage and leave the irises alone.

There is still another small iris for January or December. It is closely akin to the reticulatas and looks something like them. The lower parts of the blooms are larger and showier, however. This one is called Iris Histrioides and can be grown in the same way as the others we have discussed.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Forum Is Planned By Club

Our Garden Center chairman, Mrs. Rupert Scott, is leaving today to attend the Williamsburg Garden Symposium in Williamsburg, Virginia. Accompanying Mrs. Scott on this delightful journey are Mrs. Ina Gilbert, Mrs. Stella Mae Ward, Mrs. W. A. Tucker, Mrs. Asa Kiper and Mrs. A. J. Ensminger, all of the Wisner Garden Club. We expect a wonderful report from these gardeners on their return.

This past week I enjoyed a trip through Lincoln and Bienville Parishes to visit the old-fashioned bulb gardens. The bulbs are in their glory now and every gardener should have some of these free-blooming old-fashioned varieties as well as the newer ones.

The fine horticultural exhibits by members of the Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities were greatly admired this week. The "White Giant" Amaryllis displayed by Mrs. Horace Josey was awarded a blue ribbon. Blue Ribbon awards also to Mrs. C. T. Johnson for variegated quince and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell for Magnoliaeflora camellia.

In the arrangement section, Mrs. F. R. Hayton took first place for a lovely crescent design of jasmine and double yellow narcissus in a low green container. Second place award went to Mrs. Wesley Walters for a beautiful vertical arrangement using King Alfred daffodils, variegated euonymus and pussywillow skilfully arranged in a tall brass container and set on a round black base.

Third place award went to Mrs. Julius Fink for a lovely formal arrangement in green and gold. For a container Mrs. Fink chose an antique green vase with a small gold design and used elaeagnus foliage and three King Alfred Daffodils.

Also on display were nine varieties of camellias and branches of the beautiful flowering peach from the garden of Mrs. O. R. Brauer. Mrs. J. M. Pirkle and Mrs. Frank Parish of Ruston served as judges.

The Fifth District plans to hold an officers' forum in the garden center early in April, date to be announced later. The purpose of this meeting is to give each new club president and program chairman an opportunity to exchange ideas and to discuss programs and year books for the coming year. This meeting will be under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Knotts, Sicily Island, our new Fifth District director.

We expect a wonderful report from these gardeners on their return.

This past week I enjoyed a trip through Lincoln and Bienville Parishes to visit the old-fashioned bulb gardens. The bulbs are in their glory now and every gardener should have some of these free-blooming old-fashioned varieties as well as the newer ones.

Charles M. Mueller's "Bulbs for Beauty" and McFarland's "Garden Bulbs in Color" are in the garden center library to assist the gardener in his choice.

The fine horticultural exhibits by members of the Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities were greatly admired this week. The "White Giant" Amaryllis displayed by Mrs. Horace Josey was awarded a blue ribbon. Blue Ribbon awards also to Mrs. C. T. Johnson for variegated quince and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell for Magnoliaeflora camellia.

In the arrangement section, Mrs. F. R. Hayton took first place for a lovely crescent design of jasmine and double yellow narcissus in a low green container. Second place award went to Mrs. Wesley Walters for a beautiful vertical arrangement using King Alfred daffodils, variegated euonymus and pussywillow skilfully arranged in a tall brass container and set on a round black base.

Third place award went to Mrs. Julius Fink for a lovely formal arrangement in green and gold. For a container Mrs. Fink chose an antique green vase with a small gold design and used elaeagnus foliage and three King Alfred Daffodils.

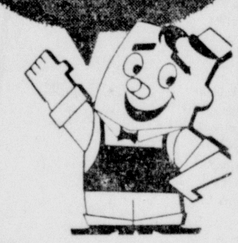

Also on display were nine varieties of camellias and branches of the beautiful flowering peach from the garden of Mrs. O. R. Brauer. Mrs. J. M. Pirkle and Mrs. Frank Parish of Ruston served as judges.

The Fifth District plans to hold an officers' forum in the garden center early in April, date to be announced later. The purpose of this meeting is to give each new club president and program chairman an opportunity to exchange ideas and to discuss programs and year books for the coming year. This meeting will be under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Knotts, Sicily Island, our new Fifth District director.

IT'S NEW! IT'S BLUE! IT'S cheer!

The only suds with BLUE-MAGIC WHITENER

washes clothes so clean, so white YOU DON'T NEED BLUING or BLEACH

First and only washday detergent of its kind!

Exclusive! Science gave new blue CHEER—and CHEER alone—the amazing Blue-Magic whitener. Now you can whiten whites and brighten colors in the newest, safest, most modern way.

White without bluing! Imagine—new CHEER with its Blue-Magic whitener, all by itself, washes clothes so wonderfully white you'll never need bluing again!

White without bleach! It's true—except for problem stains, you don't need to bleach! CHEER is so safe for washable colors. Actually gives them new brightness!

See the proof in your washer! CHEER's magic blue granules snap into white suds. No wonder so many women find CHEER gives them the clean, white washes they've always wanted. And without bluing or bleach!

Works like blue magic for dishes, too!

CHEER's white suds billow up at the touch of water to get your dishes and glassware "twinkle-clean"—without wiping. Even greasy pots and pans soak clean. And CHEER is so very gentle to your hands.

STEVE CANYON

by Milton Caniff

OOH-H-H, CANYON, YOU BIFOCAL BAT, YOU! ...I SHOULD HAVE SENSED THAT HERSELF MULDOON WOULD PLAY LONG ODDS FOR THE BIG MONEY.

THAT DISCHARGED PILOT TALKED — IN RETURN FOR A PROMISE OF DRUGS!

...SHE HAS INDASIA AIR OPERATING ON SCHEDULE AND WITHIN THE LAW — EXCEPT AT IRREGULAR INTERVALS...WHEN A LOADED AIRPLANE FLIES TO A POINT NEAR RED CHINA, STARTS BACK EMPTY, DROPS INTO RED CHINA JUST LONG ENOUGH TO LOAD UP WITH HEROIN — THEN HEADS FOR HOME.

...THE PILOT STAYS OVER WATER ALL THE WAY SO HE CAN DITCH AND EXPLODE THE AIRCRAFT IF HE'S INTERCEPTED...HE REPORTS ENGINE TROUBLE TO EXPLAIN BEING OFF HIS FLIGHT PLAN TIMING...

...ON ONE OF THE INDONESIAN ISLANDS HE TOUCHES DOWN ON AN ABANDONED NAVY LANDING STRIP, UNLOADS THE HEROIN, JUMPS BACK HERE AND LANDS EMPTY — AS HIS PLAN INDICATED — ONLY A TRIFLE LATE...

HERSELF MULDOON USED THE AMERICAN KID TO MAKE THIS RUN, BUT WHAT SHE DID NOT KNOW IS THAT ON ONE OF HIS OVERNIGHT LAYOVERS UP NORTH HE BEGAN TO USE THE DRUG...

ON ONE ROUTINE RUN HIS COPILOT FOUND THE KID'S PERSONAL HEROIN SUPPLY ABOARD — AND FOR FEAR THAT HERSELF WOULD FIRE HIM, BOB THREW THE COPILOT OUT OF THE AIRCRAFT INTO THE OCEAN...

IT'S ABOUT TIME FOR A NEW SHIPMENT TO BE PICKED UP IN RED CHINA — AND THE PILOT THIS TRIP IS GOING TO BE CANYON...

MEANWHILE

EDITH, WHERE ARE YOU GOING? DON'T GET A DOCTOR FOR ME!... HE WILL FIND OUT I'M AN ADDICT AND I'LL NEVER GET BACK ON THE AIR LINE!

I-I MUST GO BUY SOME FOOD, DEAR! I WON'T SEE A DOCTOR...

AND IF I'M LUCKY — I'LL GET AWAY BEFORE THE DOCTOR SEES ME!

The PHANTOM

By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

AN EVENING IN THE EXPLORERS' CLUB, BENGALI

THAT WAS A RIPPING TALE, RAMSAY. NOW, CALDER, IT'S YOUR TURN TO TELL A STORY

HMM - I SUPPOSE YOU'VE BOTH HEARD OF THE SINGH PIRATES -- AND THE PHANTOM?

SINGH PIRATES? WHO HASN'T? THEY WERE BROKEN UP SOME YEARS AGO. I FORGET HOW, CALDER.

THE PHANTOM? HE'S A SUPERSTITION. A MYTH OF JUNGLE FOLK AND SEAFARERS --

"AND YOU'VE HEARD OF GULLIQUE ISLE?" CONTINUES CALDER. "IT'S BEEN DISPUTED BETWEEN TWO NATIONS FOR YEARS, SO IT HAS NO REAL GOVERNMENT -- A SORT OF NO-MAN'S LAND --"

"A FEW YEARS AGO I WAS ON A MARINE EXPEDITION," ADDS CALDER. "WE HAD A ROUGH NIGHT, AND WERE FORCED INTO HARBOR AT GULLIQUE ISLE."

Copr. 1934, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

YOU'VE ACTUALLY BEEN TO GULLIQUE?

I'VE HEARD IT IS AN EVIL PLACE

THE MOST EVIL PLACE ON EARTH! IT IS RUN BY THUGS - A REMNANT OF THE OLD SINGH PIRATES!

"STRANGERS WERE NOT WELCOME, UNINVITED, AT GULLIQUE --"

YOU WILL SEE RAMA.

DELIGHTED -- WHOEVER THAT IS.

BUT WHO IS RAMA - AND WHEN DOES THE PHANTOM COME IN?

I'LL GET TO THAT.

QUIET, RAMSAY. LET HIM FINISH THE STORY.

WILSON McCOY 2-21

IT'S YOUR PAL SPUD'S SERVICE CAP, TYLER?

YESSIR! THAT AWKALOO BIRD JUST DROPPED IT AS HE FLEW OVER US!

I-I WONDER IF SPUD IS ALIVE? M-MAYBE HE WAS SNATCHED UP LIKE I WAS BY ONE OF THE BIG BIRDS AND—AND MAYBE HE WAS TOO HEAVY TO CARRY WHILE IN FLIGHT AND—

IF THE WORST HAS HAPPENED TO POOR SPUD—IT MEANS OUR ONE HOPE TO ESCAPE FROM THESE BIRDS IS GONE, PROF. CHATWICK....

MEANWHILE, SPUD EMERGES FROM CONCEALMENT....

FIRST ONE BIRD FLIES OFF WITH TIM AND THEN ANOTHER STEALS MY CAP—OHO—WHAT'S THAT? HOOFBEATS—

TIM'S HORSE AND MINE! THAT'S LUCK! I THOUGHT THEY HAD RUN AWAY FOR KEEPS—

NOW I'VE JUST GOT TO COOK UP A SCHEME TO FIND AND RESCUE TIM, IF—HMM—THOSE SAPLINGS—

THESE SAPLINGS! GOSH—THEY GIVE ME A WILD IDEA, BUT I THINK IT WILL WORK —IT'S GOT TO WORK!

YOU? The average woman will cook more than 47,000 meals, take more than 2 years doing dishes, and spend 13 weeks at the hairdresser's. If her husband complains about the latter, she'll remind him he'll spend 4 months scraping whiskers off his chin.

NOSES KNOW. Food expert Clementine Paddleford says, "Most people don't know how important smell is to food. If you hold your nose and eat slices of raw apple and raw potato, it's almost impossible to tell them apart." Smell is important to laundry, too. It tells the difference between clean-looking things and things clean clear through.

MAILBAG. Mrs. Ruth Gmitro, Minneapolis, Minn., writes, "Dear Art, this is my first fan letter, but Surf's amazing cleaning power is so true, I felt I had to tell you. My family's clothes really smell clean for the first time since detergents came on the market."
